If you did not pay your poll tax before the first of May and cannot vote in consequence, you have no one to blame for it but yourself.

A brighter day is dawning. The United States cruiser Columbia took part in the Confederate reunion at New Orleans as a representative of the nation, and is said to have been an object of special interest to the old veterans in gray.—Greensboro Industrial News.

Orphan Children's Concert.

The Oxford Orphan Asylum Singing Class will begin a concert tour of North Carolina Monday, May 7th, and until the first of July will travel mostly in the eastern section of our State. The second or western tour will begin about the last of July and will continue until the middle of September.

The class is composed of ten girls, four boys, the teacher and a gentleman in charge. Our people have learned to expect an entertainment of unusual attractiveness and excellence given by this bright, well-trained girls and boys of this noble institution. No cause appears more strongly to us than the cause of the orphan child. A children's concert of real merit, in the interest of a noble and worthy cause, naturally and rightly evokes our hearty sympathy and support.

Already the Singing Class has received from Mountain Lodge No. 10 North Carolina many most cordial invitations. It is quite probable that it will be practicable to include more than eighty of the towns and cities of our State in the itinerary, which is arranged for the Class several weeks before the beginning of the tours.

The active, hearty cooperation of all our people is earnestly sought and, we believe, will continue to be secured. We express the sincere hope that the tours of the boys and girls this spring and summer will result in greatest success and blessing.

A class of Pinocedils at bed time will usually relieve headache morning. These beautiful little globules are soft gelatine coated and when moistened and placed in the mouth you can feel neither sugar nor alcohol—and gases and toxins obtained from our own digestive tract, and from other sources, are eliminated. Sold by the Kerner-McNair Drug Company.

Many of us are prone to assail the rich without provocation and merely because they have more money than can be spent in the ordinary course of life. But the generous spirit which has been displayed by the wealthy toward the stricken and the afflicted, especially manifest in the case of the late Mr. Glenn, has commanded the admiration of the world. They are making these expressions of sympathy practical. They are doing a magnificent work and the enormous sums which will be raised, together with the insurance, will give San Francisco a fine start in its efforts to outlive the disaster.

NOTABLE EVENT

CLOSING EXERCISES OF BONAVISTA GRADED SCHOOL.

An Institution of Which the People of that Community Have Cause to be Proud—The Bright-Eyed Boys and Girls Who are Being Taught There an Inspiring Sight to Look Upon.

Gov. Glenn Delivers a Splendid Address.

Physical, Mental and Moral Culture His Theme—Large Crowd Present and the People Hear Him Gladly—Great Day for the Cause of Education and Civic Virtue in Vance County.

Thursday, May 1st, will long be remembered as a great day in the history of Bonavista Graded School at Henderson. Indeed, it was a great day for the cause of education and civic virtue in Vance county. The occasion was the closing exercises of the school, and the event which made it of more than local interest was the address of Gov. Glenn. There was a large attendance, people coming from all over Vance and many from Franklin county.

Gov. Glenn came down on the afternoon train from Raleigh. He was met at the station by a delegation and escorted to Mass. Aubrey's Hotel. Hon. James R. Young, Insurance Commissioner, accompanied him. A dinner complimentary to the Governor was given at the hotel by Mr. D. C. Cooper. The dinner was given at the Henderson Graded Schools, all of the teachers, committee and a few immediate friends and family connections were invited. Covers were laid for about 100 persons. Gov. Glenn, with Mrs. D. Y. Cooper, occupied seats at the head of the table and Mr. Cooper, with Mrs. W. D. Hornor, sat at the opposite end.

Mr. and Mrs. Massenburg were in every way equal to the occasion and did full credit to themselves and their distinguished guests in the excellent dinner spread. The menu was elaborate, the variety in good taste, the service admirable. It was an informal affair, more like a large family group than a small function, and needless to say each one whose good fortune it was to be Mr. Cooper's guest enjoyed it to the fullest extent.

Dinner over Prof. Alderman moved that on behalf of the teachers a vote of thanks be extended to Mr. Cooper for his generous hospitality, saying that he did not believe such a thing was possible anywhere else outside of Vance county. This was given with a will and Gov. Glenn thanked him on behalf of the school. State of North Carolina. Mr. Cooper modestly acknowledged his appreciation and said the pleasure was his, that he was glad to be able to show in some slight degree his interest in the cause of education and his high appreciation of the faithful and noble work being done by the school teachers not only in Henderson but throughout Vance county.

Immediately after dinner the procession formed and started for Bear Pond where Gov. Glenn was to speak. About 200 persons went on the train the others by private conveyance. All the carriages were decorated with small United States flags. Gov. Glenn occupied A. T. Barnes' carriage and was accompanied by Mr. J. Y. Cooper, Gen. F. A. Macon, Dr. R. J. Gill and Mr. Barnes. They took the lead and other carriages followed—a long string of them. Many persons had come earlier, some in wheelbarrows, others on wheels which few walked. The members of the Junior Order of the United American Workmen went out in a body and added much to the interest and impressiveness of the occasion.

Gov. Glenn was enthusiastically welcomed and expressed his pleasure at meeting the good people of that community. Mr. J. Y. Cooper, Commissioner of Public Schools, was master of ceremonies and introduced Gov. Glenn. He showed himself an apt and ready speaker and was generously applauded. His eulogies of Vance and Aycock and Glenn were most fitting and timely and before he concluded the keen edge of expectancy was doubly sharpened by those who had not heard the Governor. But swift as Mr. Kittrell had set the pace the speaker at the day quickly caught step and kept it up throughout his excellent address.

When Gov. Glenn arose it was the signal for fresh outbursts of applause. It was a splendid tribute paid him—respect for the Governor, admiration for the form and approval and appreciation of the good work he is doing—in the enthusiastic reception accorded by these people. Gov. Glenn's address was laid upon a high plane. His theme was Physical, Mental and Moral Culture, and he handled it as only a man of force and power, burning with desire to be of service to his fellowman, can. He appealed the young men and young women, the boys and the girls, who heard him to aspire to high and noble ideals of life, to be strong, courageous, sober, clean minded. He would have them cultivate their physical powers—but mere physical strength in itself is no better than brute force. They must cultivate their mental faculties as well. But and educated mind without character is not enough. To physical beauty and a cultivated mind must be added moral culture to make the well rounded man or woman. Always physical or mental training character is to be placed. And in the home as well as the school house character is to be formed. In the days of youth those habits and principles that are to affect the after life are formed—and right here the Governor gave some good advice to parents in regard to the proper training of their children and knowing the kind of literature they read. Parents may be particularly about the associates of their sons or daughters, but too often they pay little regard to the company they keep in the books they read.

But we cannot undertake to follow the line of thought and argument of Gov. Glenn. His speech was a magnificent effort—a great treat to those who heard him. Many said it was as good as a sermon, and others declared it was a sermon, only he did not take his text from a Scripture quotation. He spoke about one hour and a quarter and although a great many persons had to stand they would gladly have listened to him longer. It was a great day and the people greatly appreciated Gov. Glenn's visit. He made friends of all who heard him, old and young alike, and when the invitation was extended by Mr. Kittrell many pressed forward to shake hands with the Governor and personally thank him for the pleasure and profit he had given them by his visit and speech.

FOREST RESERVE.

Distinguished Men from All Sections of the Country Urge Action.

John E. Monk in Greensboro Industrial News. Washington, April 25.—A distinguished gathering of men from the North and South, representing fourteen States, today appeared before the house committee on agriculture to urge a favorable report on the bill appropriating $3,000,000 for the creation of forest reserves in the Southern Appalachian region and in the White Mountains of New Hampshire.

North Carolina was strongly represented in the persons of Governor Glenn, President George T. Winston, of the A. & M. College; Frank R. Hewitt and Dr. C. P. Ambler, of Asheville; Samuel Patterson, State commissioner of agriculture; Joseph Hyde Pratt, of the State geological survey; W. S. Lee, Jr., of Charlotte; Jesse A. Holmes, State geologist and H. E. Fries of Winston. In addition every member of the State delegation in congress was present.

The proceeding today was preliminary to the more extended hearing that will be held tomorrow. The better part of the time was consumed today by the outcroppings of White Mountain reserve, although Governor Glenn spoke briefly in support of the measure in so far as it affected the Appalachian region.

Nearly every visiting North Carolinian will be given an opportunity to address the committee tomorrow in support of the pending measure. While the leaders have given the word that appropriations shall be cut to the bone at this session of congress the measure creating these two reserves in the east stands an excellent show of going through the House and Senate. Sentiment behind them is very strong and the necessity for the preservation of the wooded sections of the mountains in question for the effect it will have on the rivers in the regions affected has been strongly brought out.

A PRINCELY GIFT.

Individual Check for $100,000 the Generous Contribution of Adolphus Busch of St. Louis, to the San Francisco Relief Fund.

The responses to appeals for help on behalf of the sufferers from the awful earthquake and fire which devastated San Francisco, were prompt and generous throughout the country. Individuals, corporations, secret organizations, fraternities and societies of various kinds were quick to hear the call for help and swift to extend aid in time of need. It is a great country in which we live and in the presence of such calamities as Johnstown, Galveston and San Francisco we have cause to feel proud of the spirit of generosity and brotherly love which manifests itself in the hearts of the American people.

In this connection the following editorial article from the St. Louis Globe-Democrat of Tuesday, April 24th, is published: Adolphus Busch had not seen the horror and devastation of the disaster at San Francisco his contribution of $100,000 to the relief fund would, we may be sure, have been no less. For a man of a sensitive and sympathetic temperament, upon which such a picture of ruin and death would make a lasting impression, the sense of proportion which belongs to him as a business man would, if he had been on the other side of the world, have told him that there was a calamity and one calling for a generosity passing any ever shown on a like occasion. Not only in St. Louis but in many parts of the world where his well-known name is known, he would have responded as he has because of what he felt and not of what he saw.

Yet the fact that the money so contributed is to go to the relief of a most direful situation, "all of which he saw and part of which he was," must add to the feeling that the gift is greater than can be that of any one else. Mr. Busch is always a cheerful giver, such as are named upon in the beatitudes, and it is safe to say that not one of the committee men who dispense his bounty, and none of the unfortunate who receive it will get as much joy out of it as he has in giving it. This much for the human side of the gift. On the practical side, Mr. Busch doubtless sees that, with the necessary help and support, the stricken city and section will rise again and pass on to new and greater conquests. No man has a greater faith in the boundless and rebounding energy and recuperative power of the American people than Mr. Busch, for no man knows them better and few as well. He helps those he knows to be of help, not only for his sympathy and their relief, but for rehabilitation of what is lost and reconstruction of fallen powers. He has given wisely and abundantly, a philanthropist and as an American with supreme faith in the grit and enterprise of his fellow-citizens. This gift is monumental in the history of St. Louis giving. Henry Shays' bequests of land and properties will total more, but this splendid offering of cash upon the altars of charity makes a record new in St. Louis and of which St. Louis is immensely and justly proud.
