

THE GOLD LEAF.

Daughters of Confederacy.

ESTABLISHED 1881. —BY— THAD R. MANNING. THURSDAY, OCT. 18, 1906.

There is no doubt that the Democrats are going to carry the county and State at the November election, and yet they do not want to take anything for granted. See that every man is registered and that he comes out and votes. The majority cannot get by a large margin.

Young men, if you have become of age since the last election, look up the registrar of your precinct, and register before the 27th of this month. And all who have been voting and have moved from one precinct to another, must register in the precinct he is now residing. Don't neglect this matter or let any one fool you about its importance.

This paragraph is taken from Col. Old's Raleigh correspondence:

Joseph E. Pogue is made commissioner general for North Carolina at the Jamestown exposition. The State agricultural department will also have a representative there, very probably T. K. Bruner, its secretary, who is now at Boston at the Food Fair. The Boston-American says of the North Carolina exhibit: "The exhibit is one of the most beautiful exhibits of the products of a State or country ever shown."

A Scheme That Pays.

The North Carolina Department of Agriculture is made up of an aggressive and energetic set of men. The good they are accomplishing is inestimable and the money they are spending to do it is a hundredfold. Neither is their work spasmodic, but rather continuous and regular.

The Board under the directorship of Mr. T. K. Bruner, secretary of the Board, has adopted a scheme of advertising the resources and possibilities of North Carolina for the purpose of attracting capital and good citizens, that pays.

In this connection the Charleston News and Courier of the 6th instant contains the following article concerning the display of North Carolina farm and manufactured products at the Food Fair now in progress in Boston:

A Food Fair is now in progress in the Mechanics Building, Boston, Massachusetts. So far as we know the only Southern State represented at this fair is our own North Carolina. The exhibit made by this State occupies the whole of the Paul Revere Hall. It was arranged by the North Carolina Board of Agriculture under the direction of Mr. T. K. Bruner, Secretary of the Board, and is in charge of Mr. H. H. Brimley, curator of the State Museum at Raleigh, both of whom are very well known in Charleston. This exhibit is designed to show the advantages of North Carolina as a field for the small farmer.

The view has prevailed among outsiders that the real State was only adapted to the cultivation of cotton, but the fact is that North Carolina is one of the most productive of the truck farming and fruit growing States in the South, and the adaptability of garden truck and fruit is amply demonstrated by the exhibit now made at Boston, which is attracting the interested attention of the people of New England. The specimens of the vegetables and fruits grown in that State, showing the greatest possible variety, make up a part of the exhibit at Boston. In addition to these garden and field and orchard crops a great deal of attention is given in the North Carolina exhibit to the marvelous forestry and mineral wealth of the State. A great many thousands of well-to-do Yankees have been attracted by the variety of the North Carolina exhibit at Boston, and it is not unreasonable to expect that this exhibit will be the means of attracting many hundreds of thousands of dollars to North Carolina for investment.

It was not until the first Cotton States Exposition held in Atlanta that North Carolina began to attract the attention of investors. In the geographical studies that were studied in the schools of the country its staple products were included in the phrase "pitch, tar and turpentine." The exhibit at the Atlanta Exposition was made under the direction of Major C. C. McPhail, of the Richmond and Danville Railroad system, and the country began to "take notice" at once of the great possibilities of industrial development in what we know to be one of the richest States in the South. McPhail's work was taken up by Bruner, a remarkably able man, and with his cooperation of the State Board of Agriculture North Carolina has been represented in a most creditable way at every great industrial and commercial exposition held in this country in the last twenty-five years.

The above is true and it is a source of rejoicing to know that North Carolina is taking the lead in bringing the South before the public. It is likewise gratifying to note the success with which the efforts of the Board are being rewarded.

The farmers are asked to believe that the recent rise in the price of cotton is due to Roosevelt and protection. Are they responsible for starving out the tobacco farmers? The tobacco trust is Republican and a Republican administration protects it in its destruction of competition and robbery of the people. —News and Observer.

Tenth Annual Convention Held in Durham Last Week—Many Social Courtesies and Pleasures Accorded the Delegates.

The tenth annual convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy was held in Durham last week. Those who went as delegates from the different Chapters in Henderson were: Mrs. W. S. Palmer, Mrs. Samuel Watkins, Mrs. W. O. Shannon and Miss Leila Shannon. Mrs. Henry A. London of Pittsboro, president, presided. Gen. Julian S. Carr delivered the address of welcome. The Durham Sun characterized the address as a "timely and ornate. Gen. Carr's words were those of a patriot, a lover of North Carolina, the South and the dear old Confederate cause. His tribute to the noble, splendid womanhood of the Southland was exceedingly timely and ornate. Gen. Carr's address will long be remembered by the Daughters of the Confederacy present."

The visiting ladies were accorded many courtesies and social pleasures in the way of banquets and receptions and a most enjoyable and successful one. Among the papers read was one by Mrs. W. O. Shannon of Henderson, referring to which the Sun said: "Mrs. Shannon, the assistant State Historian, in the absence of the State Historian, had prepared an address which she read to the assemblage. Her address was one of tenderness that glow the Confederacy in all forms, and also related to the Revolutionary war with much enthusiasm. She dwelt on other matters concerning the daughters as a body, and her remarks were stimulating and inspiring to the Daughters of the Confederacy, and a beautiful paenegyric to the noble cause they represent. At the conclusion of Mrs. Shannon's address the convention thanked her by a rising vote. We quote further from the same paper:

The convention has been one of great success and an splendid work of women. H. London, the retiring president, deserves great credit. She is to be congratulated upon her successful career as president, this office being held by her the past two years. Mrs. London, at all times, during the sessions had the convention under absolute control, and with the assistance of other State officers made a general president.

One of the most important matters considered by the convention was the building of a Confederate Memorial Arch, to be placed in Oakwood, the Confederate cemetery at Raleigh. The convention some time ago decided to build the arch, but no price was stipulated that the Chapters could raise. The committee in charge of this matter decided that price of this monument be $1,200. The Chapters present pledged $210 and representatives of most all the State Chapters agreed to give the required amount from the sixty Chapters, being $20 per Chapter. When completed the arch will contain the names of all the State Chapters, and be a memorial to the Confederate dead of North Carolina. The money will be paid in by the first of next year, and the arch will be built as soon as possible.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. W. S. Parker of Henderson, president. Mrs. H. M. Jones of Durham, first vice-president. Mrs. James K. Norfolk of Winston, second vice-president. Miss Sue Collins of Goldsboro, third vice-president. Mrs. E. M. Williams of Newton, recording secretary. Mrs. O. W. Blackall of Kittrell, corresponding secretary. Mrs. L. W. Faison of Charlotte, treasurer. Mrs. Leo D. Hearitt of Raleigh, registrar. Miss Rebecca Caneron, historian. Mrs. W. O. Shannon of Henderson, assistant historian. Miss Kate McKimmon of Raleigh, chaplain. Mrs. E. E. Moffit of Raleigh, was elected one of the honorary presidents of the State organization. The convention will meet next year in Greensboro.

Can you win? You realize that to win in any of these days, requires strength, with mind and body in tune. A man or woman with disordered digestive organs is not in shape for a day's work or day's play. How can they expect to win? Kodol For Dyspepsia contains the digestive juices of a healthy stomach and will put your stomach in shape to perform its important function of supplying the body and brain with strength building blood. Digests what you eat, relieves indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach, palpitation of the heart and constipation. Sold at Parker's Two Drug Stores.

Democrats Should be up and Doing. Smithfield Herald. It is time for Democrats to become aroused and go to work. The enemies of good government—the leaders of the Republican party—are doing what they can to dissatisfy the people and get them to vote the Republican ticket. Their efforts in Johnston county will be a failure, as a foregone conclusion. But Democrats must not remain idle. Let us be up and doing and increase our majority over that of two years ago.

Enforce The Vagrancy Law.

Wilmington Messenger.

To our mayor, our chief of police and the magistrates of the city we commend the careful reading of the following clipping from the Charlotte Observer. We are making no complaint of dereliction of duty by our officials in the matter of enforcing the law as to vagrancy, but that there are vagrants here—men who live without work and off the public—cannot be denied. Vagrancy is a crime dangerous to society and to the peace and well-being of the community. It should not be permitted. The law against it should be rigidly enforced. There is work waiting for every man. Those who won't work willingly should be made to do so.

The Observer says: There is increasing sentiment in Charlotte and Mecklenburg county against vagrants. Thinking people realize that it is the idle class who commit a great majority of the crimes, and that no vagrant is such a perfect innocent. There is a stringency of labor and any able-bodied person can find work. Notwithstanding the fact, however, according to a well known county official, there are scores of loafing negroes and whites in the county.

"It is the duty of the constables and magistrates of the county," said the official, "to arrest those vagrants and vandrants and put them on the chain gang, where they will have to work and thus diminish the amount of crime committed in the county."

The new law relating to vagrants is found in section 3740 of the new code and is as follows: 1. Any person shall come within any of the following classes, he shall be deemed a vagrant, and shall be fined not exceeding $50 or imprisoned 30 days. 1. Persons wandering or strolling about in idleness who are able to work and have no property to support them. 2. Persons leading an idle, immoral or profligate life who have no property to support them and who are able to work and have no property to support them. 3. All persons who are able to work and have no property to support them, and who have not some visible and known means of a fair, honest and reputable livelihood. 4. Persons having a fixed abode who have no visible property to support them, and who live by stealing or trading in, bartering for or buying stolen property. 5. Professional gamblers living in idleness. 6. All able bodied men who have no other visible means of support who shall live in idleness upon the wages or earnings of their mother, wife or minor child or children, except male children, over 18 years of age.

News That Might Be Dispensed With

Biblical Recorder.

To the Editor:—In reading a daily paper last week I noted the following items, the publication of which I cannot think of sufficient grounds for: 1. A fight in the Soldiers' Home between two old veterans, one of them in a feeble condition of mind. 2. Mrs. Jones' card party—"special from Smalltown."

3. Miss Jennie Wren's front porch party, prize-winners and a list of all present. Telegraphed from Doodleville. 4. The marriage of Mr. Bookkeeper and Miss Very Glad It happened.

5. The organization of a new fraternity at Chapel Hill—with names of the distinguished students. I often wonder, Mr. Editor, upon reading the news in our daily papers of parties, etc., from every direction, each with a color scheme, always a color scheme, conundrums and chicken salad. President, Secretary, admirable papers, delightful entertainment, etc., etc., who is it that has ordained that these simple affairs should be so overestimated as to be put before from 10,000 to 40,000 readers. And I wonder, too, that our Southern women should care to be so paraded. If I am not mistaken genuine hospitality desires to be inconspicuous. Modesty—does it not even yet become a woman? I started to write Southern woman. But I do not see in Northern papers letters from all over the State telling about this tea and that party.

I never did think marriages were interesting outside the families and a few friends. And I know that the organization of a college class or a fraternity is one of the most insignificant items imaginable. Let us get out of our petty and provincial catering to their craving for notice.

Very truly yours, PETER PLAIN.
