Looks Like a Good Thing.

Mr. W. J. Lassiter of Rich Square, N. C., was an agreeable caller at this office Tuesday. He is here in the interest of the Lancaster Automatic Railway Crossing Company, owners and patentees of a recent invention which it is claimed means as much to the railroad world as the invention of the Westinghouse air brake. switches it is claimed that 95 per cent. -and he will have something extra of the accidents that occur at such places can be eliminated. Practical tests have been made and the device is in opration at several points in Virginia and this State. A stock company duly incorporated and captitalized at $500,000 has been formed to exploit this device and it is believed that it will eventually be adopted and in use on all the railroads. Stock is being offered for sale and Mr. Lassiter is here to interest some of our reprsentative business men in the proposition as he has done elsewhere. Geo. W. Lancaster, Richmond, Va. is patentee and president. Several railroads want his device and have offered big sums for his patent outright but he prefers to manufacture and install them on the royalty plan knowing that he has a good thing and there's millions in it.

The following resolution adopted by Trustees of the Henderson Public schools explains itself:

Resolved. That we request the parties who have charge of the petition asking the Town Commissioners to call an election upon the question as to whether a dispensary shall be further conducted or operated in the town of Henderson, N. C., and also request the Mayor and Board of Commissioners of Henderson, N. C., that if said election shall be called and carried against dispensary, that the law shall not go into effect closing the dispensary until first day of July, 1908.

The above request is made for the reason that many obligations based upon receipts from the dispensary have already been assumed by the county, town of Henderson and public schools. town of Henderson, and public schools of the county, which obligations cannot be carried out without serious financial embarrassment, if at all.
