The Professional Leifer.

Charlotte News. A sort of distorted conception of the gentleman once existed among certain classes of our people in regard to those habits and practices necessary to the making of what was implied in the "gentleman."

Today, instead of being a disgrace for young man of social prominence and wealth to get down to manual labor, it is decidedly honorable, and so considered by all people whose opinions are worth consideration.

Today the young man who is not actually compelled to work in order to keep the wolf from the door, works because he knows that he should; because he feels that there is too much to be done for idling.

True, in almost every town and city there are a few professional loafers. They are in the lot—though not in great numbers—and wherever found they are looked upon with diapproval.

The beginning of wireless telegraphy communication across the Atlantic by means of the commercial cables, which took place on Thursday, is a great event in the world's history.

But corn meal if such a rich and versatile product that lends itself to all days and all meals. For breakfast it can be turned into buttered cakes or collards, or into waffles that melt in one's mouth, or into muffins which take on new sweetness in their tin boundaries.

Then, for dinner, there is the corn-pone, large, brown and hot from the oven, ready to be seasoned with a sauce of butter, and washed down with freshly churned butter-milk, with an accompaniment of cabbage or collards, or turnip salad, or new snap-beans.

It is not to be denied, however, that the products of maize have been losing popularity in this country; they seem to be going out of fashion; they are a little too coarse for the tender throats of the generation that has come and the one that is coming.

A Hard Debt to Pay. "I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid off," writes G. S. Clark, of Westfield, Iowa, "for my rescue from death, by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were so seriously affected that death seemed imminent, when I commenced taking New Discovery. The cough, dry, hacking cough, that before the first bottle was used, and two more bottles made a complete cure."

I HAVE QUALIFIED THIS DAY BEFORE the Clerk of the Superior Court of the county as administrator of the estate of Mrs. Lelia F. Young, and hereby notify all persons having claims against her estate to present same to me at once. If not presented in one year this notice will be pleaded in bar of their recovery.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE. J. H. YOUNG, Administrator of the estate of Lelia F. Young, deceased.

Old Fashioned Mother.

The Moore County News sings of "The Old Fashioned Mother." The extended life of "we reproduce here, was written by a man who must have had such a mother as he describes. Surely no man could write so lovingly, so tenderly of women who has not been blessed by one. We quote from the News.

Thank God some of us have and others have had, an old fashioned mother; not a woman of the period, enameled and painted, with her great elegance, her curls and bustle, whose white jeweled hands have never left the clasp of baby fingers, but a dear, old fashioned, sweet voiced mother, with eyes in which the love-light shone, and brown hair threaded with silver lying smooth upon her faded cheek.

When in the fitful pause of busy life our feet wander back to the old home-stead, and crossing the well-worn threshold, standing once more in the low, quaint room, as hallowed by her presence, how the feeling of childish innocence, and dependence peams over us, and we kneel down in the mottled sunshine streaming through the Western window—just where in the long years ago, we knelt by our mother's knee, listening to her words.

When we think the News is unjust to the woman of today. She lives more in the open, attends more social functions and dresses more lavishly than her mother did, but if fault there is, it must not be placed at her door; it must be attributed to the time in which she lives. We find no fault with women for wearing jewels and dressing as they may desire; those are privileges of theirs. We agree with our contemporary, however, in all that it says regarding the women who paint.

A Triumph of Science. The beginning of wireless telegraphy communication across the Atlantic by means of the commercial cables, which took place on Thursday, is a great event in the world's history.

Every Rexall Formula Is Public Property—And Always Has Been

This is an age of inquiry. Not since the time of the Civil War has there been so much agitation in the minds of the people on various subjects. People "want to know" about everything. We do not say that the public has grown skeptical—quite the contrary. We believe it is a day and age of enlightened, intelligent inquiry after facts.

Each man and each woman now-a-days wants to do his and her own thinking. They are not looking for any concentrated essence of wisdom boiled down and given to them in capsule form. They want to figure out for themselves what is right, and what is wrong, and what to do about it.

Public sentiment has forced the government of the United States to compel patent medicine manufacturers to state on their labels the ingredients of the remedy inside of every package. We believe that the Rexall remedies have had as much to do with the creation of this sentiment as any other one single element in the country.

Why? Simply because the Rexall remedies, from their inception several years ago, started out on an entirely new line. The first principle in the Rexall platform was one remedy for each ill—not a cure-all. Second—no secret combinations. Every formula has always been open to the public; anyone can know what he is taking when he buys Rexall—and always could.

Third—every Rexall remedy has been sold on the basis of "money back" if you are not more than satisfied. This is frank, square, open-handed business, that's all. But it made Rexall the great success in the medicine world in a very short time.

Rexall "93" HAIR TONIC The famous Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is one of the 300 Rexall Remedies. It is composed in chief of Resorcin, Beta Naphthol and Pilocarpin. Resorcin is one of the latest and most effective germ-killers discovered by science, and in combination with Beta Naphthol, which is both germicidal and antiseptic, a combination is formed which not only destroys the germs which rob the hair of its nutriment, but creates a clean and healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs. Pilocarpin is a well-known agent for restoring the hair to its natural color, where the loss of color has been due to a disease of the scalp. It is not a coloring matter or dye. This combination of curatives mixed with alcohol as a stimulant, perfects the most effective remedy for hair and scalp troubles known to-day. Per bottle, 50c.

STOP WOMAN AND CONSIDER First, that almost every operation in our hospitals, performed upon women, becomes necessary because of neglect of such symptoms as Backache, Irritability, Displacements, Pain in the Side, Dragging Sensations, Dizziness and Sleeplessness. Second, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, has cured more cases of female ills than any other one medicine known. It regulates, strengthens and restores women's health and is invaluable in preparing women for child-birth and during the period of Change of Life. Third, the great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time being published by special permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.
