If You Read This

It will be to learn that the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchial, throat and lung disease (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherrybark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of others equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

"The Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes, that has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous, harmful or habit-forming drugs and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful agent in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native, medicinal roots and is safe and reliable.

A booklet of extracts from eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Thanksgiving.

Whether We Had Turkey for Dinner or Not We Have Much to be Thankful For---The Poorest Among Us Are Rich if They Only Knew it.

Farmville (Va.) Herald.

Another day designated by the President as one of thanksgiving has come and gone. Many of us had turkey, and gathered with us at the table were those who brighten home life and give charm to our earthly existence. Hearthstones were warm, and hearts beat with exhilarating hope. In this particular section of a common country we have enjoyed a season of rare beauty, gladdened by well-nigh unbroken sunshine and crowned with the blessings of abundant harvest. Our flag went down in a fierce political struggle, civic hopes were crushed, the interests of the many were sacrificed in the interests of the few, and yet out of battle peace has been borne and with courage and good cheer we are facing the future with manly hearts and without fear. But it may be that you didn't have turkey for dinner on yesterday, and there were vacant chairs at the family table, and actual want in some homes. But was there no one among us who did not have much for which to be grateful? Was your pulse-beat strong and regular? Could you look into the faces of your friends? Could you recognize the glory of God in the heavens? Could you rest at night and labor during the day? Can you read and have a Bible in your home? Do you not enjoy the privilege of prayers? and can you not enjoy the spirit of forgiveness? Can you not give the helping hand to a fallen brother? say or sing something of cheer to sad hearts?

Think on these things, and if you were not thankful on yesterday be so to-day, and on to-morrow, through life, and at last enter heaven with a shout of triumph. The poorest among us are rich if we only know it.

More Unjust Criticism.

Charlotte News.

Some days ago the News gave considerable attention to what it deemed an unfair and unwarranted arraignment of the South by the New York Tribune, the incident calling forth the abuse of the Tribune being the murder of E. W. Carmack.

The unfairness and prejudice inspiring the Tribune's attacks is even more apparent in the spirit behind the following, taken from the New York Evening Post:

"Let no one make the mistake of thinking that lynch law in the South applies only to the negro. You must not disagree with the existing order of things, for if you do, your position is in danger, particularly if you happen to be a college professor. If you are too personal in your criticisms, why the revolver will be your fate and your executioner will quite as often be a member of one of the oldest families, as a poaching night-rider. The whole South must come to the realization of the injury such crimes do to its good name, for its progressive minority is already awake to the facts.

"No one unfamiliar with the South can fully realize the ramifications of this terrorism of public sentiment. Men who are moved to disagree are either compelled to suppress their views, or utter them and then suffer the consequences."

Having already expressed our views on the injustice of such comment as this we desire here only to give the opinion of a contemporary, the Augusta Chronicle, which we believe is expressive of that view held throughout the South. In speaking of the Evening Post's attack on the South, the Chronicle truthfully says:

"Such misrepresentation and abuse should have no place in respectable journalism. Its influence is miserable and petty and calculated to foster misunderstanding and ill feeling between the North and South that has no place in this day and era.

"The murder of Senator Carmack has shocked and hurt the South inexpressibly, and there has been no lack of condemnation and horror at it in this section. Had such a crime occurred in New York, Illinois or Maine, no hue and cry would have been raised against an entire section. The murderer and his allies would have received the blame. But happening, as it did in Tennessee, the whole South is arraigned and excoriated.

"But perhaps the South should not concern herself with Northern criticisms and shallow misrepresentation of prejudiced minds. She stands as one family, suffering acutely the sorrows and disgraces which her black sheep bring."

Hoarse coughs and stuffy colds that may develop into pneumonia over night are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar, as it soothes inflamed membranes, heals the lungs and expels the cold from the system. Sold at Parker's Two Drug Stores.

His Way Out of It.

"He don't give nuthin' to the church now?"

"No. Somebody told him the Bible says salvation is free, an' he says fur be it from him to dispute the Scriptures!"—Atlanta Constitution.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments—the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail, then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by all dealers.

We Thank Thee.

O. H., in The Presbyterian Standard.

For all the colors that with lavish hand
Thou spreadest far and near,
The splendor that Thy love has planned
To crown the passing year;

And for Thy sunlight glorifying all—
Sparing nor leaf nor flower,
Giving alike to Summer and to Fall
Of beauty a rich dower.

For clouds and rain, for winds and cold and snow,
For these we thank Thee too,
For we have learned their use, and so we know,
These too have purpose true.

For darkness, Lord, and all that darkness brings
To those who trust in Thee,
We are assured 'tis but Thine outspread wings,
And timid fears must flee.

And though upon our hearts the shadows fall,
Of grief and care today,
Teach us to count our mercies, great and small,
Till shadows flee away.

We thank Thee most of all because we know
In whom we have believed,
And lifting eyes of trust may onward go,
From doubts and fears relieved.

Paragraphic Constitutionals from the Atlanta Constitution.

Foolish, for the great grafters to growl about not getting justice, when they wouldn't be satisfied with ten years of it.

An automobile ran down and killed a full-grown deer, in New Jersey. One of the tree-climbing variety would be great in a Georgia 'possum hunt.

The Savannah News says Taft has the Rudyard Kipling smile. But with coal trust prices so high, we prefer the woodyard kindling variety.

The Rev. Dr. Hillis says the millennium is here. The good doctor is mistaken. The government hasn't collected that Standard Oil fine yet.

We hear from Explorer Peary every little while. The search for the pole will not be exciting until they call for subscriptions for a relief expedition.

Taft will receive a mountain lion as a Christmas gift. But he needs the services of a trained bull dog to keep the office-seekers from playing in his yard.

The president is credited with the statement, "I could have carried Georgia." Georgia makes all of them feel that way after an old-time hand-shaking at a barbecue.

"Prosperity is not coming with a leap and a bound," says The Iron Trade Review.

Well, if it will just roll in easily we'll be satisfied with a mild surprise.

As Abe Ruef asserts that he can't get justice in San Francisco, and they won't let him get as far South as the night-riding region, there is nothing for him to do but stay where he is and live justice down.

Hook Worms and Some Other Things.

Charlotte News, Nov. 26.

Mr. A. B. Stronach, of Raleigh, takes a fall out of Dr. Stiles and his Country Life Commission, or whatever it is. Dr. Stiles made some remaks about the hook worm and the blood of the children of the South, which stirred up some talk. Mr. Stronach, in the Raleigh Times referring to the matter, says:

"Anything and everything that tends to the betterment of our people, political, social, moral, educational or sanitary, should be encouraged. We are a part of this government and it's time we were getting our share, if of nothing else but 'advice.' Our products bear the great burden of taxation, not to mention the money from our stolen cotton lying idle in the United States treasury and the money, which should be refunded, of which we were robbed by the United States revenue cotton tax—$12 to $14 per bale—in this era (said to be) of peace and good-will. Why not return us our stolen money, either for good roads as per Congressman Brownlow, of Tennessee, or for education? If the United States government will give us back the proceeds of these two robberies we'll not need any commissions to look after us. It is the alarmist faddist tendency of specialists of which we object. There is more good and more humbug in medicine than of anything I know. Amongst other things I devoted a year of my life to the study of medicine and have to some extent kept in touch since. I do not know how long since Dr. Stiles discovered the hook-worm, whose extermination is to be the salvation of the South, but I was told by a Confederate veteran, a prominent citizen of the county, that his son, a physician, had been treating for this disease five years and as I remember his first patient was a farmer, well to do, of full habit and a hearty feeder. When I was a boy he would have been dosed with Fahnstock's Vermifuge, and it would have been good-bye Mr. Hook or any other worm."

A great deal too much has been said about Dr. Stiles' diagnosis, and the little flare up it caused is enough to convince the outside world that we are intolerant and conceited. The best thing we can do is to drop the subject and be ashamed of ourselves for a season.—Thomasville Charity and Children.

The Greatest Obligation of All.

Charlotte Observer.

While the blessings which we as a people have received this year have been rich and manifold, that for which many if not the majority of us should be chiefly thankful today and at all times is that high heaven has not dealt with us according to our deserts. When one reflects upon the many sins committed, the many wrongs done, the little good accomplished, the many opportunities for service to God and humanity which have been allowed to pass unimproved; in a word how long the debit and how short the credit account kept with us by the Great Book-Keeper, the majority of us must stand amazed at God's patience and long-suffering.

It is not for what He has done for us but for what He has not done to us that we owe most thanks.

We thank Him as we should for life and health; for the increase which the earth has yielded; for exemption from the "pestilence that walketh by darkness and the destruction that wasteth at noonday," but before that we should thank Him for not having sent us to hell where, in the course of strict justice, we belong.

A New Poem by Edwin Markham.

Edwin Markham, who made a world-wide reputation a few years ago with his poem, "The Man With the Hoe," has written for the Christmas Woman's Home Companion a poem that is considered to be even greater than "The Man With the Hoe." Many who have read Markham's new poem, "Before the Gospels Were," consider it the greatest verse of recent years. "Before the Gospels Were" tells, with wonderful poetic imagination, the story of the gathering together of the materials for the gospels by Christ's disciples after His ascension. Never before has there been presented so illuminating a picture of what Christ's life meant to His disciples and why it was so accurately reflected in their gospels.

The opening verse of the poem is:

Long noons and evenings after He was gone,
Mary the Mother, Matthew, Luke and John,
And all those who loved Him to the last,
Went over all the marvel of the past—
Went over all the old familiar ways
With tender talk of dear remembered days.
They walked the roads that never gave Him rest—
Past Jordan's ford, past Kedron's bridge,
Up Olivet, up Hermon's ridge,
To that last road, the one they loved the best.

The climax of the poem is reached in the last verse, which sums up all the thoughts that have been expressed in the preceding lines:

So huddling often by the chimney blaze,
Or going down the old remembered ways
On many a lingering walk,
They held their wonder-talk,
Minding each other of some sacred spot,
Minding each other of a word forgot;
So gathering up till all the whispered words
Went to the four winds like a flight of birds!

Guilty of Counterfeiting.

The American Criminal Law Should Be Recast.

That the American criminal law has serious defects, and that if the American people wish to rule they must "thoroughly, rationally and honestly recast the criminal law," were asserted by Attorney General C. J. Bonaparte, in an address before the National Municipal League at Pittsburg a few days ago. He declared that the gravest and least excusable deficiency of the criminal law is found in its endless delays, and added that if the people demand prompt and unquestioning obedience to the people's laws, and give to this demand an ample sanction in swift, sure and grievous retribution for all rebellious to those laws, the people's rule will be real.

"Why need there be a foretaste of eternity," he asked, "between arrest and indictment; another between indictment and trial, and yet another between trial and actual punishment?" This he answered by declaring that it is partly "because the bench and professional opinion among the bar tolerate all kinds of dilatory, frivolous and often ridiculous proceedings on the part of unscrupulous counsel, intended to cheat justice of her plain due; partly because our lawmakers afford almost infinite facilities for review of judicial action to the criminal, although being stingy in allowing them to the government; but mainly because our laws show little sense of the value to society of a speedy administration of justice."

Commenting editorially on this observation of Mr. Bonaparte the Statesville Landmark well says:

"All students of human affairs will admit that the criticism is not too severe; that the indictment is correct. In the zeal of the law-makers—usually lawyers—to give defendants in criminal cases all their rights; in the zeal of the courts—lawyers, of course, who haven't forgotten their own experience at the bar—to allow counsel all opportunity, attorneys have come to consider it no impropriety to resort to almost any expedient in behalf of a client; and as a result the administration of the criminal law is largely a farce. Mr. Bonaparte is right when he says the people should make demand. The conditions complained of will never be remedied until such a sentiment is created among the people that the lawyers will be afraid to resist it. The reform will never come through the lawyers. They have too much interest in retaining the present state of affairs."

Alex. J. Feild.

Named as Private Secretary by Governor-Elect Kitchin--Announcement Received With Satisfaction and Approval Throughout the State.

News and Observer.

The private secretary to Governor W. W. Kitchin, who goes into office in January, will be Mr. Alex J. Feild, of this city.

That he would appoint Mr. Feild to that position was given out by Governor-elect Kitchin while he was in the city yesterday. It is an appointment that will be greeted with satisfaction by the Democracy throughout the State, for Mr. Feild is a working Democrat, always ready to do service for his party. He has many friends in North Carolina and these will hear of his appointment with peculiar satisfaction.

Mr. Feild is a member of the bar of Raleigh, and in the past four campaigns he has been the secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee. Holding this position he has been in close touch with the leading men of the State, and he will go to his new duties splendidly qualified and equipped to carry these on successfully. Courteous, polite and ever ready to serve he will prove a wise choice as private secretary. A man of experience, learning and legal ability his services will be of value to the new Governor. His friends in Raleigh who last night heard of the appointment expressed warm approval of the selection of Mr. Feild by Governor-elect Kitchin.

Mr. Feild is a native of Warren, a son of the late Dr. George Feild, who came to North Carolina from Virginia. He was born in 1864 and received his early education in the schools of Warren county, going afterwards to Horner's at Oxford, and graduating at the University of North Carolina in 1885. In 1888 he was admitted to the practice of law, and began his career as a lawyer at Oxford. Eleven years ago he removed to Raleigh where he has since practiced law. In 1890 Miss Louie Hughes, of Oxford, became his wife, and two children, both boys, have been born to them.

Mr. Feild and Governor-elect Kitchin have been friends for many years. Living in Oxford, Mr. Feild was in the same Senatorial District with Mr. Kitchin, who in the early nineties was the Democratic nominee for Senator. In the campaign at that time Mr. Feild gave a warm support to Mr. Kitchin, and in the years since then he has ever been a warm friend of the Governor-elect.

The position of private secretary is a most important one in the State Government, and those who know Mr. Feild are confident that he will fully measure up to the duties. The salary of the position is $2,000 a year, the private secretary being also the military secretary of the Governor, with the rank of Colonel, and so it will be that hereafter it will no longer be Mr. Feild but Col. Feild.

A Sensible Printer.

A New Orleans paper tells of a printer who, when his fellow-workmen went out to drink beer during working hours, put in the bank the exact amount which he would have spent if he had gone out to drink with them. He kept to his resolution for five years. He then examined his bank account and found that he had on deposit $521.85. In the five years he had not lost a day from ill health.

Four or five of his fellow-workmen had, in the meantime, become drunkards, were worthless as workmen, and were discharged. The water drinker bought a printing office on enlarging his business, and in twenty years from the time he began to put by his money was worth one hundred thousand dollars.

After suffering for seven years, this woman was restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Read her letter.

Mrs. Sallie French, of Pancanula, Ind. Ter., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I had female troubles for seven years—was all run-down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different troubles but did me no good. While in this condition I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am now strong and well."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about your sickness you do not understand. She will treat your letter in confidence and advise you free. No woman ever regretted writing her, and because of her vast experience she has helped thousands. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this pantid, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it off ers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with
