NEW YEAR IN JAPAN.

ingine oneself in Tokyo during the New Year festivities," writes Clar ence Marshall Phillips in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. "The first thing to attract one's attention would be the porch decorations. Each one is ar raved in great ropes twisted and knotted into amazing beauty. Pine branchs, either arched over the doors or windows, are interspersed with oranges and bordered with festoons of flowers, while to symbolize Old Age man for the year just ending is looked on account of his crooked back a lob- through and taken under advisement ster occupies a conspicuous position for ten days. On the day of atonement the onlooker can readily guess the the fate is sealed and nothing can meaning or 'story' the arrangement change it any more.-Chicago Tribune. was intended to convey

"Rows of sales booths, tent shows oriental street fair occupy two and He came to my desk with a quivering a half miles of the street's length. Anything from a cheap fan to a costly image of Buddha can be bought at whatever price the moment demands. Dances allegorical of every side of life are in profusion, while the fakir is as common as in any European fair.

"The real beauty of the scene is furnished by the flower booths which dot the Ginza as far as one can see. These displays are wrought into such phenomenal beauty that one would infer the designers to be none other than the tasteful Japanese. Odd it is how prevalent this power is among this people. Even the proprietors of the most humble booths possess the faculty. The whole fair cannot be 'taken in' in a few hours, but at 12 we retire to our hotel to pass away the witching hour at which time the old year passes into the new. The frivolities are now toned down, and in the spell of the hush we foreigners cannot help but recall the time agone when we listened while the guns boomed 'farewell' and the bells 'rang out the old, rang in the new.' The festivities continue the remainder of the night and the next day and until the 3d of January. The decorations are taken down on the 4th or the 6th, according to local custom. From this time on to the 16th of January the business man enjoys his vacation, which is a quite essential conclusion to the New Year's gayety. After this, though, he again resumes his work, and the New Year's frolic is jotted down on memory as a thing of the

AZTECS' HORRIBLE HOLIDAY.

They Celebrated the New Year With Human Sacrifices.

The bloody and complicated ritual of the Aztecs commemorated the return of their masterful war god, the sun, from the south, and the ceremonies carried on in his honor occupied a period of several days. The initiatory rites began before daylight of the first morning, when the chief priest and his subdignitaries wended their way in solemn procession to the top of their greatest pyramidal sanctuary. Here the high priest retired alone to a small temple, whose doorway opened toward the east, and as the rising sun crimsoned and purpled the serrated mountains he knelt and sprinkled thickly upon the marble floor the sacred meal. As the first rays of the newborn sun strike slantingly across the floor of the tiny temple the bended priest beholds a miracle. Faintly at first, then stronger and stronger, grows an imprint in the meal of the naked foot of their war god. Upon this miraculous manifestation the high priest announces to the assembled couriers that their god has returned to them and that the grand festal occasion is inaugurated. Unhappily the first feast rites were of a grewsome and horrible nature, consisting mainly in sacrificing youths to the gods. It is said that they were feasted for days previous to the ceremony that they might be in a wholesome and pleasing condition upon their last and the war god's first great day. In other ceremonles human beings were killed and flayed, and the participants in the sacrifice enveloped themselves in the bloody skins of the vic tims, while they took part in a wild and mucanny dance.

While the observance of the new year among the Aztecs seemingly pre dominated in bloody rites, they were most likely confined to the religious order of the priests, and the great mass of the people, with no taint of blood on their hands, might be happy and revel in the feast of the new year .- New

How Time Travels.

When St. Paul's strikes noon on Jan. 1, 1909, the new year will come into being somewhere in the Pacific ocean, on a line following longitude 180 east, which is exactly opposite Greenwich meridian on the other side of the globe. Geographers draw the line to avoid passing through any of the Pacific islands, for if it did the times and days of the inhabitants would be hopelessly muddled. Vanua, one of the Fiji islands, for instance would be otherwise divided by the line where the days and years begin Jap. 1 on the western side it would be Dec. 31 a few paces away on the east of the line. One could thus waik into yesterday and a moment later return tomorrow

How the new year travels is curiously illustrated by its passage acros-Great Britain. It reaches Greenwich. as the time center, at midnight, exactly twelve hours after it started. Seventeen minutes later it gets to Glasgow, and another six minutes pass before the new year has captured Penzance. These are the true times for these places, though Greenwich time is the one accepted. But Ireland is proud in possession of her own chronology, and it will be 12:25 at night in London before 1909 reaches Dublin .- Loudon Chronicle.

New Year Superstitions. It is considered a sure sign of death to see one's own shadow in the moonlight on New Year's eve. You court misfortune by leaving the house on New Year before some one has entered it. You must hope for the luck, moreover, of having the first to enter a dark haired man.

Seeking to know what good or evil the New Year would bring, superstitions people in the long ago girt themselves with swords and sat on the roof of their houses on New Year's eve. They also knelt at the crossroads (on a cowhide) for the same purpose. The first thing brought, one might think, would whose terms of office shall be two be pneumonia It is bad luck to carry anything out of the house on the New Year before something has been brought in.

But the best luck of all, which even those most scornful of portents may not despise, is to begin the New Year owing no man a cent.-Philadelphia

The Jewish New Year. In striking opposition to the spirit of joy and happiness which pervades Christendom generally is the New Year of the Jews. With the Jews, who also observe the New Year for two days, the days are not days of feasting and enjoyment, but days of judgment. According to the belief of every orthodox Jew, every member of the Jewish race is tried on the New Year. The books kept in heaven are opened on that day. The record of each man for the coming year is drawn up, whether he should live or die, prosper

The legislature at least has about as much excuse for doing nothing as If the politicians can find nothing for the legislature to do it will indeed have a dull time of it. Senator Foraker is another man who went after the President's scalp

If the President ever finds out exactly how it is we are betting that Judge Adams does not get it. If they keep extending the lines we will not be able to send in our order and get the stuff the same day. When the whiskey folks helped to put the negro out of politics there is where they dropped their candy. The fellow who really wants it for medicine is taking chances if he drinks the kind of stuff he can get. We are just the least bit glad that

Mr. Foraker did not get out until he was convinced that he was beaten. Certainly we should be able to enforce our State laws without the assistance of Federal revenue doodlers. We should not make laws and then expect the Federal officers to enforce them. The county officers want to minute as to whether or not it was likely to hurt the party. For the President's part in downing Senator Forker we should be willing to forgive much that we have been holding against him.

When we see that so many of the towns in Virginia do not want it we also wonder why so many saloons were able to keep going. It is just as much the duty of the county officials to enforce the prohibition laws in the country as it is for the police to do it in the towns. When they start out to make trouble for the President they do not want to forget that he is something the party does not want. Prohibition has been put on the State and very few of us are going to live to see it taken off. If you doubt this you might refer to the history of other prohibition States.

A Rank Proposition.

It was published in this paper yes terday that "the Raleigh Good Gov ernment League has just evolved and adopted a proposed charter which it is to ask the Legislature, at the approaching session, to pass as applicable not only to Raleigh, but to every town in the State having 10,-000 and more population. It provides for the selection, by primary system, of a mayor and four councilmen, years with possibility of second term only; the counsel and mayor to have authority to select other officers and fix compensation. A petition signed by one-fourth of the qualified voters can force an election on the removal of any elective officer and call for the passage of any specific ordinance." That's it. By all means, let us have government and then some more government from Raleigh. If this thing keeps up, it will soon come to pass that every town in the State will be under absolute government from Raleigh. In time, an order may even issue therefrom requiring compulsory attendance at church and later the designation of the one particular church to attend. The propostion for one charter to govern all the towns in the State is manifestly absurd. The conditions that prevail in one town do not obtain in another, and a charter that would suit one community would be unfit and unsatisfactory for another. The sensible plan is for each town to get up a charter best fitted to cover the proper management of its own affairs, as Charlotte and High Point are proposing to do. Local option is denied the State, but certainly home government should not be denied the people. The proposition to pass a law for all the towns just like Raleigh has is a

The Straight of It.

Charlotte Chronicle.

For some time past, rnmor has been busy with the Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio road and its plans and to get at the straight of the matter, the Chronicle made direct application to Mr. M. J. Caples, the general manager, at Johnson City. It asked him for enlightenment on three points, the character of which is indicated by his replies. In a letter under date of the 28th to the editor of the Chronicle, Mr. Caples says: "We expect to begin doing business with the Seaboard Air Line at Bostic early in February, 1909. C., C. & O. freight trains will not run beyond Bostic, but will deliver freight to the Seaboard Air Line at that point.

"It is expected that passenger service will be in operation to Bostic not later than February 1, 1909. It has not yet been determined whether or not C., C. & O. trains will go beyond Bostic or will merely connect at that point with the Seabourd Air

"No decision has been made as yet as to Pullman service, but Pullman service will undoubtedly be installed shortly after the opening of the road for through business, but definite dates have not been decided upon in his connection.'

This makes it all clear enough. The assenger service of the C., C. & O. will be extended to Bostic by February 1, as was stated in the Chronicle a few days ago. At that time the C., C. & O. train may connect with the Seaboard, or may be run through to Charlotte and Wilmington, but that will be done later on when the through Pullman car service to Cincinnati will be put on, which will be early in the spring. The Clinchfield coal fields will be opened up to Charlotte and all points on the Seaboard next month. This official nformation will be received with much satisfaction by the people inerested and they inhabit a large portion of North Carolina.

If your Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys are weak, try at least, a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop's doesn't drug the stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goe directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerve. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success ing druggists everywhere to give universal preference. A test will surely tell.
