

JUSTICE HAD ADAMS IN A TIGHT HOLE

Story of Joint Debate and How
Mr. Adams Mentioned "Nigger"
Once too Much. Hated to Admit he Ran on Ticket with Negro.

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 22.—In the debate at Albemarle in Stanley county week before last between Republican State chairman, Adams and E. J. Justice, Judge Adams himself brought up the negro question in politics, not only asserting that the Democratic party was the negro party, but turned to Justice personally and hurled at him with much gusto, as if it had been a crime, the accusation that a negro in Greensboro had voted for Justice in the Democratic primary in which he was a candidate for nomination to the legislature.

Of course Republicans present went wild with joy at this argument from Judge Adams, of all men in the world. But Justice had fifteen minutes, and that only. He hadn't been on his feet two minutes before he was receiving enthusiastic applause from all over the house as Adams had from a part of it, by calling their attention to the fact that he had not mentioned the "nigger" in all his hours argument, and he had done this deliberately because he knew that if there was a gentleman in the State who deserved to run from that question it was Judge Adams, or at least, he said he thought this until Judge Adams had made that subject the burden of his speech. Here pandemonium broke loose, for there was none present dull enough not to see how keen was the thrust.

"I don't know whether a nigger ever voted for me or not," said Justice; "I know I never asked one to do so, but I do know if it is a crime for a nigger to vote for you, it ought to be a crime for a white man to vote for a nigger ought it Judge?" No answer from Judge Adams, except a look of absolute wrath and anger as the audience rose in a shout.

Coolly and innocently Justice then enquired: "Since you are so incensed against the colored people's possibly voting for a white man like me Judge, will you tell these people whether you ever voted for a nigger or not?" When the applause had subsided Judge Adams white with indignation, waved his two big hands out wildly and declared: "So help me God, I never did!" And here his Republican friends, who were evidently painfully scared, raised the roof with a ringing shout of delight. Quietly and innocently Justice again asked: "But you run with a negro Judge, don't you?"

"Never," laconically said the State Chairman, and the Republican shouts again echoed. "Why Judge didn't you run on a ticket with a negro in Caswell county in 1894, when you were elected clerk?"

"I did not," emphatically roared the Judge. "What, didn't you run on the same ticket with a negro named Smith, who was running for the legislature?" insisted Mr. Justice.

"I tell you it was not on the same ticket. He was for the legislature and I was for clerk, and they were separate tickets," retorted the judge in desperation, and his friends whooped at the answer, but when Justice came again, the whole house rose up in turbulent applause, and after that, Justice was not Adams' meat any more during the subsequent proceedings.

"Ran with a nigger and got his vote and never told fair by voting for the nigger," exclaimed Justice. "Tell me he never ran on the same ticket with a negro, and I made him own he was juggling with words," said Justice, stopping to let the furor subside, then continuing: "A man who would fool a nigger, would fool you. A man who would juggle with words and try to deceive you to your face by saying he never ran on the same ticket, will not hesitate to juggle with figures as I proved to you. Why he is the worst dodger for a fat man that I ever saw," exasperatingly laughed Justice as the crowd rose as one man again in response.

This one of many equally exciting incidents where Adams brought trouble on himself by his own reckless statements and charges, is given more fully to emphasize a piece of

The Better Way

The tissues of the throat are inflamed and irritated; you cough, and there is more irritation—more coughing. You take a cough mixture and it eases the irritation—for a while. You take and it cures the cold. That's what is necessary. It soothes the throat because it reduces the irritation; cures the cold because it drives out the inflammation; builds up the weakened tissues because it nourishes them back to their natural strength. That's how Scott's Emulsion deals with a sore throat, a cough, a cold, or bronchitis.

Why Vinol Is Better Than Any Other Remedy to Restore

Health and Strength

WE RETURN MONEY IF IT FAILS TO GIVE SATISFACTION
E. B. MENZIES, Druggist.

Because Vinol is a real Cod Liver Preparation and does not contain a single disagreeable or harmful ingredient and is not a secret formula.

Because Vinol contains all the medicinal elements—the soothing, healing, strengthening and flesh creative properties of Cod Liver Oil—but without oil or grease.

Because everything in Vinol, except the tonic iron and a fine old wine, is actually extracted from fresh cods' livers and their oil.

Because Vinol is deliciously palatable and agreeable under all conditions. Everybody likes it.

Because Vinol tones up the system, strengthens every organ, nerve, muscle and fibre of the whole body and thus overcomes weakness by thoroughly eradicating the cause of disease.

That's Why Vinol is altogether different and better than any other remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, and all Throat, Lung and Wasting Diseases.

That's Why Vinol Restores Health and Strength to Delicate Children, Feeble Old People, Weak and Sickly Persons, Nursing Mothers, and Convalescents.

Intelligence which a report of this occurrence has brought. A letter received here from one of the prominent gentlemen of Caswell county, states that Judge Adams' explanation at Albemarle that he did not run on a ticket with a negro because the negro ran as a candidate for the legislature and he for clerk, which required placing their names on separate tickets was not true, even from an anti-judging standpoint. He declared that the year Adams was elected clerk of the court in Caswell county, on the same ticket for county officers was the name of Albert Bigelow a big, black negro, for register of deeds. The anomaly of this whole thing consists in the fact that Republicans themselves, raised the question of "nigger" and when the Democrats accept the gauge of battle and show them up in their true personal colors, they cry out "persecution," "intolerance," "slander," "bulldozing," etc.

At the last term of the Federal court the Republican candidate for clerk of the court could not serve as a grand juror because he had not paid his taxes for 1905, and the Republican candidate for sheriff was disqualified for the same reason only the latter, who is wealthy owed for two years and gave a check for over three hundred dollars, past due taxes, in order to serve even on the petit jury. These things seem strange of Guilford county Republicans, who pride themselves as being superior to those anywhere else in North Carolina. They show that in many respects they are all tarred with the same stick.

President Roosevelt has written a letter to W. N. Mitchell, president of the Georgia State ter-centennial commission, who made the suggestion, in which he says: "I need hardly say how much touched and pleased I was by the proposition to reproduce my mother's old home at Jamestown. Whatever the decision in the matter may finally be allow me to thank you most warmly for your suggestion."

NEGRO FOUND HANGING.

Body Was Found Hanging to Tree in Woods.
Lexington, Ky., Oct. 20.—The body of an unknown negro was found hanging to a tree on the farm of Horace Coleman, near this city. He evidently committed suicide. No one could identify him. He was well dressed and the description of him tallies with that of Jesse Cox, a negro who shot a police man recently in Indiana and for whose arrest a reward of $700 had been offered.

If we could only see ourselves as others see us—but we can't, so there's no use of worrying about it.

THE SOUTH'S LAMENT.

(By W. L. Austin in Times-Dispatch.)

The last link save one is broken, The hand of death is snatching one by one

The survivors of the Lost Cause. Gone;

And in hushed tones their names are spoken. She who bore alike the joy and sorrow

Of our lamented President; she who Gave him cheer as none but wife can do,

Has answered nature's call. On the morrow Earth will see her form no more. Beside Him whom we loved—the Southland's guide And noble leader—will her body rest

In beauteous Hollywood. Upon the crest Of the hill beside the James another mound

Will mark the spot we hold as sacred ground. As the mother loves the one who's gone,

And longs for his return, so we have loved— And longed and hoped; by patriotism moved—

To feel that, although far away, 'twas known Her heart beat true to her native clime,

And her love for the South was sincere, O Davis, the Southland's martyr, we never

Thy name, and memories of thee even time Will but make more sacred. With love

We'll lay thy mate to rest; while above The mourning through thy spirit shall hover

Like a benediction. With flowers we'll cover Her last resting-place, then drop a sad tear

On thy mound; it covers the South's most dear.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY

SAVED ENEMY'S LIFE.

Pittsburg, Oct. 20.—According to officials of the Carnegie Hero Fund, the most remarkable case that has been investigated by the commission was that of Rufus K. Combs, of Midway, Ky., who was granted a silver medal and $1,500 in cash by the commission yesterday. Combs saved the life of his bitter enemy and political rival, Richard Godson, a lawyer and inventor.

Godson had entered a vault to test a gas-making apparatus and was overcome by the fumes.

Friends and relatives were afraid to enter the vault. When he declared his intention of going in Combs was pulled back and told that Godson was dead, and that he would surely lose his own life if he attempted to recover the body.

"There may be some life in him," declared Combs as he pulled away and entered the vault. He carried his enemy to the door of the vault and then fell unconscious. Both men recovered and are now the staunchest friends.

Asked why he had risked his life for his most bitter enemy, Combs replied: "Because I love a fighter who fights fair, and Godson always did that."
