

The People of Kingston Regret the Departure of Americans Ships

The Action of Governor Sweetenham, in Refusing the Proffer of Aid From America, is Sorely Regretted by Officials

Patients in Hospitals, Red Cross Nurses as Well as Citizens and Council Express Disapproval of Governor's Course.

London, England, January 21.—At a conference between the officials of the foreign and the colonial office of the latter cabled Governor Sweetenham of Jamaica, asking for his view on the situation which led to the withdrawal of the American warships. The Foreign office suggested the propriety of securing the governor's statement without delay as it was felt the incident might cause irreparable injury to the friendly relations now existing between the two governments if not promptly explained.

The officials of the Foreign office said: "It is unexplainable," adding: "We are sure none regret it more than we do."

An official of the Foreign office said the greatest appreciation was expressed everywhere when it was announced that Admiral Evans had dispatched the vessels and no criticism was heard anywhere of the landing of armed men.

"It is difficult to find justification for the Governor's letter," he said, adding: "We shall make every effort to have the affair cleared up without delay and we hope the Americans will withhold judgment until this can be done."

Opinion of the Press.
The Pall Mall Gazette, says the language employed by Governor Sweetenham would be "difficult to justify in almost any circumstance."

"But," it adds, "it is possible that the praiseworthy desire to do the utmost in the cause of humanity pushed Admiral Davis beyond the necessity of the case."

It is assumed both were animated by the best of motives.

The Westminster Gazette says there can be nothing but regret.

Council Disapproves.
New York, January 21.—The feature of the news from Kingston is the declaration of Governor Sweetenham to accept the American aid and the departure of the American warships.

Governor Sweetenham's action appears not to have met with the view of the people and the officials of Kingston.

It is reported the City Council disapproved of the English governor's action and sent a letter of regret to Admiral Davis and asked him to remain.

The English newspaper comments are unanimous in regretting the occurrence.

Battleships Arrive.
Washington, D. C., January 21.—Admiral Evans notified the navy department of the arrival at Guantanamo this morning of the battleships Missouri and Indiana and the cruiser Yankton from Kingston.

Action Declared Criminal.
Guantanamo, Cuba, January 21.—The battleship Missouri arrived from Kingston. It is stated that Governor Sweetenham held up Saturday night's despatches from Kingston regarding his letter to Admiral Davis.

Previous to the departure of the American warships the Mayor and City Council of Kingston sent a letter of petition to the Admiral begging him to remain.

The relief committee threatened to resign and when the American surgeons left the hospital, the patients wept and begged them to stay.

The Red Cross nurses declared the Governor's action, in causing the Americans to withdraw, was nothing short of criminal.

A Weak Position.
John Westlake, professor of international law at the University of Cambridge, said he was unable to see any justification in the international law for the governor's action and said the landing of armed men by Admiral Davis was not even a technical violation of the international law.

Thanks for America.
London, England, January 21.—A despatch from Governor Sweetenham asking the British government to convey to the United States the thanks of Jamaica for the assistance which was forwarded to the state department with the thanks of Great Britain for the aid rendered by the American admiral.

AN ACCUSED MAN TRIES TO SUICIDE

MR. FITE BETTER.

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 18.—Mr. O. C. Fite's condition is better. He has a sprained arm and back and bruises on the head from the effects of blows by a pistol in the hands of a negro. He was robbed of his cash and thrown off the bridge after being knocked unconscious. He is in a hospital now.

Mr. A. C. Fite, C. Jones, and G. M. Fite are attending him, and will return with the patient to Charlotte tomorrow.

In a phone message to Mr. W. J. Fite's brother, Mr. A. C. Fite, stated that the injured man was working at a mattress factory three miles out from Augusta and beyond the river bridge. He was on his way into the city at the end of the day's work and was walking the bridge. He saw a negro at the watchman's office of the bridge. The negro followed him and demanded his money. Mr. Fite started to give up his money, but the negro probably thinking he was going to draw a pistol, struck him on the head and knocked him from the bridge, to the ground 25 feet below. The negro followed him and was in the act of robbing him when the watchman came up and frightened him off.

The watchman missed his pistol, which the negro had stolen in his absence, and he went out to look for it, finding the negro as above stated, in the act of robbing Mr. Fite. He took charge of the injured man, took him to his home and gave him medical attention. Mr. Fite remained unconscious for some time but is getting all right now.

The negro was recognized by the watchman and will likely be captured. Mr. Fite will be brought home tonight, reaching here in the morning.

Tillman's Hot Speech To-day

The Senator From South Carolina Delivers a Second Speech on the Brownsville Affair. Discusses Lynching.

Washington, D. C., January 21.—Senator Ben Tillman addressed the Senate today on Brownsville affair. As a prelude he paid his compliments to the Senators who had spoken on the Brownsville incident, likening Senator Culberson as a solo on the "bones" in praise of Roosevelt, Senator Daniels as "the brilliant and courtly Senator" who speaks in ordinary and who works his rhetoric overtime. "As a middle man we have the pompadour artist from Georgia, whose specialty is to never answer any question and who depends upon his voice to carry conviction to his audience." Continuing he said: "Have I ever advocated lynch law at any time or at any place? I answer on my honor, never. I have justified it for one crime and one only and I have consistently and persistently maintained that attitude for the last fourteen years."

"As the governor of South Carolina I proclaimed that although I had taken the oath of office to support the law and enforce it, I would lead a mob to lynch any man, black or white, who had ravished any woman, black or white."

"Mr. President, the Senator from Wisconsin speaks of 'lynching bees.' As far as lynching for rape is concerned the word is a misnomer. When stern and sad faced white men put to death a creature in human form who has deflowered a white woman there is nothing of a 'bee' about it. There is more of a feeling of participating as a mourner at a funeral. They have avenged the greatest wrong, the blackest crime in all the category of crime. I do not know what the Senator from Wisconsin would do under these circumstances; neither do I care. I have three daughters, but so help me God I had rather find either one of them killed by a tiger or bear and gather up her bones and bury them, conscious that she had died in the purity of her maidenhood, than have her crawl to me and tell me a horrid story that she had lost the jewel of her womanhood, or rather had been robbed of it by a black fiend. The wild beast would only obey the instincts of nature and we would hunt him down and kill him just as soon as possible."

"What shall we do with the man who has out brutted the brute and committed an act which is more cruel than death? Try him, drag the victim into court, for she alone can furnish the legal evidence and make her testify to the fearful ordeal through which she has passed the undergoing of a second crucifixion? Our rule is to make the woman the witness, the prosecutor, the judge and the jury."

BUSINESS BORES NORDICA.

Singer Cannot Recollect Arrangements With the Bandmaster.

New York, Jan. 18.—Miss Lillian Nordica displayed a remarkably poor memory today, when, unwilling and indignant, she was examined in the Supreme Court in the suit of the Strobbridge Lithographing Company to recover $4,300 from Robert E. Johnston and John H. Duss, the bandmaster. The claim is for printing done in connection with the production of "Venice" at Madison Square Garden in 1906.

The singer was attired in a pink coat, black silk dress and white waist. A black picture hat with gray ostrich plumes completed her attire.

Isaac N. Jacobson, counsel for the plaintiffs, examined the singer, but to almost every question she replied, "I don't know" or "I don't remember" in a monotonous tone, tinged with ennui.

The prima donna did not know whether she had had any contract with the bandmaster. Business matters bored her, and she left them to some one—she refused to say who.

As to her tour with Mr. Duss she was very hazy. Even the year had slipped her memory. The last question only roused her from her lethargy. "Do you know of any business relations at all between Johnston and Duss?"

"Absolutely not," she snapped. And her examination ended.
