

Summing Up in Thaw Trial Was Begun This Afternoon. Near End

Fitzgerald Signs his Name to Lunacy Commission Report and Orders Trial to Begin. The End in Sight.

Objection Sustained to Introduction of Dr. Hamilton as Witness. Summing Up of Record-Breaking Case is Begun

New York, April 8.—When the Thaw trial opened it was believed it had at last entered upon its final week.

Eleven weeks have been consumed in the trial, making it the longest in the history of New York's criminal courts.

The family were early in court. Evelyn Thaw wore the familiar blue suit and black sailor hat.

When Justice Fitzgerald signed his name to the report of the lunacy commission and ordered the trial to proceed, Delmas called Dr. Hamilton, whom he wanted to get the opinion Thaw was insane when he shot White, but Fitzgerald sustained the objection of Jerome against his testifying when Delmas said the defense rests.

Having excused the jury until 2, after which time he ordered they be asked up, Fitzgerald asked the attorneys to submit in writing the arguments as to the charge to the jury. Delmas then announced it might take him from two to four hours to sum up.

Jerome objected.

With the opening of the Thaw trial Jerome said he could only ask the court formally not to confirm the report of the commission in lunacy.

Justice Fitzgerald overruled the motion and ordered the trial to proceed.

Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton was called as a witness.

Jerome objected to Hamilton testifying in the surrebuttal, saying it was a re-opening of the entire case. It was sustained. Both sides resting a recess was taken until 2 p. m. when Delmas will begin the summing up.

Jury May Disagree.

With the trial finished save for the summing up, the belief that the jury will disagree is growing among those who have followed the case since its beginning.

Even if they do announce a disagreement Justice Fitzgerald will, without a doubt send them back to the jury room again and keep them there as long as there is the slightest chance of their reaching an agreement.

A disagreement would mean that Thaw would be obliged to remain in the Tombs until his regular turn came again, probably not until late in the fall.

One of the most spectacular moments in the Thaw trial was that in which Attorney Delmas rose to address the jury for the defense for his final plea to the jury, and no stage setting could have been better arranged than were the surroundings in which the Attorney found himself.

Mr. Delmas began by quoting from the statement of Jerome, when he said:

"We have no right to be here trying this man if real facts were known."

Delmas said he would ask for an acquittal on the written law of the State of New York.

Delmas declared White had committed a felony in his assault upon Evelyn Nesbit. He then said:

"In the performance of my task it is, perhaps, not improper for me to say that I shall make no attempt to influence your passions nor attempt to make your sympathies overbalance your judgment. I shall not call on such a flimsy thing as the 'unwritten law.' This defendant finds his justification in written law, in the statutes of this State.

"In the performance of my duty it is my duty to say that I am a CRIMINAL ATTACK.

will be necessary for me to refer to the dead. I will do this with all the respect possible; but there are cases where the memory of the dead must give way to the needs of the living. For those left behind, for the widow who mourns for her son, I have nothing but words of sympathy.

"My story is that of two young people whom fate by inscrutable decree had determined to link together, to be united and to walk through life in company with one another and the story covers only a few years. It is the saddest, most mournful and most tragic story which the tongue of man has ever uttered or the ear of man ever heard."

Delmas then declared that the large sums of money paid by White to Mrs. Nesbit proved that he had ruined her daughter. He denounced Mrs. Nesbit as an unnatural mother, who had given the District Attorney a statement to torture the wounded soul of her daughter.

When Delmas touched upon Harry Thaw's love for Evelyn, one of the jurors was seen to wipe his eyes.

In the Grasp of Despair.

From the Milwaukee Sentinel.

Suicide as a panacea for earthly troubles held to be unbearable has been practiced by man since the dawn of history. There comes a time with many a tired soul, when, battered down again and again by misfortune, the great haunting question, "What is the use?" can not be banished from mind. Ingratitude of relatives or friends, sickness that is felt to be unminutely incurable, poverty and want of all a nature and spirit too constituted by wear to fight the rebuffs of a careless world, all have the way to contemplation of self-destruction. This state of mind comes—as experience shows—to the high and low and rich and poor. The reason of the one is not the reason of the other but a desire for the final rest is the same.

One good hopeful friend and one hopeful talk at the proper moment will pull the despairing one through the dark valley of the sorrow. Without it—the splash at the river or the crash of the bullet.

Says President's Blow Was Worst of All

Denver, Colo., April 5.—A despatch to The News, from Boise, Idaho, contains the statement from William D. Heywood, secretary of the Western Federation of Miners, now in prison there, in connection with the assassination of former Governor Stuenkel, commenting upon certain references to him by President Roosevelt, in letters to Representative Sherman.

The statement says: "The President says I am an 'undesirable citizen,' the inference being that as such, should be put out of the way. His influence is all powerful and his statement, coming at it does on the eve of my trial for life will work me an irreparable injury, and do more to prevent a fair trial than everything that has been said and done against me in the past."

Letter to A. A. Yader.

Hickory, N. C.

Dear Sir: If we sell Devote to paint your town, your road won't have so much freight to handle.

It takes 10 gallons to paint a fair-sized house, and that house won't want painting again for five or ten years. That's true in a way, but people, you know, rather like fresh paint, and they paint for other things that look sometimes.

That house would take 12 or 13 gallons of almost any other paint than Devote, and would be painted again in half the time. Ten years is a very long time for a paint to wear; and five isn't short.

Which makes the most freight, a 10- or 20-gallon paint? 5 to 10 year-paint? But the 10-gallon paint is the 10-year paint; and the 20-gallon paint is the 5-year paint. Which makes the most freight?

Ask your paint dealer which he'd rather sell, and which he could sell most of. Ask your painter which he'd rather paint; whether good or bad paint is good for his business; which is good paint; which pays most freight, and which pays most wages. Which will you buy yourself, the 10-gallon 10-year, or 20-gallon 5-year, paint?

Yours truly

F. W. DEVOTE & CO.

Argument in Noted Harriman Case

Washington, April 5.—Continuing his argument before the Interstate Commerce Commission in support of the legality of Harriman's railroad operations, Attorney John G. Milburn contended that the purchase of the Southern Pacific by the Union Pacific was a legitimate business transaction and not in any way which the Union Pacific was chartered, had prohibited such a purchase, but that in no event could a federal anti-trust law be held applicable.

Partial to Harriman.

Milburn complained of the course of the commission singling out Harriman interests for investigation and said he would be pleased to have an inquiry into the entries subject of community interests.

"It" he said "the politicians would only let the railroad alone for two or three years and let the commission exercise its present powers in calmness, I believe that many of the problems would be worked out and solved properly."

Special attorney C. A. Severance for the government gave his attention to the contention that the Sherman anti-trust law does not cover the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific deal because it was purchased. He said the decisions of the Supreme court afford a sufficient refutation of this contention. He also entered upon argument to show it is not necessary that the roads should be parallel as well as competing in order to render the law applicable.

Milburn contended the main purpose of the purchase had been to gain a through line from Omaha to San Francisco.

N. C. National Guard Will Go to Jamestown

Raleigh, April 5.—Governor Glenn announces the decision to have the North Carolina National Guard at Norfolk for the Jamestown Exposition on August 10 to 19, during the North Carolina week.

The members of the National Guard throughout the State express gratification at the prospect of a Jamestown encampment.

Ed Rayner Will Not be Hanged

Columbia, S. C., April 6.—Governor Ansel today commuted the sentence of Ed Rayner, sentenced to be hung at Gaffney, S. C., on next Friday, to 14 years imprisonment.

Rayner was convicted of having illicit relations with a small negro girl, under age, the girl having died as a result. The action of the Governor was based on the recommendation of the Board of Pardons.

The presentation was made that, while the girl was not quite of age, she was old enough to know what she was doing and that she gave her consent, afterwards concealing her condition until blood-poisoning set in, which ended in her death.

The pardon was granted on the recommendation of the Board of Pardons. Full pardon was today granted to Dr. M. G. Lee, serving a life sentence by Governor Ansel. The crime for which Dr. Lee was convicted was the murder of his father, who was also a doctor and practicing with his son. Both were said to be drunk when the quarrel came up and Dr. Lee shot and killed his father.

The pardon was asked by a large number of prominent citizens. The jury that convicted him recommended mercy. The pardon was based on the recommendations of the Board of Pardons.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a large bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, tree, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Ask New Trial for Green and Goynor

New Orleans, April 5.—A new trial was asked for Greene and Goynor by P. W. Meldrim of Savannah, who made the closing argument for the defendants in their appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Meldrim claimed that it was a violation of the national honor to extradite prisoners, as he said, had been done in the Greene and Goynor case, for an extraditable offense, and then to take advantage of the jurisdiction thus gained to try them on indictments for different offenses.

He repeated the claim of the defense that the extradition had been for a trustee while one of the indictments was for conspiracy which was not an extraditable offense.

As for the two other indictments, he declared the prisoners could not be tried for any offense except that for which they had been extradited.

Answering the Government's claim that the fugitives from justice, Greene and Goynor, could not benefit by the statute limitation in two of their indictments, Meldrim asserted it was legally impossible for the defendants to be fugitives from justice of the Federal court in Georgia when they were at the same time appealing to the justice of the Federal Court of their own homes in New York, which had the jurisdiction to try them.
