

ORCHARD VICTIM OF RIGID CROSS EXAMINATION

Boise, Idaho, June 7.—The cross examination of Harry Orchard, leading witness against William D. Haywood in the trial of the latter for the slaying of J. P. McArthur, began today at 10 o'clock. The witness, who is now in the custody of the sheriff, is being examined by the prosecution.

After a protest from Orchard against the speed of attorney Richardson's questions, which he said cut off his answers, and a wrangle between counsel on the subject, the examination of the witness as to his experiences in the "Cripple Creek" country was resumed.

What Defense Proved. The defense later presented evidence showing that Orchard was not at Wardner the day the Barker-Hill and Sullivan were blown up and then passed on to the trial of Orchard in Utah in 1899, and 1901. The witness owned a lot of land at which he repeatedly lost his earnings.

The defense showed until after he was in Cripple Creek in the autumn of 1902, Orchard had never known Haywood, Foster, Pettibone or Simpkins. The witness confessed he stole ore and powder from the Vindicator mine. The witness testified he heard Moyer and Haywood deliver speeches at Cripple Creek after the strike of 1903 began, protesting against any violence by the union men.

Said Davis Suggested Deed. Attorney Richardson sought to show Orchard had suggested the blowing up of the powder in the Vindicator and while the witness admitted he told W. F. Davis of the existence of powder and that the idea of setting it off had come to him, he swore Davis first suggested the act.

Court Took Recess. Orchard identified William Easterly who at the call of Richardson came from the back of the court room as the man who had aided him in the experiments that led to making the bomb finally used in the Vindicator. The court took a recess at noon with Orchard on the stand.

Boise, Idaho, June 7.—Harry Orchard took the stand this morning for the third day of the examination as the principal witness against Haywood, the secretary and treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, charged with the murder of former Governor Frank Steiensenberg.

The cross-examination commenced yesterday afternoon and will probably take up the entire day, and may be carried over until the court adjourns tomorrow.

Receives Warning Letters. Kansas City, June 7.—Former Governor Peabody of Colorado, says that since the Haywood trial in Boise he has received several anonymous letters threatening his life, but that he pays no attention to them because the letters were evidently not from responsible sources.

There is no case of indigestion, no matter how irritable or how obstinate that will not be speedily relieved by the use of Kodol. The main factor in curing the stomach of any disorder is rest, and the only way to get rest is to actually digest the food for the stomach itself. Kodol will do it. It is a scientific preparation of vegetable acids containing the very same juices found in a healthy stomach. It conforms to the Pure Food and Drugs Law. Sold by C. M. Shuford and W. S. Martin.

Badly Mixed Up. Abraham Brown, of Winterton, N. Y., had a very remarkable experience; he says: "Doctors got badly mixed up over me; one said heart disease; the fourth, called it kidney trouble; the fourth, blood poison; and the fifth stomach and liver trouble; but none of them helped me; so my wife advised trying Electric Bitters, which are restoring me to perfect health. All are important, and I would not attempt to fix their relative positions. They all involve the same principles, and that is whether the interests of the many shall be subordinated to the few, and each will deserve the most careful attention from the next Democratic convention."

Mr. Bryan again expressed a hopeful view concerning the Democratic outlook, basing it on the facts that the Republicans are divided and the Democratic policies are becoming better understood.
