"I was a total wreck," writes Mrs. Beulah Rowley, of Champoeg, Oregon, "from pains I had suffered, for 4 years, every month. Sometimes I would be unconscious for 12 hours at a stretch. I did not know that anything could stop the pain entirely, but Wine of Cardui did. I advise all women suffering with painful periods to use Cardui and be relieved."

Union, S. C., Aug. 10.-At 12:30 Judge Prince sentenced James W. Gillman, former mayor of Jonesville who killed S. M. Gilmore, a prominent farmer, to 15 years in the penitentiary at hard labor. Judge Prince sent them back and told them that they must agree on a verdict if possible.

At 11:30 the jury returned and an nounced the verdict of "manslaughter." The lawyers for the defense held a short consultation as to deciding whether they wanted Mr. Gillman to be sentenced now or not.

They said the verdict was a sur prise to them and Gillman's demeanor showed that it was a surprise to him. The attorneys requested that the sentence be made as light as possible. Judge Prince then ordered Mr. Gillman to stand up and receive sentence. Before naming what the punishment should be, he gave him quite a talk in which he recounted the principal facts of the case, and said that he would not have been surprised if the verdict had been murder, or murder with a recommendation for mercy, and said that he did not feel that he would be doing his duty to impose as light a sentence as Gillman's atorneys evidently wished, but that he must give him the maximum of 15 years.

On hearing these words cold perspi ration broke out on Gillman's brow and as he wiped it off he grew faint, tottered and fell and was thought to be dying.

This caused considerable excitement among the female members of the family.

He was then taken to the judge's room and given medical attention and after reviving received the sentence sitting. On commenting on the ver-Mt. Airy, N.
