Charlotte, Feb. 10.-With but a moment in which to speak, Mr. J. G. Hood was shot yesterday morning in front of the Central hotel by Mr. Will S. Biggers, former business associate.

Biggers fired four shots three of which took effect. After the first shot which took effect in Hood's forehead, the victim threw up his hands and exclaimed: "For God's sake, don't do that." Unheeding the plea Biggers fired another shot which entered the victim's face. Hood then pitched forward in his own blood. Biggers then bent forward and fired another shot into the back of his victim's head.

Hood was at once carried to the Charlotte Sanitorium where he died fifty minutes after the shooting.

Mr. Hood was nnarmed and was taken entirely off his guard. Biggers was at once arrested without resisting and was carried to the cell where he raved like a maniac.

The trouble grew out of former business relations between Hood and Biggers.

The two men were at one time engaged in mercantile business together and Biggers claims that Hood caused him to lose something like $3.000.
