The First Event Was a Marriage

New German Reformed Church

The most brilliant wedding ever held in this section was that last night of Miss Esther Shuford, the sweet and gifted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Shuford, to Mr. Bascom B. Blackwelder, an able young business man whom this city has given to the West. The Book of Books opens with the God-performed ceremony in Eden

In Memory of Mr. Tilley The Hickory Retail Merchants Association at its October meeting passed resolutions in sub stance as follows: Wheras, Mr. J. W. Tilley, an active charter member of this association, has been claimed by the Angel of Death, and whereas, Mr. Tilley had by his honesty, frankness, and cheerfulness won the friendship of all its members, it is hereby resolved: That by the death of Mr. J. W. Tilley this association has lost one of its most valuable members and each one of its members, a friend.

That the sympathy of this association be extended to Mrs. J. W. Tilley and her children.

That these resolutions be de livered to Mrs. J. W. Tilley and a copy spread upon the minuites.

A Good Day for Lenoir College Committee Consolidation ADpointed by Tennessee Synod

The 90 th session of Tennessee Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church was in session in Lincolnton last week, and transact-ed much business in which others than Lutherans will be interested in Hickory. The sessions were of a most harmonious character, not a single acrimonious word being heard. The Synod had 98 representatives present from the states of North Carolna, South Carolina and Virginia. The one absorbing theme of this convention was to more firmly plant and enlarge Lenoir College. In fact, this meeting may rightly be called an educational convention. The addresses of President Fritz, Rev. Prof. M. L. Stirewalt and Pastor C. L. Miller were most heartily received and their sentiments most heartily endorsed. These addresses were followed by the reports of the Chairman of the Board of Trusof the South will rejoice. tees, and then by the Committee The Treasurer's report showed on Lenoir College.
