FINE SATEENS

Ivey Mill Has Great Demand for Its Goods

Correspondence of The Democrat.
West Hickory, October, 18.—The Graded School of West Hickory started last Monday morning, October 10. There were 90 scholars present the first morning and the number is still increasing.

The protracted meeting at the new Wesleyan Methodist church here closed last Tuesday night. S. C. Parker has sold his house and lot which he had bought from G. T. Barger to W. E. Goodson.

A number of young people went to the tent meeting near the railroad trestle Saturday night. They report a large crowd present.

Miss Goldie Teague, who has been sick with fever for several weeks is getting better.

J. W. Bradley, has been on the sick list for several days but is now able to walk about.

G. F. Ivey has sent several bales of cloth, woven at the Ivey mill, to the Bleachery, and finished up and shipped back here. He has some white and colored sateen that is certainly fine goods and are ready sale. We sold 500 yards of the goods in one day.

LENOIR COLLEGE FACULTY RECITAL

Monday Evening, October 24th at 8 o'clock

The following programme of a Faculty Recital to be given next Monday evening, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock in the college auditorium, offers to the people of Hickory and community the opportunity of a rare entertainment by the specialists of Lenoir College, entirely free of charge. The entertainment will consist of instrumental music or violin and piano, and vocal entertainment by readings and song. Four of these performers are not strangers to Hickory audiences—Misses Hallman, De Wala Rudisill and Mrs. Dr. Fisher, but the fifth, Miss Stecher appears her first time before a Hickory audience. Those who have heard her, are very certain that the recital will be very much heightened in its entertaining quality by her assistance. The recital is free and the Faculty hopes to see the friends of College present to enjoy this entertainment. Remember, the recital will begin promptly on time.

Presbyterian Church Notes

The Sunday School Chorus will sing a special number next Sunday at the closing exercises of the school. They meet to practice Friday night at 8 o'clock and Sunday at 4 P. M. The chorus will sing at the Missionary prayer meeting next Wednesday night.

The pastor will preach at both services next Sunday. Covenanters have their first debate next Friday at 7 P. M. Refreshments.

The Synod meets at Rocky Mount next week Tuesday. Rev. J. G. Garth will probably leave on Monday to attend and will visit his old charge at New Bern, where he will preach in Oct. 30.

Next Wednesday is Missionary prayer meeting. A number of speakers will take part in a General survey of mission fields, giving facts and figures.

Don't forget to register if you want to vote on Nov. 8.

Fine Cattle for Catawba Farms

The Democrat briefly referred last week to the importation into this county by several of our progressive farmers of 13 head of thorough-bred Jerseys. This is an event worthy of further mention.

These cows and calves, for there were a few calves, came from the farm of Mr. Robt. Scott, of Alamance. The sire of his bull and the grandsire of these cows was Eminent II, of the Bowman farm near Salem, Va. This bull was imported and is valued at $10,000, so it will be seen what thoroughbred stock is being brought into Catawba county.

The Dutch Dairy Farm gets eight, the White-Oak Dairy farm three and Mr. P. G. Herman two of these Jerseys.

A couple of greese were thrown in by Mr. Scott as a present to the Catawba County Street Fair.

Death of Mrs. C. L. Whitener

On last Sunday morning just as the Church bells were ringing, Ora Cornelia, wife of Attorney C. L. Whitener, after a very protracted illness most patiently endured, passed from the trials of earth to the peace and joy of heaven. She leaves a husband and two little boys, a father, mother, three brothers and two sisters, and a host of relatives and friends, who while profoundly grieved over the death of one so warmly loved and esteemed, yet sorrow not as those who have no hope. For in the life of faith and love and patience that she lived here, are found such evidences as lead to the confident hope that she has entered into that rest that remaineth for the people of God.

The funeral services were held by her pastor in Holy Trinity Lutheran Church on Monday at 3 P. M. A large concourse of kindred and friends attended these services, testifying thereby to the unfeigned affection and esteem in which she was held.

"Brief life is here our portion; Brief sorrow, short-lived care; The Life that knows no ending, The tearless Life is there."

General News

U. S. Senator J. P. Dolliver, the great insurgent leader, died suddenly at his home in Dodge, Ia., Oct. 15. A doctor was listening to his heart-beats when death came.

Walter Wellman, a crew of six and a kitten went up in a dirigible balloon Saturday to cross the Atlantic. Northeast of the Massachusetts coast they came down after asking the steamship Trent by wireless to pick them up. The sea was rough but all were saved, even the kitty.

The worst storm in years is raging on the Florida coast. Millions of dollars damage was done and some lives lost. Miami has not been heard from for several days.

College Entertainment

The first of the Monday Evening Concerts at Claremont Monday evening was greeted by a packed house. Sig. S. D'Anna was at his best, and his rendition of "The Mad Dog" from Lehman was the hit of the evening. Other features were Mrs. J. H. Shuford's songs and Miss Warren's recitations. Misses Gladys Reid, Constance Post, Adelaide Johnston and Grace Patrick rendered piano solos and acquitted themselves handsomely.

Entertainment at Claremont College

The first of "The Monday Evening Entertainments" at Claremont College will be given next Monday night, October 17. These entertainments have been enjoyed greatly in the past and the one next Monday night will be up to the Standard set by other entertainments.

Miss Warren, teacher of Expression, will appear on the programme several times and every one is anxious to hear her.

This series consist of five entertainments. A nominal price to fifty cents is charged for the five, or fifteen cent for a single admission. Remember next Monday night.

Francis Yoder

Francis Yoder has been nominated by the Democratic party for the office of county commissioner of Catawba county.

He is a son of Geo. Yoder, who is a son of Michael Yoder, who is a son of John Yoder, who is a son of Pioneer Conrad Yoder. Mr. Francis Yoder belongs to an esteemed family of Catawba county. The Yoder family are known for industry, economy, morality and religion. They are fond of paying their debts and sell more than they buy. They are fond of agricultural life. Their homes are supplied with all the comforts of life. Mr. Francis Yoder has inherited many of the qualities of his ancestors. He is diligent in all lines of business that come under his control and is loyal to the Lutheran church, is a good citizen and a kind neighbor. He always takes the right side of moral and educational issues.

If elected he will make a good county officer. J. H. SHUFORD.

Mr. Boatright Opens Grocery Store

Mr. W. L. Boatright, late of West Hickory, has opened a new general merchandise store in Hickory in the old Moretz-Whitener Clothing Co. store, one door north of the Shuford Hardware Co. Mr. Boatright has had 15 years experience in merchandising, and invites the people of this city and section to call and see his fine new stock of goods. He will purchase country produce.

Mr. W. W. Williams has been busy this week putting in new shelves and the store has been nicely fitted up.

The Democrat but voices the people of this city and county in welcoming Mr. Boatright and in wishing him the greatest success.

The Natural Home of the Chestnut Telephone Pole

GOOD CITIZENS THERE

Mountain Folks Want Make Any Rash Promises but they Deliver the Goods

—An Old Loom

The South Mountains are the natural home of the chestnut telephone pole.

Over to Mr. J. P. Lowman's sped Mr. N. S. Dasher, of the Hickory Electric Co. in his dandy little hill-climbing Maxwell automobile. The editor of the Democrat went along for company.

"Jim," said Mr. Dasher, to Mr. Lowman, "I'm just bound to have these telephone poles, 35 feet long, by the first of November."

"I'll get them out as soon as I can," replied Mr. Lowman. "But I'm building a line to the new cotton mill in Hickory, the A. A. Shuford Mill, and I have got to have these poles right away."

"I'll get 'em out as soon as I can," replied Mr. Lowman with dogged non-committal. "I've got my corn to get in and a good many other things to do."

"Well, I'll give you a little better price if you will have them at Hickory by Nov. 1."

"I tell you I'll get 'em out for just as soon as I can."

You can't make a mountaineer promise to do more than he thinks he can do. And yet Mr. Dasher knows good and well that while Mr. Lowman would not be positive he will have his big mules and mountain boys hauling those poles into Hickory by the first day of next month.

Mr. Lowman runs a little country store at the foot of the South mountains some miles from Connelly Springs. At the same he farms and does some business in timber, and is a man of influence in the community. On the way back home we met Mr. D. S. Lail, a gigantic mountaineer and one of the most intelligent farmers we have run across. He showed his intelligence when he said:

"The Progressive Farmer is the best farm paper I ever read." Mr. Lail is thinking of exhibiting some stock at the Hickory Fair. He has a Jersey cow which is a wonderful milker, and is giving over 2 1-2 gallons of milk a day.

Mr. Lail's brother, a hard-working one-armed man, was at work in his field, where several of his sons were plowing. He has a beautiful farm with a comfortable farm house. In one of the out houses we saw an old-time loom, on which many a yard of linsey has been made in time past but which has not been used now in ten years. It put Dasher in mind of old times, as he used to make carpets on one just like it in his old home in West Virginia.

Another leading citizen in this section is Mr. W. A. Hildebrand. Though the snow which never melts is settling thickly upon his head, he is still a hard worker, and he and his sturdy young son were met by the side of the road, getting in corn. Mr. Hildebrand is a great reader, and takes all kinds of papers and magazines.

Mr. Kiser was still another good citizen met up with in that section, which is one of the most picturesque in Western North Carolina.

He hid up the Chimney

Charles Hand, of Alexander county, was arrested a few days ago at the home of Mr. Teague in Alexander county. The warrant against him was for fighting. The man had taken refuge at the Eagle home. Deputy Sheriffs Duncan and Stafford went to the house at night and found the man's clothes there, indicating that he had been sleeping in the house. He was finally located up the chimney.

Reaching the Top

In any calling of life, demands a vigorous body and a keen brain. Without health there is no success. But Electric Bitters is the greatest Health Builder the world has ever known. It compels perfect action of the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, purifies and enriches the blood, tones and invigorates the whole system and enables you to stand the wear and tear of your daily work. "After months of suffering from Kidney Trouble," writes W. M. Sherman, of Cushing, Me., "three bottles of Electric Bitters made me feel like a new man." 50c. at C. M.
