CUPID IN HICKORY,

Wedding Bells That Have Rung or Are Still Ringing.

In Corinth Reformed church Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock, Miss Rose Campbell Shuford was married to Mr. Hugh D'Anna. Owing to the recent death of the bride's father, Mr. A. A. Shuford, the ceremony was very simple and was witnessed only by a few near relatives and friends.

Although the wedding was of this quiet nature, no two young people of this city have ever linked their lives, followed by more good wishes for their life long welfare. They are two of the most popular leaders of Hickory society and the number of their friends is limited only by the circle of their acquaintance.

The bride was educated at Claremont and Converse colleges and finished her musical training at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. She is the organist at the Reformed church, and both she and the groom, who has a fine voice, have been lavishly generous in lending their gifts to entertainment in society and to worship in church. Miss Shuford is as graceful and charming as she is handsome.

The groom is a son of Sig. S. D'Anna, the brilliant teacher of music. He finished his education at the Kentucky State University. After work as a civil engineer for the Chesapeake & Ohio, on a line which will eventually run into the C. C. & O., he formed a connection with the DuPont Powder Co. at Gibbstownville, N. J. From there he came to the Hickory Banking and Trust Co. as assistant cashier, and after valuable service there became recently the efficient manager of the Hickory Hosiery Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. D'Anna left on No. 16 for a northern trip and will return about September 15.

Henderson-Elliott Wedding Announced.

Last Thursday morning Mrs. C. M. Sherrill entertained with a reception at her mother's home, Mrs. J. D. Elliott, on Fifteenth Street, when Miss Blanche Bailey, of Winston-Salem, was the guest of honor. Miss Mattie Abernethy won the prize in the games, and a guest prize was given to Miss Bailey. After this the guests were invited into the dining-room, beautifully decorated in white and yellow. Place cards bore cunning little Cupids on rings, and perched on the glasses at each place were little yellow birds in whose mouths were held cards which contained this interesting message: "Hazel Elliott and Frank Henderson, October, 1912."

This announcement formed the absorbing topic of conversation while an elaborate luncheon in three courses was served.

The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Elliott, and is one of Hickory's loveliest girls, sweet and attractive.

The groom-to-be is a son of Mrs. Claudia Henderson, and is a promising young business man. Both are prominent and popular in social circles. The wedding in October will be looked forward to with much interest.

Those present were: Misses Blanche Bailey, of Winston-Salem; Margaret McComb, Annie Link, Mattie Abernethy, Louise Allen, Claire Sellers, Catherine Gwaltney, Margaret Bost and Lenore Sourbeer besides Mrs. Sherrill.

Hatch-Hall.

In a lovely ceremony Miss Lillian Hall was married to Mr. James M. Hatch, at 7:30 o'clock last evening at the home of her brother, Mr. George W. Hall.

The event took place in one of the parlors in Mr. Hall's elegant home, the contracting parties standing in front of two white columns illuminated with a spiral wind of electric bulbs, intertwined with ivy and ferns. Little Miss Elizabeth Hall, the bride's niece was flower girl and came down the stairs where she was met at the parlor door by Master Bill Rose, the bride's nephew, and arm-in-arm they proceeded to the altar. Mrs. T. M. Rose, of Hamlet, sister of the bride, was dame of honor. The bride herself came in on the arm of her brother, Mr. Geo. W. Hall, while the groom entered with his best man, Mr. David Easterling, of McCol. Rev. J. G. Garth, of the Presbyterian church, said the solemn words which made the two man and wife.

The bride never looked sweeter than in a costume of white satin trimmed in thread lace and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of Bride's roses showered with lilies of the valley. She is a daughter of the late Philo Hall, and has spent much of her life in Hickory.

The groom is manager of several cotton mills at McCol, S. C., and is a fine young business man.

A reception followed the marriage. The house was prettily decorated in flowers and greens. Mrs. K. C. Menzies and Mrs. Strachan, of Salisbury, presided at the punch bowl, which was most artistic in little festoons of clusters of grapes. In the dining room refreshments were served by Misses Ingold, Wood, Margaret McComb, Rosalie Dixon and Mary Munroe. The house was thronged with friends who came to partake of the lavish and brilliant hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Hall. Among those from out of town were Col. and Mrs. J. G. Hall, uncle and aunt of the bride, and their daughter, Miss Fries Hall, of Lenoir; Mrs. Scales, Mr. and Mrs. Rose, of Hamlet, the latter a sister of the bride; Mrs. Ramsay, of Salisbury, and Mrs. and Miss Crane, of Atlanta.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatch left on No. 16 for Washington, New York and Atlantic City.

How to Be Plump

Most people constantly suffer from loss of appetite, especially for breakfast, an unpleasant taste in the mouth, low spirits; irritability, with a heavy, dull headache, biliousness, sick headache, blotches on the skin, lack of energy and a feeling of weariness, all of which are due to constipation. Constipation is the forerunner of indigestion, sluggish liver and nervousness, and it is of the utmost importance that the bowels should be gently regulated by a reliable aperient. Dr. King's Blood and Liver Pills meet this want, 25c. at store of all medicine dealers.

A Typographical Error

To the Editor of the Democrat.

If typographers could only realize how the occasional contributor sometimes suffers in their hands, they would perhaps be more careful. Many an occasional contributor would contribute more frequently if it were not for the unpleasant plight of so many typographical errors. Such errors in the latter part of my little article last week made it meaningless. It should have read as follows:

"There is a great gulf fixed that they that would pass from hither to yonder cannot, and they that would come from yonder here cannot do so. This gulf has separated Dives from Lazarus."

The great need of today is the closer union between the country and town, and just such straining of the joints is what is widening the ties between the country and town.
