Go Home Colonel. (continued from first page)

these same negro delegates when you needed them to run your particular machine.

Certainly, the Southern people know that never since the days of Reconstruction was there a Republican president who antagonized their sentiment in this regard so flagrantly as you.

You doggedly retained the negro Crum as collector of the port at Charleston over the protests and appeals of the white citizenship of that community.

In utter disregard of not only the feelings of the South, but also the decencies of your office, you dined Booker Washington at the White House, receiving him on the most intimate terms of social as well as political equality.

You closed the postoffice at Indianola, Miss, and told the people there that if they would not accept your negro postmaster, they should be deprived of the mail service.

And only a few months ago, did you not stand before a gathering of national note and, with your arms around two negro politicians from the North, proclaim them "the equal of every white man within the sound of your voice."

Go home, Colonel! Go home and apologize as best you can to the colored brethren whom you consider your "equals" in the North; but as for the South, what you have done speaks so loudly that we cannot hear what you say.

Republican policies have never been popular in this section but, if it came to a choice between yours and Mr. Taft's we should infinitely prefer the latter; for, he has shown himself at least sincere and has proved himself an honorable partisan in appointing federal officeholders he has been most considerate of our people's interest, while you, Colonel, were seemingly bent upon Africanizing the South Atlantic coast.

The truth is that on all essential matters of government your policies and the South's convictions, your purposes and the South's interests are radically opposed.

You stand for a perpetuation of the high protective tariff.

We believe with Woodrow Wilson that there should be tariff revision, "steadily and unhesitatingly downward."

You are urging, as you have ever done, a centralization of federal power at the sacrifice of State rights.

We believe in preserving the integrity of the States in order that this republic may endure and its people be free.

You stand for a government by rulers in place of laws and you consider yourself the "indispensable man."

The South believes in constitutional government and its Democratic blood rebels at the idea of the dictatorship you would establish.

We might condone, though never accept, your reactionary views on the tariff, as due to your intimacy with the trusts and your dependence on Special Interests for campaign contributions. We might palliate your greed for federal power and your reason to the third-term precedent as the out-breaks of a fiery ambition but the South cannot overlook the Pecksniffian hypocrisy with which you are now seeking to cozen its votes.

We judge you by what you have done rather than by what you profess.

Your promises, as your record proves, are but weathercocks that shift with every wind of expediency.

Just as you clamor for the negro's suppression when you are South and for his equality when you are North, so on every other issue, you are the lightning-change mountebank of the time.

By turns, you wear the lion's and the ass's skin. In one breath you clamor for industrial justice and in the next you propose to legalize monopoly.

You denounce the "houses" one moment and the next take them to your bosom.

You preach pure politics while your own hands are dripping with campaign fat from the Interests.

In truth, you stand at Armageddon and you battle for the trusts.

Go home, Colonel! The South is hospitable but it isn't so gullible as you seem to think.

It isn't yet ready to sell its Democratic birthright for your mess of political vagaries.

Its people are marching in loyal phalanx behind a leader who has sprung from their own soil, marching with clear eyes and true hearts to certain victory. Don't delude yourself by thinking they will desert such a cause and such an opportunity for the tin horns and stale ballyhoos of your charlatan show.

What do you think of the mayoralty race?

A late fall is promised us; and yet we were under the impression that officially fall had already arrived.

Catawba College Notes.

Newton, Oct. 9.—Mrs. Vena Little Gode has been engaged by the college assistant music teacher for this year.

Saturday and Sunday Prof. J. F. Buchheit attended the "Church Workers' Convention" at St. Luke's church near Granite Quarry. While there he delivered an address entitled "Education, the Handmaiden of the Church". Last Wednesday Miss Fillingim organized the choral class of twenty-five members.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. M. J. Solor, now of the Morrison Hotel in Chicago, formerly a student at Catawba, was a visitor on the campus.

Among the new students enrolled this last week have been Messrs. Debrille and Paul Allard from Granite Falls and Mr. John C. Peeler from Conover.

The executive committee of the board of trustees met Monday afternoon and elected Mr. J. B. Leonard, formerly professor of Latin in the college, to succeed Mr. M. J. Rowe, who has resigned.

Rev. W. W. Rowe addressed the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. last Sunday afternoon, his subject being "The Tabernacle of the Jews". In this same connection it might be said that there are this year in the college eleven ministerial students. Mr. John C. Peeler is now supplying the pulpit of the Reformed church at Conover.

WOMEN SHOULD BE PROTECTED

Against So Many Surgical Operations. How Mrs. Bethune and Mrs. Moore Escaped.

Sikeston, Mo.—"For seven years I suffered everything."

I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it: Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl."—Mrs. DEMA BETHUNE, Sikeston, Mo.

Murrayville, Ill.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a very bad case of female trouble and it made me a well woman. My health was all broken down, the doctors said I must have an operation, and I was ready to go to the hospital, but I read that I began taking your Compound. I got along so well that I gave up the doctors and was saved from the operation."—Mrs. CHARLES MOORE, R. R. No. 3, Murrayville, Ill.

The World in Baltimore.

On Oct. 26, a foreign mission exhibit will be opened in Baltimore, to run thirty two days.

This exhibit will present every foreign country where foreign mission work is being done. The customs of the people will be illustrated, their pleasures, conditions of social life, the progress of the gospel among them, etc. Over 5000 people will be engaged in the different representations. A number of dramas will be presented, setting for the certain events.

It will be worth a great deal to any one, and especially a church worker to see this exhibit. It will cost $100,000. An admission fee will be charged for the purpose of defraying the expenses in part though much has already been raised by popular subscription.
