THE DEATH OF MR. ELI D. RAMSEUR

Another Brave Veteran Crosses the River to his Final Rest.

FOUGHT UNDER GEN. EARLY

Born in Lincoln County in 1847, He

Entered the Army When a Boy

Captured and Imprisoned—Married Miss

Laura Shuford—

Buried at

Daniels

Mr. Eli D. Ramsey died at his home in this city on last Thursday Jan 23rd of pella.

The dread malady gradually encroached upon his strength through a period of more than a year of illness.

He was most patient throughout the last most trying days and stated to his brother-in-law, Rev. J. H. Shuford that he was ready to live or depart according to God's will.

As it was his earnest desire that he be buried by the side of his departed loved ones, the body was taken to Daniels Reformed Church in Lincoln County where Wm. McNairy, of Lincolnton preached the funeral, and the interment was beside the graves of his grown son, Earl, and daughter Maud, and an infant child; and also his parents and grand parents. Rev. J. H. Shuford has prepared the following account of Mr. Ramsey's life:

Mr. Eli D. Ramsey was born on March 4, 1847, and was the son of George Ramsey and Eliza Warlick Ramsey, the latter the daughter of Solomon Warlick, of Catawba county. His first saw the light of day two miles west of Lincoln on the waters of the South Fork on the Morganton road.

At 17 years of age Ramsey was a member of Co. B., Capt. George Seagle, Twenty-Third Regiment, N. C. Troops. He fought bravely in many battles. At Cedar Creek he saw his distinguished cousin, Major General Dodd Ramsey riding out to the front, before his untimely death. The body was sent to Winchester, Va., embalmed and returned to Lincoln by order of Gen. Shea, who, Mr. Eli Ramsey thought, was a college mate of Ramsey at West Point. Mr. Eli Ramsey was wounded and captured at the battle of Winchester in 1864, and was allowed to see the body of his kinsman before it was sent home. At the time of his capture Mr. Eli Ramsey was fighting under Early. He was taken first to Point Lookout and then to Ft. McHenry where he remained till the end of the war.

After the war he took up farming in the old home place near Lincolnton, on lands settled by his pioneer ancestor, Derrick Ramsey, (1750-1770). Six years ago he removed to Hickory.

On Aug. 25, 1875 he was happily married to Laura Shuford at the old homestead of Jacob H. Shuford, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. H. Shuford. His wife and three children survive. The children are Middlecoff and Guy, of Hickory, and Mrs. Brent Ramsey Childers, of Illinois, who paid a visit to her father shortly before his death.

Brothers of the deceased were: Martin R. Ramsey, killed at Gettysburg; Middlecoff Ramsey, Confederate soldier who died at Yorktown, Va.; Pink Ramsey, Confederate soldier, now living in Lincoln county; and sisters, Lou, who married Daniel Hoover, recently deceased at Concord, N. C.; and Laura, who married Hugh Blair, at present the able editor of the Christian Advocate of Greensboro.

Mr. Ramsey was a devout Christian, a lifelong member of the Reformed Church, upright in his dealings with his fellowmen, a good citizen and well liked by his neighbors. To his grave he wore honorably and unsmirched the splendid name of Ramsey.

INTERPRETS THE MUSIC

How the Blind Pianist, Edward Baxter Perry, Learns His Music.

On the evening of February 4, at 8 P. M., Mr. Edward Baxter Perry, the blind pianist, will appear at the Hub Theatre. That Hickory is to have the privilege of hearing this world famous musician is due to the efforts of Miss Halman, the able teacher of instrumental music at Lenoir College.

W. H. Miller, of the Ottawa Free Trader, casually remarked to a friend, "I see you are to have Edward Baxter Perry here; now there is one fellow that can interest me with a piano." Asked what he meant by that sort of a commendation, the Ottawa newspaper man continued:

"Perry has been in Ottawa several times under the auspices of the famous Amateur Musical Club. I am short on musical education, also short on musical appreciation, when it comes to what they call classical music. That's why the average great pianist fails to get me. How can you warm up to a performance when you don't know what the performer is aiming at?"

"But Perry diagrams his stuff so that a wayfaring man, though a fool—musically speaking—can tell what it is all about. His talks preceding each number are mighty clever things. He can tell what the composer was striving at, and tells you just how he gets the effect he is after."

"And that is why Perry made good with me. From his talk I knew what he was trying to do, and even with my defective musical ear I could understand he really was doing the thing he said he was going to do. Not one, but he musical sharp or ragtime fiend, can listen to one of this man's Lieder-Recitals without coming away with a good working idea of what really high-grade music is."

Mr. Perry does not play by ear, as is the case with most sightless performers, and which is the reason of their errors and inaccuracies. From the first technical exercises and studies, all music has been read aloud to him note by note, and committed to memory. When wishing to learn a new composition, Mr. Perry sits at the piano and his reader takes the music, beginning with the right hand, and reading the names and time of the notes, just as they stand upon the paper; as for instance: D eighth, C sharp eighth, D half, chord of EG quarter, chord of BC natural G dotted half, etc. This is continued for two or three staves. Mr. Perry playing the notes in their proper time as they are read, and retaining them by a prodigious effort of memory. This passage is then conquered and becomes permanent possession, and the entire piece proceeds in the same manner. Such is Mr. Perry's facility at memorizing music in this way, acquired by constant practice since childhood, that he takes everything, even the most difficult and intricate of his concert solos, at a first hearing, and has never yet been criticised for the false rendering of a single passage. Blind students should never be allowed to form the habit of playing by ear, as however gifted in this line, their performances, like those of blind Tom, will be full of errors and omissions, and cannot compare with those of other pianists, or even of ordinary pupils, in accuracy and fidelity to the text.

OPPOSE SUNDAY LEGISLATION

Seventh Day Adventists at Bakers Mountain Draw up Resolutions.

The meeting at the local Seventh Day Adventist church at Baker's Mountain resolved itself into what might be termed a mass meeting, when resolutions were passed remonstrating against proposed Sunday legislation now before the United States Senate in Congress in Washington, D. C. The resolutions were brought before the congregation, by M. H. Johnston, Elder of the church, and were passed unanimously. They read as follows:

Whereas, the Johnston Sunday Bill, now pending in the Senate of the United States, is religious in its character, in that it is designed to foster the religious observance of Sunday, and

Whereas, the exemption clause attached to one of the sections of this bill indicates most clearly its religious character, by exempting from the application of this section those who belong to a religious society which observes some other day of the week than Sunday as a Sabbath, and

Whereas, religious legislation is contrary both to the spirit and letter of the constitution of the United States, and if carried to its logical conclusion means a union of church and State, and the persecution of dissenters; therefore,

Resolved, that we respectfully but earnestly remonstrate against the passage of this bill, or any other bill requiring the observance of Sunday as rest day which may come before the Senate.

Similar resolutions were passed in every one of the 2000 Seventh Day Adventist churches in the United States, thus showing that about 70,000 members in this denomination alone are strongly opposed to any kind of Sunday legislation alone are strongly opposed to any kind of Sunday legislation.

Elder Johnston said the Seventh Day Adventists are so vigorously opposed to the Johnston Sunday bill in Congress is because the passage of it would be the first step towards the union of church and state, which would ultimately bring persecution upon dissenters. It was stated that not only are Seventh Day Adventists opposed to Sunday legislation, but also thousands of others who love religious liberty.

In giving further reasons why his denomination is opposed to Sunday legislation, Elder Johnston said:

"Our denomination has always stood for the entire separation of church and State, and has earnestly opposed all attempts at religious legislation. Sunday laws we believe to be religious laws; therefore we are uncompromisingly opposed to all legislation in behalf of Sunday observance. Sunday is a religious institution; its observance is a religious law, therefore we believe it should not exist in this country. We would be uncompromisingly opposed to any legislation for enforcement of the seventh day of the week. The Sabbath is a religious institution, and its observance is a religious act, and from our standpoint it would be entirely wrong for the State to attempt any legislation for the observance of the seventh day of the week. The same may be said, regarding baptism, prayer, or anything else pertaining to religion. We believe that Christ, the founder of the Church taught the complete separation of the Church from the state, and this, we believe, should be the attitude of every professed follower of Him.

"Now, as to our attitude regarding a law to close the saloons on Sunday: It is well known by all who know anything about Adventists that they are uncompromisingly opposed to the saloon on all days of the week. We believe that they are a menace to the welfare of the State, and that they should not be permitted to carry on their destructive work; therefore we join in every movement to secure laws for closing the saloons entirely."

COMMENT

WELCOME, SOUTHERN POWER

The Democrat wishes to welcome the Southern Power Co. to Hickory. One of its subsidiary concerns has taken over the electric light plant. This action, following the news that the Southern Power was to develop 16,000 H. P. at Lookout Shoals with a $1,000,000 plant, shows that this company has faith in the future of Hickory. It has done big things for Charlotte and other places where it has established itself. It never goes to a dead place. We presume that its coming to this city means that we have the best chance to get the headquarters for the construction work at Lookout Shoals and that the Catawba side of the river will get the power house. Dr. W. Gill Wiley, president of the Southern Power Co., and Mr. W. S. Lee, its chief engineer and general manager, are men of wide vision and tremendous energy, and have gathered men about them who have caught their own spirit. Hickory is rejoicing to have the touch of these men upon its industrial life. Col. Thornton says that a city sooner or later grows to 5 times in thousands and the thousands of horsepower she has at her doors. If there is 16 thousand at Lookout and 9 thousand at Horseford shoals, then Hickory will after awhile grow to 16 plus 9 times 5 or 125,000 people, so that Charlotte and Asheville had better look out—look out shoals or anything else that has vitality in it.

NOT A SELF-CONSTITUTED COMMITTEE

One of the greatest institutions for the up-building of Hickory is the Chamber of Commerce. For three years past it has brought industries and men here and has widely advertised our city. We do not believe the Chamber of Commerce has ever done anything without enthusiastic confidence and belief that it was for the best interests of Hickory. We are sorry, therefore, that in the petitions which have been circulated asking for the recall of the new charter, it is asserted that the charter has been prepared by a "Self-Constituted" Committee. We are confident that many did not realize when they signed the serious import of this word. The Democrat does not believe this charge is just. Indeed a committee appointed by a representative body like the Chamber of Commerce could not be termed "self-constituted." The Democrat has been at pains to inquire as to the history of the preparation of the charter and finds the following to be the facts:

The Chamber took up the work of preparing a new charter in 1911, and a committee was appointed to draft a new charter. On account of lack of time to prepare a charter for consideration by the General Assembly of 1911, the matter was suspended until the next General Assembly. However, interest in the movement continued; a mass meeting of citizens at Huffman's Hall was practically unanimous in favor of a "Government by Commission" Charter; a young men's club was organized to study this 20th century form of municipal government, and the present mayor of the city in a card announcing his candidacy proclaimed the fact that he was in favor of such a charter.

Faithful to its duty, the Chamber of Commerce, through its officers and directors, again took up its unfinished task, and on September 3, 1912, authorized its President to appoint a committee to draft a new charter for Hickory and report back to the Board of Aldermen and ex-Mayors of the city were made part of the committee, and the work of preparation continued until the charter was completed and sent to Judge Council asking him to secure from the General Assembly permission to vote on the charter.

We doubt if there is an individual citizen of Hickory who would attribute any ulterior motive either to the organization through whose agency the new charter was prepared, or to the individuals who composed the committee that drafted the instrument.

And when citizens signed these petitions they did not intend to reflect on the integrity of the Chamber of Commerce.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

"I am very glad to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. Lida Dewey, Milwaukee, Wis. "I have used it for years both for my children and myself and it never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. No family with children should be without it as it gives almost immediate relief in cases of croup." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is pleasant and safe to take, which is of great importance when a medicine must be given to young children. For sale by all druggists.

BRONCHITIS SUFFERER

Takes Druggist's Advice With Splendid Result.

If anyone should know the worth of a medicine, it is the retail druggist who sells it over his counter every day in the week, and is in a position to know what remedy gives the best satisfaction.

Mrs. Frank H. Ulme, of West Sand Lake, N. Y., says: "For a number of years I was a great sufferer from bronchitis. Last July I had an attack which was more severe than any, and my friends thought I could not recover from it. Then I was advised by my druggist to try Vinol, which I did, with wonderful results. My cough has left me; I have gained in weight and appetite, and I am as strong as ever. I was advised all who have bronchitis, chronic coughs, or who are run down to try Vinol."

It is the combined action of the medicinal curative elements of the cod's liver, without the greasy oil, aided by the blood-making and strengthening properties of tonics from that makes Vinol so efficient.

Remember we guarantee Vinol to do just what we say—we pay back your money if it does not.

WHAT "HEADWORK" DID FOR LAIRY FARM

Splendid Success of Mr. Muller on the Conestoga.

PENNSY R. R. TAKES PRODUCT

Keeps 35 Head of Guerneys and Buys Milk from Neighbors—Sold 14,000 Chickens and 300 Hogs—Finds Time to Travel for Other Folks.

Mr. Muller, representing the Old Dominion Paper Co., of Norfolk, passed through Hickory this week. While he is on the road at a fine salary, nevertheless his main business is dairy farming on the Conestoga, 20 miles north of Baltimore in Maryland. He has 35 head of registered Guerneys and sells all his butter to the Pennsylvania Railroad at the rise of the market. Seventeen years ago he bought 220 acres at a sheriff's sale. He recently added 100 acres more. Last year, he sold 14,000 chickens and 300 hogs, which he raised on his place, utilizing the skimmed milk and buttermilk in part for this purpose. He buys milk from many of his neighbors. He raises all the meat and flour used on his place, and all the feed stuff for his cows and also for 6 head of horses, and usually has some corn and wheat to sell. He usually has 25 or 30 calves on hand all the time, and sells these too. He has a good deal of woodland with a forest of oak and chestnut trees on it and his hogs are kept in there. He also markets many bushels of Irish potatoes. He uses the most improved machinery. A 6-horse team could turn around in his barn. "I turn a man off if he leaves any piece of farm machinery out all night from under cover," he says.

"How can you run a successful farm like that," the Democrat man asked, "and still travel and help to build up somebody else's business?"

"Well, my wife is a splendid manager," he replied, "and I read the leading farm journals, and the agricultural department bulletins, and I do the head-work."

It would probably astonish our Catawba county farmers to learn the annual net profits this gentleman reaps. We will tell any one interested enough to call and inquire. Mr. Muller says he is tired of being on the road and intends to settle down on his farm next year. He took a look at Mr. D. M. McComb's big dairy barn while in Hickory, and showed great interest in this sanitary and up-to-date enterprise.

Our own Catawba farmers can do as well, if they will do what Mr. Muller does, use "head-work."

With a creamery at hand to relieve them of the worry of the market, they have a gold mine just outside the door.

Lenoir College Notes

Rev. D. J. Offman and President R. L. Fritz, Executors of the will of the late Jacob Lippe, of Landis, have made final settlement. From this estate Lenoir College has received $6,000, and the Lutheran Orphan Home, of Salem, Va., eight shares of Cotton Mill stock with a book value of $1,000. The College bequest is to be known as the Laura Lippe Scholarship in memory of his only child. They are to be awarded annually to needy ministerial students.

Father Lippe was a faithful, devoted member of his church, a warm friend of the Orphan home and the College and for some years an active member of the board of trustees of the latter. Though dead yet he speaketh, the orphan and the struggling student shall feel the touch of his helping hand as the years come and go. May many who are able to help as he was pander his noble example and do likewise.

The second term opened Tuesday, Jan. 7, with practically all the old students present and thirteen new ones. This carries the present roll to 245. The health, work, and conduct of the students for the fall term were remarkably good.

The new Yoder Memorial Science Building presents a fine appearance. All are delighted with it.

Dr. Byron King, Author, Lecturer, Entertainer, Philosopher and Teacher of men, and also President of King's School of Oratory and Dramatic Culture, Pittsburgh, Pa., will speak at the College Feb. 14 and 15 at 8 p. m. Dr. King is a wonderful man. All who can should hear him. America boasts no greater, safer, sounder philosopher, entertainer and teacher of men than he. He is welcomed to the College each year with rejoicing and enthusiasm.

Miracle Defined

By a Little Tot.

Here is a story worth telling. It is true and names are omitted only because there is no use to print them. It happened in Raleigh, North Carolina, and the place was Christ's Church. The Sunday School teacher has asked "what is a Miracle?" and finally a little tot who looked wise, and who had remembered, held up his hand.

The teacher asked him to tell her what was a miracle.

"The little fellow replied: 'Mamma says Gowans Preparation is a miracle.'"

This happened. We only tell it to show wherein we have gained our popularity; our undoubted strength. Because we have the goods and because people who use the Preparation TELL OTHER PEOPLE.

That is the secret of our great success. Every Mother who has seen the magical power of Gowans' Preparation in extreme cases of Pneumonia, Colds and Croups, hastens to tell other mothers what it will do. It is an external and the Mother values this above all other things. No danger of the drug habit—and no danger of death when Gowans' is applied in time. Buy a bottle to-day—to-day is the time. All druggists sell it—take no substitute. 3 sizes.

Certificate of Dissolution

To All to Whom These Presents May Come—Greeting:

Whereas, it appears to my satisfaction, by duly authenticated record of the proceedings for the voluntary dissolution thereof by the unanimous consent of all the stockholders, deposited in my office, that the Mak-Nuf Furniture Polish Company, a corporation of this State whose principal office is situated in the city of Hickory, County of Catawba, State of North Carolina (C. T. Morrison being the agent therein and in charge thereof, upon whom process may be served), has complied with the required steps of Chapter 21, Revised of 1905, entitled "Corporations," preliminary to the issuing of this Certificate of Dissolution;

Now, Therefore, I, J. BRYAN GRIMES, Secretary of State of the State of North Carolina, do hereby certify that the said corporation did, on the 11 day of January, 1913, file in my office a duly executed and attested consent in writing to the dissolution of said corporation, executed by all the stockholders thereof, which said consent and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file in my said office as provided by law.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal, at Raleigh, this 11 day of January, A. D. 1913.

J. BRYAN GRIMES, Secretary of State.

Light Company Transferred

This Probably Means that Hickory will be Headquarters for Lookout Shoals Development.

Mr. K. C. Menzies for rally transferred last Friday the Thornton Light & Power Co. to outside parties. The sale was to Charlotte parties, who, while a separate and distinct corporation will nevertheless be in close touch with the Southern Power Co. Messrs. E. C. Marshall, assistant secretary of the Southern Power Co., Norman Cocks, of Osborne, Lucas & Cocks, attorneys; and C. I. Burkholder, of the Southern Power Co. were in the city to take over the property.

Hickory people are most hopeful in view of this purchase, that the Southern Power Co. will build its power house on this side of the river, as it now will be closely allied with a great Hickory interest. If it does it throws the taxes of the new development into the Catawba treasury and being a million dollar development it will add something to the resources of our progressive county. As before stated the price paid for the plant will approach $60,000.

In Social Circles

Jan. 23, the Traveller's Club met with Mrs. Littaker. Mrs. Henry Elliott was a guest. Quotations on "Landscapes" opened the meeting. Mrs. Gwaltney read an interesting account of "Thirlmere", showing beautiful illustrations of this romantic region. Mrs. Chadwick read two papers of Mrs. E. B. Cline, the first on "Romney" the second remarkably fine on "Turner", bearing principally on Turner's paintings with a volume of colored lithographs of these tone-poems. The social enjoyment was increased when a salad course followed by sweetmeats was served. The next meeting will be with Mrs. J. A. Martin, Jan. 30.

Mrs. A. I. Whitener was hostess to the Embroidery Club on the 23rd. In spite of a steady downpour of rain, nine members and five visitors assembled with dainty fits of embroidery or crochet. During the work hour Mrs. L. R. Whitener read an amusing story from a current magazine. Delicious refreshments were served in courses.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. E. E. Hendley on Water Avenue.

The Round Dozen Book Club met Jan. 2nd with Mrs. W. B. Ramsay, a round dozen members present, and Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Super were guests of honor. After the usual quotations and criticisms on the hostess' book, "Tante," were discussed. Two chapters from "The Annals of Ann" were read and enjoyed and the program concluded with current news. An elaborate supper in three courses was served in the dining room. The tables were decorated with pots of hyacinths and tulips; the place cards were dainty little Japanese pictures. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Granville Fox.

Are We Progressive Enough to Tax Dogs?

Some of Catawba's leading farmers are making a hard effort to get a dog-taxing law through the present legislature, so that they may be able to raise sheep. In view of this effort the following from the Wilmington Star is valuable and true:

"There are few sheep in North Carolina. Sheep-raising has dwindled away owing to North Carolina's great dog industry. Owing to the allegation that progressivism has invaded the Democracy of North Carolina, we are curious to see whether the Legislature, which is to meet this week, will pass a dog law in the interest of sheep husbandry. A State which permits sheep killing dogs to run at large has no claim to be 'progressive.' It hasn't gotten far enough along to bother its head with such questions as the initiative, the referendum and the recall. If however, North Carolina has walked up to the progressive front, it will recall itself there on the dog question to prove that it isn't doggedly reactionary."
