HICKORY'S WORLD CHAMPION.

In the great honor and fame which Richard Little has won for himself, there comes to Hickory that modest pride and joy which parenthood always feels when honors fall thick and fast upon its favored son.

Nothing has more aroused the admiration of the world or been more freely met with greeting of praise and honor than the possession of that physical perfection to which so few attain. The meaning of "world famed" is so foreign to most human attainments that the scope of its real meaning is to most minds almost beyond comprehension. In our appreciation of Hickory's "World Champion," however, we go beyond the border line which usually establishes our limitations, trying to express the genuine joy and satisfaction which comes to us with the realization that Richard Little is a Hickory boy.

Our appreciation, however, is no less sincere or unbounded than the good wishes of Hickory which will always go with him, for even now his parent town feels a maternal pride in the honors that are yet to come to one of her sons.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS.

That youth in the march of progress shall ever be the leader of old age seems more eternally true than was ever dreamed of by Him who first spoke it. When the West was a vast unknown, the East was steadily climbing and had advanced a far way up the Hill of Progress, until at last as it neared the top, it turned and beheld the first light of morning as it first broke upon the embryonic civilization of the New West.

link us with the past, their sensitive brains grasped a good idea regardless of where it came from; and out of these ideas their wonderful energies worked realities, despite the cry of Impossible! from the "Knockers." So well did they weave New Ideas into the structure of their educational system that which is causing it to forsake its outworn precedents, for a while ago we saw Mayor Blankenburg of Philadelphia heading a large Pennsylvania delegation on a tour of inspection of the University of Wisconsin. Another point inspected was the city schools of Kenilworth, Ill., a town of less than 5000 inhabitants, which furnished the following striking example. The buildings are constructed on the group plan. The auditorium, dining and dance hall, gymnasium, natatorium and shop are all one story in height and consequently, it is believed a panacea. The buildings were planned with the idea that they should serve as community centers as well as schools. The school grounds covers sixteen acres.

Hickory is a progressive town, and new ideas concerning progress in the right direction will always appeal to it. Does not the above illustration of western progress along educational lines appeal to and offer us an interesting study in educational progress while we are working with the view of developing and perfecting our own school system?

Advertising in Your Home Paper.

In an address made before the Tennessee Pharmaceutical Association, Mr. S. E. Mason, a very successful retail druggist of Smithville, Tenn., said:

"My experience of twelve years in retail drug business, four years as apprentice and eight years as proprietor, has convinced me of the fact that advertising pays the retail druggist. All successful business of today, in any line, have been made such by advertising of some kind.

"The retail druggist who would procure new customers, and increase his sales with his old customers, must do so by advertising. Various kinds of advertising can be done, but the kind to be desired is the kind that brings the best results for the amount expended. But then, the question to be decided is, what kind is the most profitable? The druggists in the smaller towns I believe there is no better medium for advertising than the local papers; while the paper then contains but little news, yet its arrival is anxiously awaited and it is read by every member of the family. In this way the druggist gets his name before more people for less money than any other way. I also believe that the city druggist could use his local papers to much profit."

As Mr. Mason says, he speaks from experience. He has watched the mistakes of his predecessors and noted his own errors. He knows the various media open to the retailer. He knows that a good window-display has its pulling power; he knows the returns to be expected from a house-to-house distribution of circulars, and he knows all about prizes and bargain sales. The sum of his experience is: advertise in your home-paper.

What is true of retail drug advertising is also true of the advertising of any progressive retailer, not matter what the line. He does not have to take a big space and make a flourishing display. The only thing he needs to do is to take the space that will allow him to tell his story to the public. Let him put his individuality into his story, and the people will read it. It is the personality injected into advertising that brings returns. If you have anything to sell and have confidence in what you are selling you can all ways talk about it and make people listen to you. The newspaper gives you the audience.

A New Freedom for America Industries.

for a new freedom for America industries," declared Secretary Redfield, of the Department of Commerce. He said further: "It stands for the reduction of the taxes, not only upon food but upon the means of earning; that is to say, upon buildings, upon machinery, and upon materials, which together compose the fundamentals of our industrial life. It does not stand for a reduction of wages because it knows that American economic history has taught as perhaps its greatest lesson that the highly paid workman, well equipped and well treated and well fed, is the cheapest producer in the world, else with our handicaps we should not be sending $1,500,000,000 abroad now."

The value of Secretary Redfield to the people of this country while the tariff is under consideration cannot be estimated. His wide experience and comprehensive knowledge of the manufacturing business enable him to expose the fallacies of the protectionists with a skill and ability that is admirable. It will be difficult for any one to talk about protecting American labor in the face of the above statement from a man who has successfully manufactured goods in New York and actually sold them in competition with the whole world, as Secretary Redfield has.

JERSEY MAKES RECORD.

Tar Heel Product on Vanderbilt Estates Breaks World Record For Butter, Butter Fat and Milk For 120 Days.

George W. Vanderbilt's registered Jersey cow, Kola's Katharine No. 206,275, has just broken the world's Jersey record for butter and milk production on a 120 days' test. The test was started January 24 and ended May 23, including the starting and stopping days, and in this time the Vanderbilt Jersey broke the record for milk, for butter fat and estimated butter for the total period, and also the record for one day in all particulars.

The former record was held by Loretta D., No. 141,708, and was made at St. Louis in 1904. During the test of the Vanderbilt Jersey she gave a total production of 6,086 pounds of milk, containing 287.25 pounds of butter fat, according to the Babcock test. The estimated butter for this period was 387.94 pounds. The average milk production per day was 50.71 pounds and the average butter per day 2.81 pounds.

During the first months the Vanderbilt cow produced 1,851 pounds of milk, or 95.23 pounds of butter. The second month she produced 1,591 pounds of milk, or 85.67 pounds of butter. The third month she produced 1,415.50 pounds of milk, or 83 pounds of butter, and the fourth month 1,228.50 pounds of milk, or 72.21 pounds of butter.

This gives the Vanderbilt Jersey the Jersey championship of the world for butter and milk, as the tests were conducted according to official regulations.

A WOMAN'S WISDOM.

The worried mother wakes up to hear her baby's heavy breathing—a little cough—perhaps the croup or whooping cough. She does not want to send for the doctor when perhaps the trouble does not amount to much. Finally she thinks of that medical book her father gave her, The Common Sense Medical Adviser, by R. V. Pierce, M. D. She says "just the thing to find out what is the matter with the little dear." Two million households in this country own one—and it's to be had for only 31c. in stamps. It is for either sex. This is what many women family adviser in any emergency. It is "Favorite Prescription," a remedy which has made thousands of melancholy and miserable women cheerful and happy, by curing the painful womanly diseases which undermine a woman's health and strength.

"My desire is to write a few lines to let you know what your valuable medicine has done for me," writes Mrs. MARGARET ZUBERT, of 323 S. Bentalon Street, Baltimore, Md. "Before the doctor came to our house I was a very sick woman. I wrote you for advice which was kindly given and which made me a different woman in a short time. After taking the first bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' I began improving so that I hardly knew I was in such a condition. I did my own housework—washing and ironing, cooking, and the worst of all—nursing three children who had whooping cough. I hardly knew of the advent ten minutes before—so easy was it. The baby is as fat as a butter-bell. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best medicine for any woman to take when in this condition. I recommend it to all my friends."
