JUSTICE FOR THE CITIES.

Last week we altempted t show the injustice which is being accorded the cities of North Car olina, by reason of appropriating fines and penalties to the general school fund which is being col lected by the cities of the state

We hope that the press of the state will take this matter up be fore the convening of the extr: session of the legislature in Sep tember and expose the injustic. which the Constitutional Com mittee failed to correct in making up its report to the General "Justice for the cities" we tak. the following editorial from the Charlotte Chronicle of the 24th:

" It is fortunate that the Constitutional Commission has completed its work before the session of the State Municipal Association, which meets next week at Wrightsville. The sub-committee on taxation recommended an amendment that would end the paying into county educationa funds by the cities of the State all fines collected in city courts. When the full commission met, however, it refused to recommend this amendment to the

The cities of the State, represented by the State Municipal Association, are not going to tamely submit to the injustice of the present situation The least that could be donwould be to remove the unjust clause from the constitution, and leave it within the option and pleasure of the Legislature. "We cannot see how any fai minded person can argue that a city which must necessarily support an expensive police depart men and a city court should be required to turn the fines from the defendants in that court ove to the educational funds of the county. It is argued that the city courts have some of their patrons furnished by the county outside the city. This does not alter the fact that the cities have to bear the expense of arresting those very fellows, keeping them confined and protecting the public against them just as it dues in the case of police court patrons from the city. We believe that if the cities make the right sort of a fight before the Legislature and conduct a strenuous cam paign before that body meets the desired amendment can be ind could not be enforced in the secured."

Must Collect the License.

Raleigh, July 24.-State Treas-.rer Lacy today sent out notifiations to the sheriffs of the state to see that the automobile icease law is thoroughly enfored and that agents show their luplicate licenses, which are their with rity to do business or else e arreste !.

The state law is very explicit saying that manufacturers of automoviles, which are sold in North Carolina must pay a li ense tax of $500 a year and then he state will issue to each agent n the state a duplicate license for $5. A number of automobile ompanies are registering a bi ick against this law, declaring it to be unconstitutional.
