COMPLETING A MODERN PLANT

Spencer, N. C., April 14.—To provide improved facilities for properly handling the growing movement of live stock to Eastern and Virginia markets from the Southeastern states, the Southern Railway is now completing a modern plant for resting and feeding stock on property adjoining the Spencer yards.

The plant consists of 33 pens, 20 of which are covered. All pens and alleys are paved with one foot of sanders and are located on a gentle slope, providing natural drainage. Each pen is provided with water trough and feed rack, and the entire plant is electrically lighted. Nine pens are set apart for cattle from the quarantined area and are separated from the others by a solid board wall ten feet high. As all cattle are unloaded at Spencer for feed and rest, this convenient plant will prove an important facility for stock growers.

MERCHANTS ON THE RIGHT TRACK

The merchants of High Point have organized for mutual interests and one of the most important things is to protect themselves against the dead beats who live off of the merchants. A black list will be kept and those who won't pay their debts will be put on this list. The "slow payers" will also be spotted. If the merchants stick together as a whole they can reform the credit system of this city to almost perfection. Those merchants who sell for cash are also benefitted immensely by joining the association.

IN MEMORY OF TITANIC

New York, April 15.—Today, the anniversary of the sinking of the Titanic, men prominent in church, business and shipping circles gathered at the Seamen's church institute on the lower water front to dedicate the Titanic memorial lighthouse tower erected to the memory of the men and women who went down with the ship.

It stands on the corner of the institute building overlooking the harbor, and will have a range of 12 miles. It will be charted by the government and a time ball will drop on the flagstaff at noon daily for the convenience of masters in adjusting ship's chronometers.

FACTS IN HISTORY

Mr. W. J. Armfield, Sr. was in our office last Saturday and related several facts of interest. He said "Today, 52 years ago, General Beauregard fired on Fort Sumter in Charleston Harbor. It was the real beginning of the Civil War. A small riot took place in Baltimore before that time, but the fire on Fort Sumter was the first real attack."

Mr. Armfield also recalled that at about this time last year were heavy rains throughout this section, washing away many of the bridges and doing much other damage.

NAME OF STREET CHANGED

At the regular meeting of the City Council Monday, a petition was presented by property owners and others residing on Dee Allen Street in the western section of the City, to have the name of this street changed to Adams Street, in honor of Mr. J. H. Adams of the High Point Hosiery Mills, who is having erected in that locality quite a large number of dwelling houses. The Council gladly acceded to the request, and by proper procedure changed the name to Adams Street.

Small Boy's Essay.

Here's a small boy's essay on newspapers. He ought to make a good editor when he grows up. "Newspapers are sheets of paper on which stuff to read is printed. The men look over it and see their names in it. I don't know how newspapers came into the world. I don't think God does. The Bible says nothing about editors, and I never heard of one being in heaven. The first editor I heard of was a fellow who wrote up the flood. He has been here ever since. Some editors belong to the church and some try to raise whiskers. All of them raise Cain in their neighborhood. Sometimes the paper dies and then people feel glad, but some one starts it up again. Editors never went to school because editors don't get licked. Our paper is a mighty poor one but we take it so ma can use it on her pantry shelves. Our editor don't amount to much, but pa says he had a poor chance when a boy. He goes without underclothes in winter, wears no socks and has a wife to support him. Pa has not paid his subscription in five years and don't intend to."

Look out for burglars—they are prowling around here as well as in other towns.

BIG ROBBERY SUNDAY NIGHT

Store of Cannon & Fetzer Co. Entered and Much Goods Appropriated—Midnight Stalkers Had Their Nerve

On opening his store Monday morning Mr. Ed. W. Freeze was astonished to find that unwelcome guests had entered sometime the night before and appropriated much valuable merchandise belonging to the Cannon & Fetzer Co., in the way of shoes, shirts, suit cases, clothing and other articles, the total being something like $250.00. Entrance was effected through a rear window, by breaking the glass and lifting a latch. It seems that the prowlers had their nerve with them and took plenty of time to thoroughly look over the entire store, throwing things they did not want right and left and even went to one of the front windows and took a choice suit of clothes. It would take more than one man to carry off the goods stolen, Mr. Freeze thinks. An old coat and pair of gloves were found in the rear of the store and it is quite likely the thieves wore off a new outfit

IS THE EARTH LARGE ENOUGH?

If the earth is to hold the resurrected myriads of mankind, as the Scriptures declare (Ezekiel 16:55), the resurrection must take place soon, as enough of mankind have now been born to nearly fill it. In 1815 its population was 667,000,000 based on estimates of Volney, 1804, of 437,000,000, Pinkerton, 1805, of 700,000,000, Malte-Brun, 1810, of 640,000,000, Morse, 1812, of 776,000,000, Graberg von Hemso, 1813, of 686,000,000, Balbi, 1816, of 704,000,000 and Balbi, 1843, of 739,000,000. Within the past fifty years the population has doubled, due to fewer wars and improved methods of food production and medical skill in prolonging life.

Modern chronologists, taking their stand on the Bible figures, accept the present year, 1913, as the year of man on the earth, 6,041. Adam lived 930 years, so that from his death to the present time is 5111 years, or, counting the generations per century, 153 generations. Ignoring the Deluge, and the great wars and pestilences which have often obliterated nations, and counting earth's population as a steadily growing number from Adam's day to ours, we have 153 generations of 333,500,000 each, or 51,025,500,000. The total number of human beings who have lived does not exceed half this number, or, say 25,512,750,000.

Will the earth hold these when they are resurrected, is an interesting question. Let us see. In a square mile there 27,878,400 square feet. In a million square miles therefore, there are 28,878,400,000,000 square feet, or 1082 square feet for every man, woman and child that ever lived—2164 square feet for every pair. Australia, with 2,946,691 square miles, would provide for every pair of humankind a city lot 40 ft. wide by 160 ft. deep. Europe, with 3,850,000 square miles, would provide them a vegetable garden 40 by 200 ft., North America with 6,446,000 square miles, would provide a banyard 40 by 350 ft., South America, with 6,837,000 square miles, would provide an orchard 40 by 370 ft., Africa, with 11,508,793 square miles, would provide a grain lot 40 by 622 ft., and Asia, with 17,255,890 square miles would provide a pasture 40 by 934 ft. The islands would add another plot 40 by 200 ft., for other purposes.

The whole would make a plot 40 ft. wide by over half a mile deep, abundantly large enough, under perfect conditions of earth and climate, to support two people when "The earth shall yield her increase" (Ezekiel 34:27), "The desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose," "In the wilderness shall waters break out" and "The parched grounds shall become a pool" (Isiah 35: 1, 6, 7), when "The pastures of the wilderness do spring" and "The fig tree and the vine do yield their strength" (Joel 2:22), when "They shall sit every man under his vine and fig tree" (Micah 4:4), when "The desolate land shall be tilled" and "This land that was desolate shall become like the garden of Eden."

The Bond Issue Meeting Monday Night

A good crowd was on hand at the Citizens Mass Meeting at the Industrial Club rooms Monday night to hear discussed the proposed bond issues for larger and better school facilities and for the further extension of the water lines and building a large pure water storage reservoir inside the city. Those present represented every calling and line of our industrial life.

Mayor Tate opened the meeting by briefly outlining and explaining the necessities for both the bond issues in question and also the ability of the city from a financial point of view, to properly care for these obligations, without placing any burden or hardship upon the taxpayers. The Mayor's explanation of the manner by which the sinking funds for these issues may be provided and maintained by Building and Loan stock and the most rapid earnings in this manner, is a very plausible one and will no doubt appeal to the people as being a practical, business-like and advantageous method of increasing the city's assets, provided for the retirement at maturity of all our bond issues, and at the same time give High Point the money now with which to carry on these improvements so much needed.

A number of citizens responded to the Mayor's invitation to speak on the proposition and a special request was made of those present, if there were any, who opposed the measure, to express their views and to ask any question if further light was needed. There were no speeches or any indication that any person present opposed these bond issues and no doubt that when the proposition is clearly put before the voters, there will be practically no opposition.

One feature of the forthcoming election that appears to be unusual, fair, and that is, there will be provided separate ballots and separate boxes for the school bonds from the water bonds, so that every voter may take his choice and vote for all or part just as he prefers.

MOB GOVERNMENT

(Woodrow Wilson in "The New Freedom.")

I am not afraid of the American people getting up and doing something. I am only afraid they will not; and when I hear a popular vote spoken of as mob government, I feel like telling the man who dares so to speak that he has no right to call himself an American. You can not make a reckless, passionate force out of a body of sober people earning their living in a free country. Just picture to yourself the voting population of this great land, from the sea to the far borders in the mountains, going calmly, man by man, to the polls, expressing its judgment about public affairs: Is that your image of a "mob"? What is a mob? A mob is a body of men in hot contact with one another, moved by ungovernable passion to do a hasty thing that they will regret the next day. Do you see anything resembling a mob in that voting population of the countryside, men tramping over the mountains, men going to the general store in the village, men moving in little groups to the country grocery to cast their ballots—is that your notion of a mob? Or is that your picture of a free self-governing people? I am not afraid of the judgment so expressed, if you give men time to think, if you give them a clear conception of the things they are to vote for; because the deepest conviction and passion of my heart is that the common people, by which I mean all of us, are to be absolutely trusted.

And so Col. Osborne of Greensboro, gets the plum, Commissioner of Internal Revenue of the United States, succeeding Cable. Here's to this lucky Tar Heel. Surely N. C. is getting the best pickings but then we have the men.

She Knew What Was Coming

A dapper little type salesman from Chicago one day dropped into a country office in southern Illinois and finding the boss out, approached the pretty typo.

"Nice day, little one," he began. "Yes, indeed," she answered, "and so was yesterday and the day before and my name is Sadie, and I know I'm a peach, and have beautiful hair and pretty brown eyes, and I've worked here quite a while and like the place, and I don't think I'm too nice to be working in a printing office, and my wages suit me, and I don't want to go to a picture show tonight, and if I did I would not go with you; and my husband is editor of this paper and he weighs 200 pounds, and last week he landed on a fresh $50-a-month paper man who tried to make a date with me. Now what can I do for you?"

"Guess I'll have to hurry to catch this train. Just tell your husband I'll see him next trip," replied the dapper little type salesman. "Good night!"

As registrar J. L. Sechrest in the second ward is hard to beat. He already has three fourths of the voters in his ward on the books and each election year he comes forward with the best record according to per centage.
