U. S. Being Washed Away.

The United States is slowly but surely being washed away. An average of 95 tons of soil, pebbles and loose rock is carried by the rivers into the oceans every year from every square mile of the 3,085,500 in the country, according to the geological survey.

For the benefit of people who like to have something to worry about it may be stated that the United States will all be washed into the ocean in about a million years.

GETTING LUMBER CHEAP

Warrants were sworn out on affidavit of Wallace Coapman, colored, against Nan Kilby and her husband, also colored, who Coapman claims enticed him to sell them lumber to the value of $400.00, for $12.00, from the Frank Littleford lumber yards, where Coapman was employed. The Kilbys were released on bail while Coapman had to stay in jail to await trial.

The negro Coapman became very penitent and gave the whole story to Desk Sergeant Ed. Mungo, saying this was the first time he was ever in trouble, that if it had not been for Kilbys, who enticed him into wrong doing he would not be in trouble, that he was awful sorry for it all and unloaded his mind as well as conscience, as above stated.

All three parties were placed under bonds of $250 each at the trial in municipal court Monday.

The banks of the city had a very successful year, notwithstanding the depression the last quarter of 1920.

WORLD WAR VET GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE A "BUDDY"

Skiles Hoffman, a Well Known High Pointer, Hero of Story in 'Frisco Paper.

Skiles Hoffman, well known High Pointer, son of Harry Hoffman, South Main street, is the hero of a very interesting and unusual story appearing in a San Francisco newspaper of recent date. He well known track athlete gave his blood that the life of an ex-service comrade might be saved. The clipping telling of Hoffman's heroism was sent to Mrs. Arthur Harrison, of this city, by a young lady residing in Frisco who, it so happens, was in school with Mr. Hoffman here and didn't know he was residing in San Francisco until the account appeared in the newspaper. Accompanying the following account was an excellent one column cut of Skiles Hoffman:

"True to the best traditions of America's fighting manhood, G. Skiles Hoffman, local ex-service man and member of the American Legion, gave his blood that the life of a comrade might be saved.

"Out at the Lane hospital lay Chas. O'Brien, another ex-service man, near death. O'Brien, an Alameda boy, had served overseas with the 312th field signal battalion. The hardships of the trenches had laid the foundation for the disease from which he suffered. Day by day he grew weaker under the wasting of pernicious anemia.

"Finally he grew so weak that he could not move a limb. "Physicians, called upon the American Legion to furnish a volunteer who would give of his blood to save O'Brien's life.

"Hoffman, a member of Golden Gate Post 40, American Legion, a track star and a member of the legion football team of this city, volunteered. He did not know the sick man—but O'Brien was an ex-service man, and that was enough.

"The operation was performed under the direction of Drs. A. C. McKenney and Alason Week. More than a pint of blood was transferred from the vein in Hoffman's arm to the suffering man's body.

"Through Hoffman's sacrifice, O'Brien was given a new lease on life. He is now able to sit up and take an interest in life.

"Golden Gate, proud of its son's act, has thanked Hoffman, stating his sacrifice was true to the best principles of the American Legion and an act equal to any act of heroism performed on the field of battle."

LACY IS GUILTY OF FALSE PRETENSE

Before Judge O. A. Kirkman in municipal court Thursday, F. J. Lacy, white, was tried and convicted of a charge of obtaining money under false pretense.

According to the evidence presented before the trial judge, Lacy and J. M. Loving recently conducted a meat market in Mechanicsville. An ice box was rented from E. F. Nance, with the understanding that Lacy might purchase it within a period of 12 months. Lacy sold out the business to Loving and charged $165 for the ice box, witnesses testified.

Complications later set in and Lacy was arrested. Judge Kirkman ordered the defendant to pay $50 to Nance and turn the ice box over to Loving. Lacy must also pay Loving $115 and the court costs in the case.

Fire in the dust separator at the Snow Lumber company, No. 210 East Commerce street, shortly after 7 o'clock Friday night called out the fire department. The flames were quickly extinguished and little damage was done. The origin of the fire has not been determined. The alarm was turned in from box No. 42, corner Hamilton and Commerce streets.

A PRETTY CHUMP

Sing a song of experience, A fellow 'bout to die, Doctor says there is no hope, It does no good to cry, Had his eyes been open He'd have insured his life Now isn't he a pretty chump To say he loved his wife?

EFIRD TO OPEN ANOTHER BIG ESTABLISHMENT

The Efrid department stores, one of the largest merchandising firms in the entire south, and which operates an establishment in High Point, has purchased the Einstein building in Wilmington and will make it one of the leading merchandise centers.

A complete stock of reasonable merchandise has been purchased by the Efrids and they expect to have it delivered in Wilmington within the next few days.

Concerning the purchase of the building, the Wilmington Dispatch carried the following story in a recent issue:

With the new year a week old, Wilmington gains another industry and a big one in the location of the Efrid Department Stores, said to be the largest merchandising firm in the whole south. A deal was consummated late yesterday whereby the Einstein building on the corner of Front and Grace streets with a large stock of dry goods was purchased. The price was withheld, but it is claimed that the deal is one of the largest of the kind completed in the state in recent years.

Open in Sixty Days

Within 60 days, J. B. Efrid, president of the company, expects to be ready for business with a complete new stock of reasonable merchandise bought in New York expressly for the new store, which it is his intention to make one of the leading merchandising centers in the south.

The services of an architect are being secured in order to have the front remodelled and exterior changes made, including the installation of fast passenger elevators.

The whole five floors will be occupied by the store. The fifth will be largely devoted to a restaurant where luncheon and early dinner will be served amid artistic and thoroughly hygienic surroundings. The cafe will be a strong feature of the new store and no expense is being spared to insure the daintiest sort of environment, and the most up to date kitchen and dining room equipment and service.

Faith in Wilmington

The Efrid Department stores have been trying to locate in this city for a considerable time, the president said last night, but until yesterday he had been unable to make a deal for a building large enough for his conception of business in Wilmington. "The fact that we have located on the first favorable opportunity," said Mr. Efrid, "shows our opinion of prospects here. Wilmington is a thriving city and its best days are ahead of it. Well, we are here to stay and are going to share in the prosperity coming to this fine city and district."

Southerners, Born and Bred
Associated with J. B. Efrid are his four brothers, and all of them were raised on a farm in Anson county. All of them know what it is to raise cotton at six cents a pound. They are thoroughly familiar from actual experience as farmers and merchandisers over the two Carolinas and Virginia with the buying needs of the southern public.

The policy of the chain of stores is to buy strictly for cash and to sell on the same basis, with the object of making a small margin on a quick turnover.

It is expected about 125 persons will be employed when the store is in operation. In the meantime the president and his colleagues are hard at work during a brief stay in the city planning to get action on as quick an opening as the alterations to the property will permit. The store was a hive of activity last night with everyone hard at work getting the Einstein stock into packing cases for shipment.

Three stills were captured near Abbott's Creek a few weeks ago.

THE RELIEF FUND SE- CURED HERE

High Point has contributed $2,855.15 for the European Child Relief fund, it was announced by J. Elwood Cox, local chairman.

High Point was asked to contribute $5,000 for the support of 500 suffering and starving European children until harvest. An intensive campaign was conducted in this city. Local people responded to the call and contributed to the fund, but the amount asked for was not raised.

It is believed that with other reports not heard from the amount contributed will exceed $3,000. When final reports are submitted the additional money will be forwarded to the proper authorities, later to be sent to Europe.

Herbert Hoover is at the head of the movement and he asked that the United States contribute $33,000,000 to the fund. It is not known how much of that amount has been raised in this country.

Greensboro and Goldsboro are the only two cities in North Carolina that have contributed more than their quotas, according to reports reaching High Point today from Henry A. Page, of Asheboro, state chairman of the fund.

According to Mr. Cox's report cash collections in this city to date total $1,013.70. The subscriptions forwarded in cash through the respective churches of the city, including clothing total $1,610. The report shows the deferred subscriptions to be $129.45. Funds sent direct are estimated at $100.

The campaign in an effort to raise the money has not come to a close, it was stated today. Those in charge of the work will continue to receive contributions.

If the starving child lives of Europe are to be saved they must be saved through the efforts of American people, those in charge of the work declare. Members of the committee say that $10 will spare the life of a child until next harvest.

FOR THE ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

Requests for the help of the Associated Charities are being received daily by Mrs. Frank Gurley, secretary of the organization.

Mrs. Gurley was asked to furnish a half dozen pairs of shoes for little children of High Point Friday. Scores of requests for clothing are rapidly being received and in order to solve the problem it is essential that the more fortunate of the city contribute to the fund the Associated Charities is now endeavoring to raise.

It was officially stated that less than half of the $6,000, which the organization has asked local citizens to contribute, has been received.

The Associated Charities is maintained by the citizenship of High Point. Unless people of the city contribute the Associated Charities cannot possibly carry on the work it has started out to do, it is declared.

Mrs. Gurley is making an earnest appeal to High Pointers.

HIGH POINT ROUTE 4 Gy Mary A. Clodfelter

Christmas is over and another new year is here and we should pledge ourselves to live a higher and nobler life, laying aside all evil doing and do more for the Master's cause.

Christmas weddings: Evans Wall, of wallburg, to Miss Annie Giles, of Morganton. Herbert Reece to Miss Mamie Berrier, both of near Bethany. Charlie Weavil, of near Gethany, to Miss Berrier, of Midway.

Rev. John McCuiston filled his regular appointment at Friedland Christmas day and preached a Christmas sermon to a large crowd. Following the sermon the annual love feast was held. The small children of the Sunday School held their candle services and all seemed to enjoy themselves. The older members of the church came in the church with a tray made for the occasion with about 200 or more decorated candles burning. Little Miss Stuart sang the Christmas song, "Christ in the Manger." Every small child was given a candle and some of the older ones.
