BIG DEMONSTRATION IS HELD IN BOSTON

(By The Associated Press) Boston, May 27.—In a great demonstration, thousands of Bostonians gave expression to their belief that the nation should be adequately protected against war. Boston streets were crowded to watch the most extensive parade the city had ever known. Veterans of two wars were in line, but it was a civic demonstration.

At the head of the long line rode Massachusetts members of congress, legislators, governor and former governors. IN RECORDER'S COURT. Ida Curlee and Beulah Rameur, two colored women, paid fines in recorder's court Friday afternoon for fighting. Eubert Whitener and Gentry Cannon, white men, and the costs also for an affray, and Belle Wilson, a negro girl 13 years old, was charged with forgery. She had written the name of Leola Wilson to an order on the Shell-Mitchell Grocery store for 85 cents worth of provisions, but on account of her youth and the fact that her parents made the money good she was released.

PEOPLE VS. DOGS (By The Associated Press) Berlin, May 27.—The city of Spandau, near here, does not believe in encouraging pet dogs at a time when human beings can easily use all the available food. The old dog taxes, therefore, of 20 marks a year per dog, have been radically changed. From the first of April dog owners have to pay an annual tax of 60 marks for one animal. If they own more than one, each additional dog costs them 100 marks a year. In other words, it has become a luxury in Spandau to keep pets.

THE WOMEN VOTE TO STANARIZE DRESS New York, May 27.—Shall the women of America standardize their street dress? Two thousand women, delegates, alternates and visiting club members of the 13th biennial convention of the Federation of Women's clubs answered the foregoing question in the affirmative at an open conference of the home economics committee of the federation yesterday.

The committee has spent two years in investigating the practicability of the plan, and is prepared to introduce a resolution favoring it at next week's session of the convention. Gowns for evening wear are to be excluded from the proposed limitations.

Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, Pasadena, Cal.; Mrs. Frederick Nathan, president of the Consumer's league of this city; Dr. Josephine E. Baker of the New York city bureau of child hygiene; Dr. Benjamin R. Andrews, of New York Teachers' college and Lady Duff Gordon spoke in favor of the proposed plan. Lady Aberdeen was an interested auditor.

Miss Helen L. Johnson, of this city chairman of the committee who presided at the conference, declared a standardized dress for women on a par with the conventional sack suit of the men would not only make the American woman more dignified in appearance and deportment, but would reduce her dressmaking bills by one-half. Mrs. Johnson said, were in hearty sympathy with the plan.

Lack of conventional standard, Miss Johnson said, was directly responsible for her husband some time ago was as freakish and almost bizarre dress of the American woman of today.

"Women should strive for simplicity and modesty in their dress," Mrs. Edison said. "The ever changing styles of today are responsible for street dresses that not only astonish but horrify. The latest style, it appears, calls for abbreviation of dresses at top and bottom, in some cases beyond the bounds of modesty."

Mrs. Burdette, for years an advocate of dress reform, who aroused a countrywide discussion of wearing white for mourning on the death of her husband, the latest style, it appears, calls for abbreviation of dresses at top and bottom, in some cases beyond the bounds of modesty.

"Why wear black for the guest of heaven," Mrs. Burdette asked, "has your psychic sense given you a conception of the effect on your soul of wearing certain colors?" Women's clothing should express her philosophy of life, Mrs. Burdette said and should be the highest expression of her artistic soul. It should be simple, but expressive of honesty and courage typical of womanhood.

"But," Mrs. Burdette concluded, "the chief question is: Can you afford your dress?" Food and shelter were discussed by Dr. Carl A. Alsberg, chief of the bureau of chemistry, and Lawrence Veller, of New York, representing the National Housing association. Miss Julia Lathrop, chief of the children's bureau, declared the growing infant mortality rate in the country should be given serious attention by the government. Fifteen thousand women a year die as the result of improper maternity care, she declared.

The California and Ohio delegations gave receptions during the afternoon in honor of their candidates for president Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Samuel B. Sneath, of Tiffin respectively.

Rev. J. L. Murphy last night preached to the congregation of Bethel Methodist church, colored.
