An "Insane Mistake"

Zimmermann, the German foreign minister, admits the authenticity of the German note to Mexico. Those who hoped against hope that that note was some insane mistake can hope no more. Therewith was dissolved the last tie that could bind any American to Germany. Sympathy in her cause is overwhelmed by indignation at this covert attack against us, an attack prepared at a time when she was professing the desire to maintain our friendship. The stern call goes forth to Americans of German origin to become Americans.

The Dog Was First

At the time that Columbus made his voyage of discovery, the North American continent had only one domesticated animal, the dog. There were in the old world domesticated cattle, horses, pigs, sheep, goats and cats; but none of these existed in the new world until brought there by settlers from Europe.—Ex.

What has become of the old-fashioned children who were taught not to point out things on the street?

THE GERMAN AMERICANS

Springfield Republican.
It is impossible not to sympathize with the millions of staunch American citizens of German origin, and of pro-German sympathies so far as the war in Europe is concerned, in the cruel position in which they have been put by the revelation of the perfidious hostility of the Berman government. As to their loyalty to the land of their adoption there can be no question; there may be Germans in America who desire to have Texas annexed to Mexico and made a German protectorate, but they are not German-Americans. When the German language press denounced the Zimmermann note as a forgery on the ground that it was impossible to believe that the German government was capable of doing such a thing, it was undoubtedly saying what its readers felt. In so far as it has followed the Cologne Gazette and the Berlin Lokal-Anzeiger in calling the conspiracy to conquer and partition the United States justifiable, it parts company with German America.

There has never been a doubt as to where German America would stand in a war forced upon this country by any foreign power whatever. It would be as loyal in case of aggression by the Kaiser's government as the Americans of British and mixed descent would be if the United States were attacked by England. But the case now calls for more than the professional solidarity. President Wilson is not seeking to plunge the country into war; he is, on the contrary, striving to keep it out of war, and his own chance of accomplishing this is for Americans of all kinds to stand together so firmly and conspicuously that there can be no doubt whatever about the matter. The chance to use the United States against the allies is gone for good; whatever chance there may have been was forfeited when ruthlessness prevailed and the Lusitania was sunk. The alternatives now are war and armed neutrality in defense of American rights. Even if German-Americans believe that some German newspapers have said that for America to go to war would hinder more than help the allies, we may be sure that they do not desire a war which would put them in so terrible a position. The best way to avoid it is to support the president. Let Her Zimmermann's threat to dismember the United States suffice to cut the last tie of sentiment and align every American citizen in defense of the republic.

In this there need be no loss of love for the fatherland, a great land, with a great people which at the present moment no more reveals its true self than the English people did under the reactionary ministers of the Georges. Let Hohenzollern rule be swept away or curbed so that the will of the people may prevail, let military discipline yield to true freedom, and a new Germany may arise with which we and the rest of the world can live on good terms and with full restoration of the admiration which all have felt for the achievements of German industry and the German intellect. When a good ship has been captured by pirates and flies the black flag, it loses its old character; in the Zimmermann note German-Americans, for the most part not close students of politics, have had a distressing revelation of the true character of the crew which now mans the German ship of state. The more they love Germany the more they ought to desire its reform—not a return to the weak, divided condition before 1870, but a union based on freedom and right, not on the rule of the saber. In showing themselves good Americans they will show themselves also good friends of Germany. For the unscrupulous present government to accomplish its designs would be a disaster to the German people.

Corns Peel Right Off With "Gets-It"

2 Drops, and the Corn is a "Goner!"

When you've got to walk on the sides of your shoe to get away from those awful corn-pains, there's only one common-sense thing to do.

Use "Gets-It." Your Corns Won't Swell or Water, Besides, They'll Shrive! Loosen and Peel Off!

Put 2 or 3 drops of "Gets-It" on the corn right away. Pain and inflammation will disappear, the corn will begin to shrivel from that instant—then it loosens and falls right off. There's no other corn-remover in the world that acts like "Gets-It." No new discovery has been made in corn-removers since "Gets-It" was born. Don't forget that fact. "Gets-It" does away forever with the use of salves that irritate, bandages that make a bundle of your toe, blisters that half do the work, knives and scissors that draw blood. Use "Gets-It"—no more digging or cutting. "Gets-It" is sold everywhere in a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.
