CHICHESTER'S PILLS

WARNING AS TO OUR Waning Vitality

(By Lee Herbert Smith.)

In urging upon the country the observance of last Dec. 6 as "Medical Examination Day," the Life Extension Institute issued a circular in which it called attention to the reasons why every man should take stock of his physician condition just as frequently as he takes stock of his financial condition, thereby learning his weak spots and taking measures to repair them before it is too late.

In the spring is the best time to take stock of one's condition. If the blood is thin and watery, face pale or pimply, generally weak, tired and listless, one should take a spring tonic. One that will do the spring house-cleaning, an old-fashioned herbal remedy that was used by everybody nearly 50 years ago is still safe and sane because it contains no alcoholic or narcotic. It is made up of blood root, Golden Seal root, Oregon Grape Root, Queen root, Stone's root, Black Cherry bark—extracted with glycerine and made into liquid or tablets. This blood tonic was first put out by Dr. Pierce in ready to use form and since then has been sold by millions of bottles as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If druggist does not keep this in tablet form send $1.00 to Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Kidney disease carries away a large percentage of our people. What is to be done? The answer is easy. Eat less meat, eat coarse, plain food, with plenty of vegetables, drink plenty of water, between meals, and take an uric acid solvent after meals for awhile, such as Anuric (double strength) obtained at almost any drug store. It was first discovered by Dr. Pierce. Most every one troubled with uric acid finds that Anuric dissolves the uric acid as hot water does sugar.

CENSUS FIGURES ON NORTH CAROLINA INDUSTRY MAED PUBLIC AT WASHINGTON

In the former respect and thirteenth in the latter; the corresponding rankings in 1909 were twenty-third and twelfth. The output of manufactured products in North Carolina in 1914 represented 1.2 per cent of the total for the United States, as measured by value; the corresponding proportion for both 1909 and 1904 was 1 per cent.

The percentages of increase for North Carolina for the period 1909-1914 are greater in all important respects than the corresponding ones for the United States as a whole. The percentage of increase reported for North Carolina's wage earners, value of products and value added by manufacture for that period were 12.6, 33.6, and 26, respectively; whereas the corresponding percentages, for the United States as a whole, were only 6.4, 17.3, and 15.8, respectively. Thus the state's increase in wage earners and value of products were nearly twice as great, proportionally, as those for the United States as a whole; and its increase in value added by manufacture was relatively about two-thirds greater.

To a large extent, the manufacturing industries of the state depend upon the products of agriculture. Cotton and tobacco alone furnished the raw material for more than 50 per cent of the total value of manufactured products in 1914, while lumber contributed more than a fourth of the remainder.

"Separate statistics are presented for 27 industries, or industry groups, for each of which products valued at more than $200,000 were reported for 1914. These industries include five with products exceeding $10,000,000 in value, five with products between five and ten million, 5 with products between one million and five million, and 12 with products valued at less than one million. Among those included under the head of "all other industries," the statistics for which can not be shown separately without the possibility of disclosing the operations of individual establishments, are a number which have products exceeding in value some of the figures are shown in the table as follows: bags, other than paper; dyestuffs and extracts; paper and wood pulp; and waste.

The industries in this table are arranged in the order of their importance, as shown by value of products, but the arrangement would vary considerably from that given if based on average number of wage earners or value added by manufacture. Cotton goods, tobacco manufactures, and lumber and timber products, the three leading industries in regard to wage earners, value of products and value added by manufacture, show variations, in this respect.

"Cotton goods ranked first in value of products and number of wage earners, but second in value added by manufacture. Tobacco manufactures, second in value of products, was third in number of wage earners and first in value added by manufacture. Lumber, third in value of products and value added by manufacture was second in number of wage earners. Oil, cotton seed, and cake, fourth in value of products, was ninth in number of wage earners and in value added by manufacture. Fertilizers, fifth in value of products, was seventh in number of wage earners and fifth in value added by manufacture. Flour mills and grist mill products was seventh in value of products, fifteenth in average number of wage earners and thirteenth in value added by manufacture. This industry consists largely in the comparatively simple process of grinding grain, requiring few employees, and the proportional value added to the raw material by manufacture is very small in comparison with the corresponding proportions for most other industries.

"In rank according to value of products, there were a few changes in 1914 as compared with 1909. Of the more important industries, shown in the table, cotton goods, tobacco manufactures, lumber and timber products and oil, cotton seed and cake, held the same rank at both censuses. Fertilizers, furniture, flour-mill and grist-mill products, and hosiery and knit goods ranking fifth, sixth, seventh, respectively in 1914, were seventh, sixth fifth and ninth, respectively, in 1909. For the remainder of the industries, slight changes from census to census are noticeable."

FIGHT FEATURES TRIAL OF DR. PRICE

Dr. K. A. Price Saturday afternoon was sentenced to six months on the Mecklenburg county roads for non-support and taxed $50 for contempt of court by Recorder Campbell in a trial that provided a fight for the spectators and caused bitter feeling among persons who heard the evidence and arguments. An appeal was taken in each case, and bond was furnished in the sum of $1,000.

It was during the argument of Mr. A. A. Whitener, who assisted City Attorney Jos. L. Murphy, Jr., in the prosecution that the fight occurred. Mr. Whitener was reviewing the evidence of Mrs. Price, who had referred to an incident that occurred at the Price home during the severe freeze in February, and Mr. Whitener took occasion to refer to the defendant in terms of reproach. When Dr. Price was called a "low down dog" several times, he arose and asked Mr. Whitener meant that.

The attorney said he meant it all and all that it implied, whereupon the doctor struck at him. Mr. Whitener countered and hit the physician at least twice, close witnesses stated, the first blow knocking Dr. Price down and the next bringing a stream of blood from the neck. Mr. C. W. Bagby, who with Mr. W. A. Self and Mr. Thomas Pruitt, represented the defendant, accompanied his client out of the court room to have the wound dressed, and afterwards Mr. Bagby declined to have his client appear in the bar, saying that he did not propose to have him exposed to further insults.

At this point in the trial many of the spectators left the court room and expressed opinions on the outside. Feeling was running deep and several citizens urged the crowd to be calm.

Mrs. Price was the only witness examined. She related incidents of their home life, telling how on one occasion she was locked out of doors and how Chief Lutz let her into her home. The burden of her complaint was that she and her son had not been properly provided for, and she specified.

On cross examination Mrs. Price said she had about 20 pounds of sugar on hand now, between $4 and $5 worth of Irish potatoes, that she received a quart of cream a day— which the doctor was in the habit of drinking—that he had bought half a hog since December, a $20 pound ham, 50 pounds of flour, that they had a number of chickens, and that she had been able to sell eggs. Mrs. Price also admitted that her husband was to pay her interest on a small note.

The point made by the defense was that Mrs. Price had everything she needed, and Mr. Self stated in his argument that what Mrs. Price needed was a needle to sew up the family wounds, instead of a knife to cut them deeper. Attorneys for the defendant did not place any witnesses on the stand, saying later that they had no desire to bring out incidents in the home life of the couple that would make reconciliation more difficult.

Mr. Whitener after quiet had been restored in the court room as the result of the fight resumed his argument as if nothing had occurred and made a vigorous appeal for conviction.

"Millinery of Style"

Jane Warren has taken one drop of the deadly portion, instead of administering the fatal two to Clarke, revives her and threatens to torture Clarke unless he signs the will. The old man collapses with fright and Zulph pronounces him dead. The physician then searches for the casket, realizes Beverly has it, and sends the kidnappers to her home. She flees from them and is pursued to Strong's apartment, where they lock her in a closet and hide just as Strong, Mrs. Morton and Eunice enter. Beverly cries for help and Strong opens the closet door. Seeing a beautiful girl hidden in the apartment, Mrs. Morton tells Strong explanations would be impossible as well as painful and departs with her daughter.

Strong, in a rare at Beverly, accuses her of having staged the whole kidnapping scene to compromise him and intimates that it is a blackmailing plot. He orders her out of the place. After her departure the gangsters, in search of the casket, attack Strong. One of them blackjacks him and he falls into their arms.
