THE MODERN SAMSON

Chicago Post. When Samson found himself at last in the banquet hall of the lords of the Philistines he leaned against the pillars and brought down the roof—thus destroying himself and all others beneath it.

William II has leaned hard on the pillars of monarchy. The Romanoff pillar cracked and Nicholas was crushed in the ruin. Constantine fell when the supports of his dynasty broke beneath the strain and Hohenzollern friendship. Now Alphonso is threatened with disaster as the result of William's intrigues, and Austria's young emperor sees his government crumbling for the sins of Potsdam. Even Sweden's king has heard rumbling of menace.

There is this difference between Samson of old and Samson of today—the former destroyed his enemies, the latter is destroying his friends, or those who have refused to become his open foes.

But there will be no difference in the result of Samson. He, too, will perish.

Setzer, new officers were elected for the ensuing six months. DOG CAUGHT CHICKEN IN MRS. STEVENSON'S LOT

The owner of a little bob-tailed white dog will please take notice that it is as bad as some cats and is destined to meet a sudden and violent death if it is not made to mend its ways. This morning the canine rushed into the yard of Dr. T. F. Stevenson and picked up a large fryer and rushed out again. Mrs. Stevenson saw the dog, but was not quick enough for it. Any man or woman who has raised chickens until they are ready to fry will put up a horse shoe for Mrs. Stevenson in the hope that it will bring luck when it sees that dog in her chicken lot again—especially in view of the cost of chicken feed.

GERMANY GETS FOOD FROM THE NEUTRALS

Washington, July 2.—Evidence that Germany is obtaining vast quantities of food from the European neutral countries has been presented to the United States by Great Britain for the American government's guidance in determining an export policy. Much of this, the British statistics purport to show, is replaced by the neutrals with imports from America.

From Scandinavia, the information sets forth, enough fat is going into Germany to supply 7,700,000 soldiers virtually the entire army of effectives in the empire. German imports from these countries, it is declared, reduced to calories, will equal the total ration of 2,500,000 troops the size of the German army in the west.

German purchases of foodstuffs abroad are made through the government department of the interior, which has organized a special division to buy from the neutrals. In the early days of the war the German government stimulated importation of food by excluding imports from operation of maximum price laws, but this drew such vigorous protest from German producers the practice was stopped.

Yet the German authorities are said to be using coercion in exchanging for food stuffs bought in the neutral countries, coal and other commodities necessary for maintenance of the neutral industries. To some extent this coercion has been recognized by the British in operation of their blockade but with the entry of America into the war the British believe an arrangement can be made for supplying the neutrals with most of their necessary requirements from the allied countries.

BIG GUNS HAVE TURNED TIDE FOR THE ENTENTE

British Headquarters in France, July 1.—(By Associated Press).—American officers, who have been studying conditions on this front for some time past, say they are wonderfully impressed with the British artillery, which has made them more than ever conscious of the immense efforts the United States will have to make in that direction. The American people have been quick to appreciate the value of the great aerial fleets of battle and scouting planes; the air service appeared at once to their imagination. But when, after all is said and done, it has been guns and still more guns, shells and still more shells, that have turned the tide of war in favor of the entente allies.

The artillery has solved most of the problems of modern war. It was the artillery that blew the Germans from their grim grip on Vimy ridge; it was the artillery that shook them loose from their nearly three years' hold on the high ground about Messines. It was the artillery that shattered and drummed the steel and concrete defenses of the Hindenburg line from Arras nearly all the way to Queant. It is the artillery today that is harassing and pounding the Germans until they are fairly dazed when the infantry attacks begin.

The limited depth of the battles today is due to the fact that the infantry must not get beyond the protecting cover of their artillery. It was with enormous guns, which no other nations possessed, that the Germans expected to blast their way to quick victory in 1914.

Now their military ambitions and their military progress are being dashed to pieces against the rocks of skilled supremacy in guns and gunners. Guns, airplanes and infantry from the great unity in main war; they can only move hand in hand.

The life of high velocity guns at the rate of fire it is now necessary to maintain is very short, necessitating constant replacements and re-linings of barrels. It is one of the most significant phases of the war as it approaches the end of the third year, that the allies, including America, with a wealth of raw materials at their disposal can make these replacements while the Germans are becoming more and more desperately in need in that respect. Their artillery is very strong at times, but the shelling in which they indulge is as nothing compared with what must be endured by the Germans from the allied guns.

SPECIAL AT THE PASTIME TUESDAY JULY 3rd

Louise Huff and Jack Pickford (a brother of Mary Pickford) are the stars in "Great Expectations" a five part Paramount feature which will be shown at the Pastime theatre Tuesday afternoon and night, July 3rd. The following is a short synopsis of the story: A faithful adaptation of Charles Dickens' celebrated novel, "Great Expectations," aside from being the work of the master novelist, combines action and mystery to an unusual degree. In this story Dickens developed two of his most interesting characters in Brock, the escaped convict, and Miss Havisham, the spinster who had been deserted at the altar and who planned to revenge herself upon all men by having her beautiful adopted daughter break their hearts. Produced by the Famous Players Film Co.

That Socialists will fight was demonstrated by the Boston parade, when a number of the pacifists used their fists effectively. All this peace at any price business is two-thirds bunk.

RED BLOOD AND COURAGE!

(By Dr. W. C. Lucas) What drives the men right up to the trenches in this war is courage, and it's red blood that "puts the heart" in the men. Did any one ever see a young, thin-blooded man ever rush into the fight with any chance of winning out? With rich, pure blood you can face any hardship, reach any goal. But you are handicapped in the race of life without it. Every tissue, bone, muscle, should take from the blood certain materials and return to it certain others. This process insures perfect health. When the poisons accumulate in the blood, perhaps the face breaks out in pimples, or boils appear on the face, and we feel languid, tired, our vitality is at a low ebb, and we easily catch cold.

It's time to take an alterative extract and blood-purifier taken from Nature's forests. Such a one is made up of Golden Seal Blood and Stone root, Oregon Grape and Queen's root—extracted with glycerine and made into sugar-coated tablets or liquid, and this has been sold by druggists for the past fifty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's always efficacious in the spring when the blood is run down and you need a wholesome tonic. Try this old-fashioned but reliable remedy, without alcohol! If you are occasionally troubled with rheumatic pains or lumbago, pain in the back, toes or muscles of the body, this is due to uric acid stored in the system. The liver and kidneys do not act properly. For such a person, I advise taking Anuric (double strength) three times daily for a week or two. This Anuric draws out the uric acid which accumulates, and if taken occasionally will prevent or cure rheumatism and gout. There is no difficulty in obtaining Anuric at any drug store. adv
