GERMANY'S TROUBLES PROBABLY TEMPORARY

Washington, July 11.—Germany's latest political difficulties are regarded by officials here as due to internal problems and probably of a transitory nature only.

The dismissal of Foreign Secretary Zimmermann, Minister of Finance Hirth and even Chancellor Bethmann-Hollweg himself would be considered largely a surface movement.

Harry Lauder's War Experience Springfield Republican.

In this era of "canned music" no home is without records which reproduce the Scottish ballads sung by Harry Lauder. That has availed to give international knowledge of him, quite apart from his personal appearance before countless audiences.

The genial old comedian is a universal favorite, and the news that Harry Lauder's son, John, had been killed in France touched many hearts. Word of this bereavement came while Lauder was singing in the music hall in London. On leaving the stage he faced this overwhelming blow. He rushed to France, and there heard the story of how his boy had turned to God in the trenches and how bravely he died.

Then Lauder hastened to comfort his wife at his Scottish home, where a good old dominie went to console him. He found Lauder in an armchair by the fireplace. "Ah," said the singer, "the loss of my bonnie boy grieved me sore" (greet is Scotch for grieve). "We were pals, my boy and I, and if you could have seen that little white cross in France you might imagine a little of the ache that came into my heart and the emptiness that came into my life. When a great blow like that hits a man he takes one of three roads. He may give away to despair, sour on the world and become a grouch. He may try to drown his sorrow in drink and become a wreck, or he may turn to God. I have chosen my road. I have turned to God."

That is why Harry Lauder has been singing and talking to the soldiers in the concentration camps in England and in the camps behind the battle lines in France and Belgium. We may well believe that when Lauder tells the story of the loss of his son and of his own spiritual decision soldiers hear him gladly. In this man's experience is revealed a side of the war that touches the essentials of human life. That which came to Mr. Britling in the novel of H. G. Wells has been exemplified more perfectly in the experience of Harry Lauder.

Cannot Advance; Dare Not Retreat New York Herald.

In a striking article analyzing the German offensive against the French, contributed to the European edition of the Herald, Gen. Berthaut shows that the character of the attacks clearly reveals the weakness of the German position. There is nothing in those attacks to indicate that the Germans are attempting a real forward drive, their sole purpose evidently being to recover ground previously lost to the French.

Is that the way to prepare a general offensive asks General Berthaut, the salient points of whose article appear in a special cable dispatch from Paris to today's Herald. Comparison of the present methods with those that marked the German offensives on the Yser and at Verdun; with the French drives in Artois, Picard and Champagne, and with the recent British drive in Belgium furnishes the answer to General Ber-thaut's question, and that answer is in the negative. The crown prince and other German commanders force recurring waves of German lambs into the slaughter pens at Verdun and at other points on the front, and the only result is heavy toll of slaughtered Germans.

But what else can German commanders do? They must make a show of activity for effect in Germany. They cannot advance—that is certain and they know it, they dare not retreat lest the weakness revealed by retreat precipitate the political disturbances in Germany which must be prevented if the Hohenzollern is to retain the throne that now is his.

BOMB EXPLOSIONS REPORTED IN CHICAGO

Chicago, July 11.—Three bomb explosions in widely separated sections of the South Side early today caused the death of one man and the fatal injury of another and some property damage.

Two of the explosions are laid at the doors of the "Black Hand" and the other two were said to be the result of labor troubles.

REIGN OF INDUSTRIAL WORKERS AT END

Jerome, Ariz., July 11.—"The reign of the Industrial Workers of the World in Jerome is at an end," said Mayor J. J. Cain, as he stood in the railroad yards and watched two cattle cars loaded with men disappear in the distance. The cars were hooked up to a locomotive and the short train was run as an "extra" its destination being Jerome junction, twenty-seven miles away.

Deportation of the men came after a "drive" in which hundreds of miners and other citizens all armed, participated with the object of "cleaning up" the town. All of the men were considered by Jerome city officials to be "undesirables" because of a strike called in the copper district by the metal miners branch of the Industrial Workers of the World which was repudiated by the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers. Many men had heard of the "drive" and left Jerome early yesterday morning. After the men were placed in the cattle cars they were given plenty of drinking water, but nothing to eat. As the train pulled out several shouted at the citizens:

"We'll come back."

"KILLE AT TRESTLE"

Mr. Claud Marrow, who lived at Claremont, was killed at Connelly Springs this afternoon at 2:20 when a trestle bent fell on him while he was at work. The body was brought here and prepared for burial. Details of the accident were not obtainable at press time.
