HARD ON SUFFS

We are not as gallant as Editor Gray of the Raleigh Times and therefore not as sympathetic towards the woman's party pickets, but we do protest most bitterly at the outrage imposed on the several prisoners by the Washington police, Any resentment we may have felt against the girls for flaunting those ugly and seditious banners in front of the white house melts away in the late-August sun in the face of the chagrin caused by the inconsiderate action of the custodians of these Dollies and Flossies who are battling for liberty in the cells at Washing-We appeal to the federal government to abate the outrage, to punish the police, to hang them if

The ladies are not complaining at being dressed like other violators of the law, they have no grievance against the food, the beds and other discomforts of prison vile.

But the order of the police forbidding the imprisoned pickets to be interviewed by the newspaper reporters, is otrageous, and as is resented by them as a cruel blow. Mercy, must these brave women who have left their husbands and babes to the tender mercies of the casuar servants be denied the alienable right to give interviews to the Washington newspapers? In the name of Patrick Henry, forbid it.

IF WORST OCCURS

Americans who read newspapers know what the German government, through its agencies, was able to do in the United States. The plots hatched out in this country are an old story, even the effort to induce Mexico and Japan to attack the United States being stale.

If the Germans were able to do so much devilment in the United States, where the people were positively hostile to them, it readily can realized how much more mischief they can do in a country which has been bands among those whose wounds ununder German influence for years. where there is an element bent on having the autocracy restored regardless of consequences and where the provisional government is naving all it can do to exist in the face of Socialism and other dreamers.

Nobody knows what will happen to That country may be bathed in its 1917, at twelve o'clock, noon, for own blood before order is restored. and it may pass under the complete domination of the Hohenzollerns. The outlook is not rosy. There is chance of making Russia fight for the central powers, but there is danger that Russia will be rendered impotent to fight at all.

In such an event, Germany will not be interested in the pope's peace efforts, and the job undertaken by the allies will be all the greater.

Miss Beatrice Cobb of Morganto, and Mrs. J. G. Boylin of Wadesboro are conspicuous examples of women who have made a success of the newspaper game in North Carolina. Another woman writer, Miss Susan F Iden of the Raleigh Times, probably is the best reporter ever graduated in this state. Miss Iden knows the game from A to Z and can handle wedding or a political convention with Governor Manning of South Carolina has four sons in the army which is in sharp contrast to a former governor of South Carolina; who is doing everything in his power to hinder the government.

Those farmers who are holding for $5 wheat may have to sell for $2, a price that, before the war and high prices in everything, would have made them grin.

SPOKEN LIKE AN AMERICAN

Louis N. Hammerling, presiden. of the National Association of Foreign Language Newspapers, answered the National Security League as follows:

"I congratulate you on the spleadid manner in which you addressed the editors of the German newspapers printed in America. I believe Subscribers desiring the address of their paper changed, will please state in their communication both OLD and April or three years ago. I can not see, for the life of me, why the German newspapers printed in the United States should be anything else subscribers should call 167 regarding but Americans. The Germans who come here to make this country their home, and the ones who were born here, certainly should have it as their country. The Germans should be Three months _____ 1.00 the ones who live in Germany. The same thing should apply to every other race, and whoever is here should be American, first, last and all the time."

Mr. Hammerling takes a position that a good many persons whose ancestors came here many years ago night imitate.

Most Americans will wonder why the Dutch government stands for the indignities imposed on it by the German government, but it must be borne in mind that the Dutch frontier is vulnerable and the Hollanders have had plenty of examples of a brave people fighting for their rights. In at least two places the Netherlands could be attacked and the country overrun, and when the Germans make a threat, as they have done in the case of requiring the use of Dutch ships five years after the close of up with a shift of an army corps or two to the Dutch frontier.
