gan, an aged white man committed to the hospital in Morganton several months ago, is making an effort for his release. His discharge from the institution would not be relinquished by a number of Hickory people who are familiar with his ways.

Capt. Elon Abernethy, son of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Abernethy, is stationed at Laredo, Texas. Since graduating from West Point this young man has risen from second lieutenant to senior captain of infantry.

The Senior Luther League of Holy Trinity Lutheran church will hold its monthly and social meeting tonight at the home of the Misses Dietz's on Eighth avenue. All members are requested to be present.

Loy Hass of Newton, who escaped from the hospital at Morganton, was picked up in Longview by Chief Lentz this morning and held pending the arrival of authorities from Morganton. Like all persons who break from the state hospital, Hass declared he was never there and said the authorities had no business with him. City Manager Ballew, formerly connected with the institution, questioned him about several officers and employees and Hass said he knew them.

MRS. BOST'S TRIBUTE AT DR. MURPHY'S FUNERAL

This is the saddest day in the history of Corinth congregation. It is the first time we have been called upon to give up a beloved pastor, by death.

Because he has been our pastor for nearly 27 years the blow is the more keenly felt; because we have learned to love him more and more as the years passed, our loss is the greater; because we will not see his like again, our cheeks are tear-stained, and our hearts are aching. While we mingle our tears for our irreparable loss, we thank God for his beautiful life among us for his long and faithful pastorate. We recall his readiness to respond to all appeals for help whether for the body or the mind—for his own members or otherwise.

When sickness and death entered the home, none could give such words of comfort as he.

If he is permitted to see us paying loving tribute to his memory today, and to hear our halting words we would say "Wherein we have failed to do our part—whether from indifference or ignorance or whatever the reason, forgive us!"

If we could call him back, this would be the uppermost thought in our minds to try to voice the appreciation we have felt all these years but have too often forgotten to express. Surely no pastor was ever so beloved, no congregation ever so bereaved.

Our thoughts go back today through his twenty-seven years of working for others and we know there must be many stars in his crown as the result of his labors. While our eyes are tear-dimmed and our hearts are aching at our loss, we are comforted to know that he has "met his Pilot face to face," since he has crossed the bar.

—MRS. C. C. BOST.

EXHIBITS AT STATE FAIR. Whoever has visited the State Fair the past two or three years remembers the health exhibit. This year an entirely different and altogether new health exhibit will greet you. You will at once be attracted to the electrically illuminated models which portray health conditions as are miniature productions, on an inch a foot scale or one twelfth actual size, of the most important conditions found in real life that influence disease. In addition to the twenty four models, there will be twenty four illustrated panels, each treating a distinct and different phase of a health story. The subjects that will be fully treated by both, the models and panels, will be typhoid fever, tuberculosis and child-welfare. Free health literature on all of the most important health subjects will be for distribution.

Instead of having only one health exhibit this year, the state board of health has prepared a second exhibit which will be in connection with the better babies contest in the woman's building. This exhibit is a complete treatment of the baby's needs from its birth to school years. Mother having babies in the contest will find this exhibit both interesting and instructive. Besides the two health exhibits, moving pictures will be shown free every day during the fair. The people will appreciate the attractive ways the state board of health has devised to teach them health.

Mrs. Abernethy Hostess

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. W. L. Abernethy was hostess to the Round Dozen Book Club. All the members except Mrs. Hugh S. D'Almeida, Mrs. J. L. Murphy and Mrs. J. Worth Elliott were present. The book for the afternoon was "The Golden Hinges." This book was of special interest as the author, Mrs. F. L. Townsend is a North Carolinian. At the request of the hostess, Mrs. C. C. Bost read an O'Henry story. Delicious refreshments were served. The next meeting October 31, will be with Mrs. J. F. Allen.

For Mrs. West

Durham, N. C., Oct. 18.—At her home on Third street, Trinity Heights, Mrs. James J. Wolfe at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon entertained in honor of her guest, Mrs. C. B. West of Hickory. The home of Mrs. Wolfe was beautifully and tastefully adorned for the occasion, potted plants and fall flowers greeting the eye at every turn. The meeting was in the nature of a reception tendered to a former member of the Dorcas Sewing Club, as the guest of the occasion was a member of this club during her residence in Durham, and at her return for a visit Mrs. West's friends delighted to do her honor.

As the pleasant affair drew to a close delicious refreshments were served, and the invited guests will long remember this as one of the pleasant social events of the campus during this year.

Among those present besides the hostess and the guest of the afternoon, Mrs. C. B. West, were Mesdames R. N. Willson, C. L. Hornaday, I. B. McKay, D. W. Newson, F. S. Aldridge, T. L. McClees, P. Breedlove, R. E. L. Skinner, H. M. Ellis, W. W. Card and Misses Ruth Battle, Nellie McClees and Ethel Breedlove.

TO LAUNCH CAMPAIGN IN MURPHY'S FRIENDS

Salisbury, Oct. 18.—Friends of Walter Murphy have sent out a call for a gathering to organize for the purpose of launching a campaign to make him the Democratic candidate for congress in this district next year. The call is signed by nine Salisbury men and reads:

"Believing that our district should have a representative in congress in accord with the administration, and more in accord with the views and wishes of our people, some of his friends from all over the district have urged Walter Murphy to make the race for congress. They feel that it is due him, and due them, that his home people show that they are with him. With this in mind a few of us have decided to ask a few more to meet at the Elk's home on Friday evening, October 19, at 8 o'clock for the purpose of forming a Murphy club. As one of his particular friends you are urged to be present."
