M'CLURE IS GIVEN VOTE OF REGRETS

Raleigh, Nov. 22.—Colonel S. S. McClure's vote of regrets near midnight as he closed a most orthodox assault upon German military methods in Belgium and France and German diplomatic methods toward the world, gave the gentleman who was denied the platform of the university last week an able-bodied comeback.

The State Literary and Historical Society, whose guest the New York publicist was, put itself on record, as regretful that the colonel's loyalty had been questioned. North Carolina papers which had criticized Dr. Edward K. Graham and fellow workers for their failure to detect the McClure faux pas until James H. Pou brought the case up, get in a little late. Just as they are berating the university man for stopping Colonel McClure, even belatedly, here comes the highbrow ed body of the state taking it all back and in the language of the Texas mob that lynched the wrong man, admitting "the joke is on us." The colonel left today much comforted over having squared himself and having harmonized the discords that have been played in McClure's and the New York Evening Mail since he quit both. Wherever he had been he was received with considerable eclat. A Texas paper submitted a fine editorial on "Patriotism and Stupidity," an animadversion upon the university which acted quickly because it could not help it. Those who stopped Colonel McClure did not avail themselves of the best reason they might have had. Some of the papers have been printing his picture and whoever took it and reduced it to single column half tone, was no friend of the gentleman who admitted having gone to Europe with Henry Ford and other amiable peace bugs.—Greensboro News.
