THE BUSY HARDWARE

Local and Personal

Mrs. J. D. Pope spent the week end in Newton with relatives.

Miss Annie Lowe and Miss Mary Freeman have arrived in the city from St. Mairies, Idaho, to spend the winter.

Mrs. B. L. Hine and two children have returned from Winston-Salem where they spent a month with relatives.

Mrs. C. B. West has returned from Columbia where she spent the week end with Mr. West who is a Y. M. C. A. secretary there.

The condition of Mr. Cain Sigmon, who is ill at the home of Mrs. Geo. A. Link on Ninth avenue, contains critical and there is scarcely no hope of his recovery. The end is expected in a few days at least.

Reading in a newspaper that the navy department was in need of glasses, Mr. J. Worth Elliott promptly forwarded his binoculars and has received a letter of appreciation from Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy. Mr. Roosevelt writes that the glasses will be useful and says that they will be returned after the war if possible. Mr. Elliott hopes that his binoculars will enable a gun crew to spot a submarine, and he will never know that they have not assisted.

LEONARD TUFTS CUTS OUT A LITTLE SUGAR

Pinehurst, N. C., Nov. 26.—Mr. Leonard Tufts, owner and director of the Tufts Winter Resorts in the Sand Hill section, has entered with spirit into active cooperation with the food administration in the operation of his several hotels. Mr. Tufts has some original ideas of his own and is a close observer and the result is that he is effecting a tremendous saving of sugar, meat, and white wheat flour.

Mr. Tufts says that loaf sugar is used to too great an extent by guests as a confection and for feeding horses and for that reason he has cut it out. Another reform is the requirement that all guests write out their own order so that superfluous dishes will not be served. Punches and sherbets of an acid nature and therefore requiring a large amount of sugar have been removed from the menus. A further practice is to save sugar in the abandoning of icing for cakes. The guests at Mr. Tufts' hotels are not kicking. They seem rather to be glad of an opportunity to cooperate in the matter of saving and substitution of foodstuffs for the benefit of the boys at the front and our allies.

RETAIL DEALERS MUST ASK FOR LICENSES

Raleigh, Nov. 26.—Steps will be initiated immediately to suspend the trading operations of firms or persons who are subject to license under the president's proclamation of October 8 unless applications for license are made at once, according to a telegram received from Mr. Herbert Hoover by State Food Administrator Henry A. Page.

In his wire Mr. Hoover stated that many firms and individuals had failed so far to make application, notwithstanding the fact that they should have done so before November 1st. Mr. Hoover's telegram was in effect an announcement to these that "Time's Up."

Firms which have licenses are expressly forbidden to buy food commodities from sell them to, or handle them for any person or firm who is required to have a license but who has not secured the license and complied with the provision which requires the license to be placed on every contract, order, acceptance of order, invoice, quotation and price list his license number. Any infringement of this rule should be reported to State Food Administrator Page.

AUSTRO-GERMAN DEMANDS

Springfield Republican.

The invasion of Italy gives interest not only to recent demands in the inspired Austrian press for the rectification of the Italian frontier, but to the pamphlet on making the allies pay the bills which the German general staff has been distributing to the trenches to the disgust of the socialists. In estimating that Germany must get tribute from its enemies of about $3,250,000,000 a year and Austria and the smaller central states nearly $2,500,000,000, the writers explain that "Austria-Hungary will look principally to Italy and Serbia, and Bulgaria to Serbia and Rumania for this purpose while Turkey will insist in the first instance the restoration of Egypt and Tripoli." Germany's share of the plunder, capitalized at $50,000,000,000, allows for $6,000,000,000 from Belgium, a little less from occupied French territory, and great sums from Poland, Lithuania and Rumania. Coal mines, iron fields, railways, oil wells, forests, etc., are to be pledged and operated by the German government, till it is reimbursed for what the German crown prince calls "this stupid war." Well, Italy is another step in this program which the German general staff has been teaching to the German army. It is for the allies to pool their forces and foil these freebooters.

SENATOR REED ATE FISH

St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The ironical prowess which has stood Senator Reed in such good stead in hundreds of bitter courtroom contests and has made him feared in senatorial debates seems to have slipped a cog when the senator encountered a Missouri landlady the other day.

It happened at breakfast on meatless Tuesday. There was never bacon nor ham nor steak nor chops on the table and the senator's appetite was all primed for a regular meal. The hostess was summoned. She was sorry, but she begged to remind her hungry guests of the solemn and patriotic reasons why he would have to be content with fish. He presented a series of cogent reasons why he ought to have next and not fish setting them out in a lawyer-like way. The landlady heard him through with meek patience, told him the fish that morning was superfine and advised him to drop in and talk it over with Hoover the next time he was in Washington.

Just what Senator Reed would do to pulverize any mere man who even hinted at the possibility of his asking Hoover about anything cannot be imagined. But what he did about the landlady's suggestion is quite clear. He ate the fish.

SHERMAN SAID "WAR IS HELL"

Letter of J. H. Galbraith in New York World.

In answer to inquiries as to where Gen. William T. Sherman said war was hell, and to refute intimations that he never said it at all, the Columbus Dispatch asserts that Gen. Sherman said it here in Columbus on August 12, 1860, and in support of the assertion produces from its files the copy of a short address he made here at that time in which the now famous definition of war was made.

The occasion was a reunion of the civil war soldiers of Ohio. President Hayes was a guest of honor and most of the living generals of the civil war were present. The address was made in the open in Franklin park. It was raining hard when Gen. Sherman's turn came to speak, but he stood out uncovered and delivered his short speech. As published, it contained just 308 words. Alluding to the fact that old soldiers did not mind rain, he continued: "You all know that this is not soldiering. There is many a boy here today who thinks war is all glory, but, boys, it is all hell. You can bear that warning to generations yet to come. I look upon it with horror, but if it has to come, I am here."

This last clause brought great applause, and when it subsided the general proceeded on another line of thought.
