AMERICA IN WAR

America's participation in the war is as wholehearted as it is thorough. Two weeks after the declaration, American war vessels were in a British port and in answer to the British query as to their needs, our commander declared the readiness of his ships and men to take up their burdens.

Soon after the declaration of war, President Wilson announced that General Pershing would lead a division of regulars to France and that these troops would be supplemented by others as rapidly as possible. American troops last fall appeared in the trenches. Later they took over quiet sectors on the French front and they are holding at least four small sectors on the French battle field.

A few days ago American troops were brigaded with the French defending Amiens. Yesterday it was announced that new American forces are being brigaded with the British in Flanders. They are moving to France in large numbers and they are being taken care of by the government.

Troops from the south are undoubtedly with the British and soon, it is safe to say, troops from North Carolina will be in the big battle in Flanders.

It is more incumbent on us at home than ever to do our part. We should aid the Red Cross. First we should hear Judge Pritchard tomorrow afternoon. Then let us go over the top with our free contributions.

CANT BREAK ALLIANCE

When President Wilson speaks in reference to the German efforts to divide the allies, he will do it in a way to make the point of liaison stronger. The German effort, it must be borne in mind, is not an effort to obtain an honorable peace, but to cause dissension among the allies so that this coalition, the most remarkable in the history of the world, will break up as the result of jealousies.

In the Napoleonic wars when emperors and kings made war or peace, and when representative government was not strong, it was comparatively easy for Napoleon to play one monarch against the other and he did it with consummate skill. Clumsy German diplomacy is driving at the same end. It cannot be obtained. Germany is as autocratic as France was under Napoleon, the menace is much greater to the world, and all the peoples of all the allies are aware of the fact.

If nothing else had opened the eyes of the allied peoples, the treatment of the Russians would have been sufficient. Here we find a nation laying down its arms and suffering from oppression at the hands of the Prussians. That is the fate that would befall all other peoples, including the United States, and that is the fate Lloyd George, Clemenceau and Wilson are determined to prevent.

A typographical error in the report of Dr. Raper's address here made him say that he ran across an old friend whom he had not seen in "18 years." It should have been 28 years. That man was Mr. Geo. F. Ivey and Dr. Raper said later that Ivey was as young looking as ever, the only difference in his appearance being a few extra lines across his face.

JUDGE COUNCIL OUT

Judge Council's retirement from the race for the house in this district does not stop his supporters from voting for him if they so desire. He has paid his entrance fee and announced publicly that he would not make a contest and thereby eliminated himself from consideration.

There happens to be a vacancy in a District of Columbia judgeship and Mr. Webb is mentioned for the place. The president might name him. In that event, the Hickory lawyer would have a clear field, provided the appointment is made before the primary election.

The Record regrets that Judge Council has retired from the race. This paper wanted to support him. It can nabide by the result, however, and will urge the voters to stand by Mr. Webb. The reasons can be stated later.

The Record does not begin to approach in effectiveness the remarkable advertisements being contributed by Hickory people in the interest of the Red Cross. The men who wrote those advertisements make from $5,000 to $50,000 a year at the business, but they prepared them free of charge in order that the great work of the Red Cross might be known in every community in this broad land.

The pig sale will be held a week from today. There will be lots of bidders, because the pigs are worth the price and there are premiums that will be a small fortune to some lucky owners.

It is urged that each man contribute a day's wages to the Red Cross. Cut down on something if you can and help support those men who have gone across to fight for you.

All you will get out of your contribution to the Red Cross is the joy of knowing that you have done a blessed thing.

Be sure and hear Judge Pritchard at the Reformed church tomorrow afternoon.

PRESIDENT IN GOTHAM CHEERED BY THrong

New York, May 18.—President Wilson came to New York yesterday to review today the great Red Cross parade and to open with an address tonight the Red Cross drive for a $100,000,000 war fund. He was met at the station by Col. and Mrs. Edward M. House, at whose home he and Mrs. Wilson denied last night before going to a theatre.

Although the time of the president's arrival was unannounced thousands at the station and on the streets leading to the hotel at which he stopped, recognized him and cheered as he passed. Later in the day crowds homeward bound from the downtown district gave him an ovation when, with Colonel House and Mrs. Wilson, he went for a 15-minute ride through the city.

MEETINGS NEXT WEEK FOR COMMUNITY FAIRS

The following is the schedule of the meetings for the coming week: Thursday, 3 p. m.—Terrell community. Wednesday night—Mt. Olive. Friday night—Rockett. Saturday night—Love.

The meetings at Mt. Olive and Rockett are for the purpose of completing plans for the community fair this fall. All are urged to be present.

We are very anxious to have a real good, live community club at Loves. This, however, is up to the community and we trust every one interested will attend this meeting. MARY ROWE, HOMER H. B. MASK, County Agents.

Miss Martin Entertains On Wednesday afternoon the "As You Like It Club" was entertained by Miss Mary Bount Martin in honor of Miss Mildred Strachan of Salisbury. All the members of the club were present except Miss Charlotte Garth, who is visiting relatives in Tennessee.

Various games were enjoyed. Miss Louise Cilley won the club prize, a Thrift Stamp. A lovely crepe de chine handkerchief was given the guest of honor. Delightful refreshments consisting of cake and cream were served by the hostess.

RAISE PIGS—CONTROL DISEASES

By Dan T. Gray, Chief, Division of Animal Industry. Our armies and our allies need meat and lard—need more than the world is now producing. If this extra meat and lard are to be produced, America must do it. After a careful survey of the situation, the food Administration asked the American people to produce 15 per cent more hogs this year than last, but North Carolina was asked to increase the number of her hogs only 10 per cent.

Is she going to do it? At the present time it doesn't look as though she would, as the last crop reports shows us to have just exactly as many sows as we had a year ago. And it takes sows to produce hogs. But North Carolina can still do what is expected of her if from now on the following things are done:

1. Not a single breeding sow or an available gilt should be slaughtered or sold except to some one who wants a brood sow. They should all be kept and bred this spring for a full litter of pigs. The mother and pigs should be provided with good shelter so that the mother may have a chance to do her part.

2. People who live in cities and towns should arrange to fatten a pig this fall and winter. The town people of Germany are fattening just this way over 4,000,000 pigs in almost every one of almost four times as many as all the people of the state of North Carolina. A pig, when properly cared for is not as insanitary as a dog.

3. Diseases, especially cholera, should be controlled. Last year 80,520 hogs in this state died of disease—a loss that could be almost completely eliminated if proper sanitary and control measures were employed. We can't afford to lose 7 per cent of our whole hog crop each year, and it is not necessary.

4. Proper feeds should be provided so that the owner can afford to make the hogs larger than they have been made in the past. Twenty-five to fifty extra pounds should be placed upon each hog this winter before he is slaughtered or sold. To do this profitably pastures should be prepared now. A special effort should be made this spring and early summer to plant largely of all good hog crops, as peanuts, soybeans, cowpeas, and velvet beans. When fall arrives, good winter-growing crops should be put in, as rape, rye and oats.

POSTOFFICE EMPLOYEES SHOW THEIR PATRIOTISM

Hickory postoffice employes have been doing unusually good work for the nation. All are striving to sell War Savings Stamps and all are making a record that has put Hickory in the front rank. This is a known fact.

But the force wants to do more. The carriers will accept contributions for the Red Cross and the postoffice force will wait on anybody who desires to aid in this work of mercy. They are not content to give their bit, work hard to enlist aid from others, but they go farther—they have contracted for a page ad in Monday's Record.

The Record, in appreciation of the splendid work of the postoffice force, offered to donate space for an advertisement signed by them. But they wouldn't accept a free ad. Instead they have ordered a whole page. That's the way the employes of the postoffice feel.

A NERVOUS WRECK

From Three Years Suffering. Says Cardui Made Her Well.

Texas City, Tex.—In an interesting statement, Mrs. G. H. Schill, of this town, says: "For three years I suffered untold agony with my head. I was unable to do any of my work.

I just wanted to sleep all the time, for that was the only ease I could get, when I was asleep. I became a nervous wreck just from the awful suffering with my head.

I was so nervous that the least noise would make me jump out of my bed. I had no energy, and was unable to do anything. My son, a young boy, had to do all my household duties.

I was not able to do anything until I took Cardui. I took three bottles in all, and it surely cured me of those awful headaches. That has been three years ago, and I know the cure is permanent, for I have never had any headache since taking Cardui.

Nothing relieved me until I took Cardui. It did wonders for me." Try Cardui for your troubles—made from medicinal ingredients recommended in medical books as being of benefit in female troubles, and 40 years of use has proven that the books are right. Begin taking Cardui today. NC-134

LETTER IN THE MORNING MAIL

How Mrs. Lane Finally Realized That Thousands of Other Mothers' Sons Are at War Sobered Battle Front.

By MAXIMILIAN FOSTER Of the Vigilantes.

Mathematics teach us that 1 from 1 leaves nothing, and there is also the well known biological theorem that you cannot get blood from a turnip. It is also assumed, Sir Isaac Newton having demonstrated the law, that what goes up is bound to come down, but this is only abstract. Mrs. Lane probably would have denied it.

The flat rent, previously $1,200 a year, now was $1,400, and it showed no signs whatever of coming down. The same condition applied also to her children's shoes. The shoes now cost $7, whereas they formerly had cost $4. But this was merely a detail. A similar phenomenon occurred as to beefsteaks, potatoes, butter, fish and the 57 other varieties of domestic essentials. All had gone up; none had come down. About the only thing stable in Mrs. Lane's cosmos was Mr. Lane's yearly income. This was $7,000 a year. Already Mrs. Lane had given up one maid. The war literally was at her door. True, Mrs. Lane had no son no brother—no kin of any kind—in the war, but the war still was at her door.

Hard to Make Ends Meet. Give money for the war? What do you think she was doing, anyway? She was giving every cent she had, trying to make both ends meet in her household. It hurt, though. Mrs. Lane was a kindly, warm hearted woman, and she would have liked to give. The war was dreadful! It was so dreadful she'd stopped reading about it. But one must read letters. One must do that when a friend takes the trouble to write them.

The letter came in the morning mail. Mrs. Lane read it, then she read it again. Afterward she sat there absorbed, silent, rigid. The color had crept out of her face, and her breath came swiftly from between her parted lips. "I have just come back from the canteen," it read. "Such an afternoon! A trainload of seriously wounded to be fed at once, which is trying; as one has to climb into all the carriages, one after the other. We begin with the men who are well enough to sit up and handle their cups, and those who are too ill even to lift their heads, of course, we have to lift and feed ourselves. Feeding the ones with bad face wounds are the hardest.

The Happiest Individual is the person who is always trying to do something to better his home and the community in which he lives. He is also the most valuable individual to the nation. Constructive work is the only kind of work that has permanent value. The highest type of citizen is he who exerts every endeavor to develop his own family to its highest point of usefulness, and who uses due care to provide for the future well being of his family with a just regard for the rights and privileges of his neighbors. This means that you not only safeguard your own financial future, but that of your family as well, by accumulating funds in a thoroughly responsible financial institution, such as the following, to provide for your own declining years and for your family's future in death.
