MONDAY, APRIL 7, 1919

The University executive committee has increased the salary of Dr. E. C. Branson, professor of rural economics and sociology, thanks to the Kenna foundation, and the University of Virginia will not draw him from his native state.

Business generally has picked up throughout the country and in Hickory there is an increasing demand for manufactured goods. The lumber business is not good yet, but it is expected to hum when building is resumed.

The state highway commission will pay chief attention to maintenance, it is announced. The commission knows the first principles of road improvement without doubt and we may look for a great highway system in North Carolina.

Now is the time for every good man and woman who operate chicken ranges to see that their birds stay within certain well-defined confines. Most people are making gardens in earnest, and it is tough to have a neighbor's fowls ruin the prospects of a gentle gardener.

The Record trusts that the hopen ordinance will be enforced. The weather is getting warm enough to make the odors from stys noisome, and a little later these odors will be nauseating. Either the ordinance should be enforced or repealed.

Charlotte is to have a parade of a fighting regiment. As many people as possible should greet the soldiers. They will make a spectacle the like of which may never be seen again.

The Hickory company left here June 24, 1916, for the Mexican border and has been in service almost continuously since that date. No wonder the boys and their relatives are anxious for their return.

The handsome new linotype is up, but it is not yet ready to do business. By the middle of the week it should be in position to assist the other machine in making the Record a better newspaper.

This community lost a good citizen in Alex Hall. The last several years of his life were without hope, but he showed the fortitude characteristic of strong men in not giving up. Peace to his ashes.

What could have been lovelier than yesterday? Nature smiled her brightest here and everybody seemed appreciative.

It would seem that the enforcement officers in Virginia had set themselves the task of discrediting prohibition.

Neither peaches nor pears have been killed thus far. The chances are in favor of a good fruit year.

And there was another election in Hickory today, though one had difficulty in observing it.

And yet what Hickory needs more than all else are more payroll.

And the home guards will meet again tomorrow night. Hep!

NEEDS OF THE REGULAR ARMY FOR MEN OVERSEAS

Brooklyn Eagle.
With more than 2,000,000 men under arms and at a time when more than 100,000 men are being mustered out every month, the war department is looking for 50,000 volunteers for the army.

The explanation of this remarkable situation is to be found in the manner in which the American army was made up and the peculiar conditions under which it is being demobilized.

The regular army has suffered heavy casualties. Since the selective draft law became effective, replacements have been drafted men.

No one knows how long American troops will be needed in Europe. Certainly we cannot return to the pre-war military strength at any time within the next few years.

England has a similar problem. She needs more troops than France or the United States in the immediate future and doesn't know how to get them.

SLACK TIME IN JAILS

New Hampshire's Fine Record in Crime
Manchester Union.
The Union is moved to deal again with the dwindling jail industry of the state, a subject to which reference was made the other day in connection with the reports of a great decrease in the number of prisoners in Hillsboro county.

Undoubtedly the advocates of prohibition can lay claim to great credit for the improvement. It is not true that New Hampshire is absolutely arid, but it is true that public bars are closed and that such wet importations are smuggled over the line.

It ought to be noted, too, that the time in public behavior, as registered by the thermometer of jail attendance, comes at a time when there might, logically, be expectation of a sharp rising. War times are proverbially times of unrest, even far from the fighting fronts of the disturbance of conditions of orderly existence, of juvenile delinquencies.

DOCTORS PREFER CALOTABS FOR A LAZY LIVER

Wonderful How Bright and Cheerful the World Looks After Taking the New Nauseless Calomel

Have you tried the new nausealess calomel that makes calomel taking a pleasure? If you have, you appreciate the wonderful virtues of calomel when robbed of all its unpleasant and nauseating effects.

Calotabs is the sensation of the year in the drug trade. Pharmacists regard it as a perfect remedy for the liver. Its effect in biliousness, constipation and indigestion is most delightful.
