IBY JOHN PAUL LUCAS) .. Raleigh, April 10 .- The value of by products produced in the encountry during 1920 was close on the Carolina. This total in ther case includes milk consumed farms, but it does include all butter and cheese made and consumed on farms. North Carolina imported last year dairy products of a value equalling the value of the products of the dalry industry in the state for the same year. But even at that, tens of thousands of North Carolina farm families to say nothing of families in towns did not consume any whole milk and used very little butter, cheese and condensed milk. You cannot grow a man without strikingly declared Dr. W. S. health, a few days ago. "From the standpoint of health, I would not wish for anything better than that ch family in North Carolina ould have one or more milk cows." Health experts are agreed that the minimum requirements for the maintenance of health is one quart of milk per day for children under 18 tyears of age, and one pint per day for adults. The milk that is now being produced in North Carolina is just about sufficient, if it were evenly distributed and all used as whole milk, to supply the minimum | By the Associated Press. requirements for the children. In order to supply in addition the minimum requirements for adults nearly 70,000,000 gallons per year would have to be produced.

In order to supply the minimum requirements and at the same time to produce the same proportionate amount of butter it would be necessary for the farmers in North Carna to practically double the numbe of their milk cows. Inasmuch as families which have appreciated value of milk as a food product consumption is two or three nes the minimum requirements it ay readily be seen that to put North Carolina on a really adequate self supporting basis in the matter of dairy products, it would be necessary to treble or possibly to quadruple the number of milk cows.
