URGE COORDINATION IN ADVERTISING

Milwaukee, Wis., June 15.—Coordination of manufacturers and dealers in advertising was recommended at the convention of Associated Advertising Clubs of the World here today by O. C. Harn, advertising manager for the National Lead Company.
"The manufacturer knows his product as no one else can," said Mr. Harn. "He should be able to present its good points in the most convincing manner. The dealer on the other hand has the local contract and the prestige. He can repeat the manufacturer's message with a local emphasis which is very telling."
Mr. Harn declared that in the majority of cases money often spent in expensive literature "would be much more effectively used in buying more newspaper and magazine space and in co-ordinating the work of the distributor with the newspaper magazine advertising."
He urged that in the case of the advertiser which has a rather complicated or unfamiliar product the "need for intensive education probably justifies intensive and extensive follow-up."
"There is only one thing in advertising practice," said Mr. Harn, "as bad as neglect to co-ordinate the various advertising forces which one is using and that is to leave entirely unused some form of advertising or sale effort which would render what we are doing much more effective."
"There was some excuse in the early days for the advertiser to be ignorant as to whether he was buying the advertising force which he aimed to buy. Since the advent of the Audit Bureau of Circulation a few years ago, there has been no such excuse, at least in so far as the buying of newspaper and other periodical space is concerned. And here I wish to pay a tribute to those publishers of newspapers, magazines, farm papers, business papers, and other periodicals who at the request of advertisers set aside their individual ideas and preferences and have joined with the advertiser and agents to solve an innumerable and vexatious situation. Advertisers select these publishers as against those who refuse to co-operate. You owe it to yourselves, first as you would owe it to your customers, to buy a metal tested by an independent laboratory as against one which covered by the manufacturer's own test. But you owe it more acutely, because you yourselves asked the favor and you cannot in honor prefer those who do not comply with your own request."

INTEREST GROWS IN REVIVAL HERE

There was further increase in the attendance at the First Baptist church last night to hear Rev. H. T. Stevens who is conducting a meeting each morning and night. The main auditorium, including the new gallery, was filled last night and there were just a few vacant seats left in the Sunday school room. From present indications there is no doubt but that every seat in the house will be filled by Sunday.
The evangelist spoke last night on "The Exhorted Christ." He went forth to show that Christ was exalted through suffering and that we must suffer many times before we become useful in His service. The message was greatly enjoyed by those present. Mr. Stevens is not one of the sensational type of evangelists but preaches the Gospel in a plain, sane way which appeals to the best that is in a person.
Perhaps the most helpful services to the Christians is the morning. At this service the blackboard is used and is the one more in the form of a Bible conference. There has been a steady increase in the attendance at each of these lectures and much help is being gotten from them.
The music, under the leadership of Mr. W. P. Martin, is very attractive and a special program is arranged for each service. The work of the senior choir is good and there were about 150 boys and girls to add their voices last night in helping Mr. Martin sing. "In the Garden," "The Old Rugged Cross," by Mrs. Essex and Mr. Martin was well received last night.
Services begin each night at eight o'clock and at nine thirty in the morning. The pastor, Rev. W. R. Bradshaw, expressed himself as being highly pleased that the members of other denominations are attending in such great numbers. All are cordially invited to attend meetings.

WILLARD SEEKS ANNUAL BANQUET OF CHAMBER FIGHT WITH DEMPSEY

By The Associated Press.
Los Angeles, June 15.—Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion pugilist of the world, issued a statement in a Los Angeles paper charging Jack Dempsey of dodging through his manager, Jack Kearns, a return match with Willard.
Local sports followers consider the statement a challenge to Dempsey.
Dempsey and Kearns fear me and have been dodging a return match with me since Dempsey won the title. "Willard charged, 'I haven't alibied my defeat at Toledo. I was beaten fairly and squarely, but I have never got a return match. Many thought I was not in condition at Toledo. I wasn't but that was my fault.'"
All roads tonight lead to the Armory where every preparation has been made by the entertainment committee of the Chamber of Commerce for the big annual meeting of the organization.
Upon request by members 300 invitations to attend the banquet have been sent out, and the attendance is expected to be larger ever had at any Chamber of Commerce meeting in this city. A splendid program has been arranged for the occasion which includes the presentation to the retiring board of directors of an appropriate souvenir.
Since the program of the evening includes many interesting speeches besides the election of officers and a new board of directors, promptness in starting the festivities is essential.
Every member and guest is urged to be at the Armory hall promptly at 7 o'clock when the banquet will be served. An elaborate fried chicken dinner with a large variety of accessory condiments make up the menu for the repast, and an enjoyable evening is assured to all who attend.

DECLARES DOYLE HONEST BUT WRONG

The Rev. Grady Cromer Miller, the third son of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Miller of this county to enter the ministry, went to Chicago, Ill., recently to attend a sermon at Maywood, Ill., recently and a Chicago paper carried the following account of the sermon:
Conan Doyle is sincere but mistaken. Thus said Grady C. Miller, of the Lutheran seminary at Maywood, Ill., in a sermon at Holy Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church Sunday, on the subject "Life Beyond the Grave," in discussing Doyle's preachments on spiritualism.
Speaking generally of spiritualism, he declared it to be no new thing, referring to the Witch of Endor who lived 1,000 years before Christ, but stated that, in his belief, it was an instrument of Satan. Referring particularly to Doyle's statements, especially as regards Heaven and hell, he declared them to be in direct opposition to the Bible. "If Doyle is right," he said, "the Bible is wrong. It is a question of accepting Doyle or the Bible." The speaker made it clear, however, that he did not believe Doyle to be "misleading our nation intentionally."
Doyle Popular
Rev. Miller stated that he had taken this subject for discussion because of the fact that the people of the Middle West seemed to be particularly interested in spiritualism at this time, which he thought due in part to Doyle's lectures in Chicago and other cities.
The speaker expressed surprise that a writer of detective stories, who makes no pretense of being a theologian, would cause such an impression with his thoughts on spiritualism. It is being demonstrated, he stated that his doctrines are poisoning the minds of many, making it vital that the Christian pulpit give attention to some of the things with which he is "dealing in his fictitious way."
Referring to Doyle, he said "Doyle's so-called religion is a direct contradiction to the Holy Scriptures. He asserts that all men will ultimately be saved and that there is no hell. He places no emphasis upon belief in Christ as the Savior of man kind." Basing his discussion on these premises, which he said would lead to immorality and careless living, he chose a text from Daniel, quoting a question the prophet asked after he had seen a number of remarkable visions: "What shall be the end of these things?"
What is Beyond
Stating that he would not attempt to answer all of Doyle's statements, he declared that he would confine his remarks to that part of his claims which referred to life beyond the grave, emphasizing the point that his answers would not be man's opinions but the words of God.
The speaker called attention to the natural question on the part of all regarding life beyond the grave and stated that man will make every effort to deduce what the future shall be. The people of the world, he stated, are naturally divided by belief in Christ—the wicked and the right.
