WAS SHADOWED BY DAUGHERTY'S OPERATIVES

By the Associated Press.
Washington, Dec. 19.—In the absence of the principal witness, Representative Miller, of Minnesota, hearings before the house committee of impeachment charges against Attorney General Daugherty moved at a slow pace today.

Representatives Woodruff, Michigan, and Johnson, South Dakota, Republicans, were before the committee on the invitation of Chairman Volstead. Mr. Johnson said his charges made in the house last April regarding war contracts were directed at the war department. The Michigan member said that the testimony he would present would "probably be of an impeachable character," but that he could not make a definite statement until he had continued his investigations further.

Questioned about reports that he had been shadowed by the operatives of the department of justice Representative Woodruff said he had not intended to go into this matter at this time, "shadowed" but that his mail "had been added that he not only had been interfered with" and his office entered and documents removed.

"I had nothing to conceal, and had I known that they desired to read my mail I would have left my office unlocked," said the Michigan representative.

Responding to further inquiries, Mr. Woodruff said that the greater part of his evidence was of a "circumstantial nature."
