THURSDAY NOVEMBER, 10th, 1921

In line with the proclamation of Governor Morrison, the local ministers and church people will assemble at the Methodist Church in this city and engage in a joint service of prayer on Armistice Day, for success of the Disarmament Conference of the world which meets in Washington on Friday of this week. The schools will also hold exercises appropriate to the day. Exercises appropriate to the day will be held Friday afternoon and evening at the graded school auditorium, by the school children. Dr. Lingie will make an address.

If the nations could cut out spending so much money for war the cost of living would be lowered. Pay for the last war are we compelled to do; but spending freely on the next is what makes the load so heavy. The national expense is the big load, and it has been and is the real problem.

The Lincoln County fair, which was a success this year, can be made a greater fair next year by the co-operation of the people of the entire county. The fair management hopes to increase the capital stock of the fair association that they may have more funds with which to continue to improve the fair and it is hoped that the people will respond liberally. The county fair is a county wide institution and deserves county wide interest and co-operation.

A cause that should appeal to every man, woman and child in this community is the orphanages of this state. Every church and every lodge has an orphanage, and they are supported by free will offerings. At Thanksgiving an extra gift is asked of all—a day's income to the orphanage of your choice. Let everybody lay aside now that amount and don't wait to be asked for it, turn it in. It will prove a blessing to you as well as a great help to the fatherless.

The Annual Red Cross drive for memberships is on beginning on the 11th. Sheriff Abernethy has been made County Chairman during the drive. Lincoln's popular sheriff is a hard worker and under the leadership of a man of his ability and popularity success is assured. Shell out a dollar and become a member. That's all it takes.

FROM FLANDERS FIELDS

"In Flanders fields the poppies blow Between the crosses, row on row, That mark our place; and in the sky The larks, still bravely singing, fly, Scarce heard among the guns below.

"We are the dead. Short days ago We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow, Loved and were loved, and now we lie In Flanders fields."

One of those who fell in Flanders fields, immortalized by John McCrae in these inspired lines, is to be reinterred in Arlington National Cemetery, with appropriate solemn ceremony, as the Nation's symbolic tribute to all the unknown heroes now resting in Flanders fields. It is highly fitting that on this day we should pause a moment from the duties, cares or pleasures of the hour, for, in the words of President Harding's Armistice Day proclamation, "a period of silent prayer of thanks to the Giver of All Good for these valuable and valorous lives and of supplication for His Divine Mercy and His blessings upon our beloved country."

Three years ago the world was celebrating the signing of the armistice which marked the end of the greatest war of all history. In the nineteen months and five days that elapsed from April 6, 1917, to Nov 11, 1918, this country had raised and equipped an army of more than 4,000,000 men, transported 2,000,000 troops to France and by the sheer weight of its military and economic power brought the war to an end.

Of the great army of American soldiers, whose achievements and valor won the gratitude and admiration of their French and English comrades-in-arms, many are forever overseas. They fell, and "poppies blow between the crosses, row on row," that mark their place. Of the unidentified dead resting there, the "unknown hero," in whose memory the Arlington ceremonies are held, is typical and representative, and the homage paid him is extended in sentiment by the grateful American people to embrace all those who lie in Flanders fields.

This Armistice Day is a good time for us to turn over a new leaf if we have been remiss in our evidences of appreciation and gratitude to those who gave their all that autonomy should not triumph over liberty. We cannot, if we are worthy of their sacrifices, regard our obligations lightly.

Mr. Frank Nixon of Lenoirville, who is town publisher on business.

THE WORK OF THE AMERICAN RED CROSS IN TIME OF PEACE

We are all more or less familiar with the work of the Red Cross in time of war but few of us realize that there is a work for it to do now. That though the war has ended many of the responsibilities laid upon us by the war have just begun.

Take, for instance, the work for our disabled soldiers. There were 17500 of these in hospitals in 1920. The number has increased to 36500 in 1921 and indications point to much larger number next year. The Red Cross acts as an auxiliary to the government in finding these men, setting in motion machinery to get them the hospital treatment they need and which the government is glad to give if the man can be found and his claim proved. The Red Cross also ministers in many ways to the men while they are in the hospitals. It also renders aid to the soldiers family while he is being rebuilt in the hospital. It has spent ten million dollars in one year in one way or another in helping the ex-service man and his family.

It is hardly necessary to speak of the relief rendered by the organization in case of disaster and accident as this is of common knowledge but it may interest some to know that during the last year the Red Cross rendered relief in emergencies caused by seventy disasters in the United States.

The Red Cross is also helping in the reconstruction of the world. It has made large appropriations for starving children in Europe and for famine relief in China.

These activities amply justify its existence and support in time of peace. There is, however, another line of activity in which it is engaged that comes very near to all of us and which alone would justify its continuance in peace time. It is helping to safeguard American life by giving instruction in the care of infants, teaching the care of the sick, better sanitation, and protection from contagious diseases. In cooperation with the State Board of Health it is doing a great work of this kind in North Carolina through its County Health Nurses.

The Lincoln County Chapter of the Red Cross has, with some aid from the County Commissioners, maintained one of these nurses in Lincoln County for over a year. The writer is the Chairman of the Chapter's committee on Nursing Activities and desires to testify to the untiring diligence and to the capability of the nurse. Also to his belief that a work is being done that will have far reaching results for good if it can be continued. He believes there are many people in the county that will agree with him in this belief. But if this work is to continue we must remember that the Red Cross is entirely dependent on the Annual Roll Call for the funds with which to carry on its work.

The county is allowed to use all special funds contributed for local work and one half of all membership fees, the other half goes to the general work. If therefore, you become a member you become a supporter of all the work indicated above.

We should remember that "The thing which we call human society cannot recover from the ravages of war and sustain itself in the making of a new and lasting peace unless it learns the value of common service for the common good."

We should also remember that the support of your County Health Nurse is purely a Lincoln County affair. That we have not drawn and cannot draw a dollar from any outside fund. It is for us to say whether the work shall go on and we must say it between Nov. 11th and Nov. 24th. You can make yourself heard for one dollar. You can speak much louder if such a cause has sufficient appeal to your heart.

Willis S. Wilson, Chairman of Committee on Nursing Activities.

Senator Reed of Missouri thinks it a dangerous precedent that would require a Senator of the United States to prove statements made on the floor of the Senate. He opposed investigation of the Watson charges of lynching soldiers on the ground that Senators' statements in debate are privileged and that any investigation of charges made by Senators is a precedent that should not be set. In brief the Senator from Missouri holds in effect that a Senator should have the privilege of saying what he pleases, of making any sort of charge, without being required to submit the proof. The answer to that is that a Senator should have no more privileges than the citizen when he makes charges that seriously affect other people, and aside from that the Watson charges are on a different footing. They practically charge army officials, for whom the government is responsible with murder. The public has a right to know whether that charge is true. And the rights of the public are greater than senatorial precedents.—Statesville Landmark.

HOME TOWN NEWSPAPER WEEK This is Home Town Newspaper week. Everybody is supposed to break the news to the editor that he has come in to renew or to subscribe to the home paper. If you can't come in, a check or money order will do as well and a word "enclosed find, etc." Many News readers have responded this week and it is hoped that the balance will do likewise.

LEGISLATURE CALLED TO MEET DECEMBER 6

School and Municipal Finance the Reasons Governor Morrison Tells Legislators.

Raleigh, Nov. 7.—In accordance with previous announcements Governor Morrison today issued his proclamation calling the general assembly into special session December 6.

"Believing that an extraordinary occasion for a special session of the general assembly, such as is referred to in article 3, of section 9, of the constitution of our state, has arisen and now exists as hereafter set forth; and my own belief being strengthened by advice of the council of state, duly given me in a resolution adopted by the council at a meeting on the 11th day of October, 1921.

"Now, therefore, I, Cameron Morrison, governor of North Carolina, do hereby issue this proclamation calling your honorable body to meet in extraordinary session on Tuesday, December 6, at 11 o'clock a. m., in the state capital at Raleigh, and I respectfully request that the senators, and members of the house of representatives, assemble in their respective halls on the day and hour mentioned for the purpose of meeting the emergencies by reason of the fact:

"That the state levy of 13 cents on the $100 on property in the year 1920 proved inadequate to provide a sufficient state school fund to pay for three months of the school term in the various counties, as the law for the year 1920 obligated the state to do in order that the common schools of the state might be run for the six months terms required by the constitution, thereby creating a deficit of about $700,000, which under the law cannot be provided for either by taxation or the exercise of the credit of the state.

"And for the further reason that the municipal finance act enacted by your honorable body at your regular session in 1921 was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court of the state whereby many of the towns and cities of the state have been wholly unable under the existing laws to meet such current expenses as they deem wise or to market securities, which they deem necessary for the proper administration of the city governments.

My judgment is that the difficulties referred to cannot be met through any power in the executive office of your state and being duly authorized by advice of the council of state I make this proclamation in order that you may assemble and enact such legislation as you may think expedient and necessary to relieve the situation referred to and for such other purposes as may in your judgment merit your attention."

VIRGINIA DEMOCRATS WIN SWEEPING VICTORY

Richmond, Va., Nov. 8.—Senator E. Lee Trinkle, of Wythe, democrat, won a sweeping victory over his republican opponent, Colonel Henry W. Anderson, for governor of Virginia, according to figures compiled at 9:30 o'clock tonight by The Times-Dispatch and based on returns from all of the cities and scattering reports from the country districts of the state.

Trinkle's majority will be at least 60,000, according to estimates based on returns at this hour. John Mitchell, "lily black" republican, and candidate of the negroes, has polled about 20,000 votes, according to the returns.

SIDE-SPLITTING SCENES AT THE FAYSSOUX SHOW

It remained for Fayssoux, the psychic marvel, to bring out in his exhibitions the comic possibilities of hypnotism. The old time hypnotists with their limited abilities had made feeble attempts in this direction before the coming of Fayssoux, but they were extremely feeble in comparison to the "mirth-provoking scenes created by Fayssoux.

"It beats the best comedy I ever saw," "It's funnier than a barrel of monkeys with their tails chopped off." "A whirl wind of gaiety." "Fayssoux makes you laugh until your sides ache." "It's the greatest comedy of them all," are some of the expressions heard in the theatre lobby after the show. Fayssoux will begin an engagement of 3 nights at the Ford Theatre Monday Nov. 14th

THE ABSENTEE VOTER LAW

Under the absentee voter law of New Jersey, ex-President Wilson was yesterday enabled to cast a good Democratic vote at Princeton, the chairman of the county board of elections performing the friendly office. This very incident ought to be occasion for a renewed outbreak on part of North Carolina Republicans for repeal of the law that was originally intended to help the soldiers to the ballot, but which has been since found to operate to the benefit of all people, of all parties, and which is generally regarded as one of the best laws on the books.—Charlotte Observer.
