BAPTISTS CLOSE BIG CONVENTION

Hundred Thousand Dollars Donated To New Twin City Hospital.

(By T. W. Chambliss.)
Rocky Mount, Nov. 17.—In the closing hour of the Baptist State convention, Rev. Dr. B. W. Spilman was elected to preside over the session of 1922 to be held at Winston-Salem. The customary resolutions were adopted by the convention expressing appreciation of the gracious hospitality and the courtesies shown by the press of the State.

The report of the Baptist hospital shows total testamentary gifts amounting to $102,400 and other gifts total $2,000.

The Baptist hospital commission reported that plans for the first Baptist hospital at Winston-Salem were being prepared. This first unit is to be a modern hospital building of five stories with 88 rooms and will cost $186,000. Work will be rushed to completion.

How the spirits of the Fathers must rejoice!

Ninety-one years ago a comparatively few men, consecrated and with vision, gathered at Greenville and perfected the organization of the state convention of North Carolina Baptists. Those men of consecration and vision looked for that which they could not see and planned for that which they could not hope to accomplish—but great oaks from little acorns grow.

Many have been the problems of the 91 years. Much prayer and much faith marked the pathway of North Carolina Baptists but from all the faith, the prayer, the service has come a great and growing denomination, remarkably well balanced and with a vision like unto the vision of the men of 1830—a vision of a Christianized state and a Christianized world.

From small beginnings the Baptists have grown into a host of 300,000 church members, with property devoted to denominational purposes amounting in value to almost 9,000,000 dollars and the contributions of these three hundred thousand people to missionary, educational and benevolent objects is now over $1,000,000 a year, a per capita of over $3. Besides all of this, these same Baptists, here in local Carolina purposes each year more than 2,000,000 dollars a year.

In less than a century the Baptists of this state have grown from a mere handful of a denomination whose faith monetary gifts because of their faith and love now reach 3,000,000 dollars a year—a per capita of $10 and this church building purposes. Truly the spirits of the fathers do rejoice!

But this is not all. North Carolina Baptists through the state convention control eight educational institutions—schools and colleges. These institutions have property valued at $1,788,462. They employ 125 teachers and last year enrolled 2,662 pupils. Within the borders of the state are, in addition, eight additional educational institutions which are more directly under the control of the home mission board of the Southern Baptist convention and yet they occupy almost the same position as the other institutions. These have property worth $476,329 and employed last year 65 teachers and enrolled 1,759 pupils. The grand total of Baptist educational property in North Carolina is $2,250,791. The total teaching force numbers 189 and last year 4,411 pupils were in the institutions.

Truly the spirit of those men of 1830 do rejoice!

When Tuesday, November 15 came and the representatives of the 2,219 churches of North Carolina gathered in annual session at Rocky Mount and listen to the reports of the year closing November 1, and plan for the denominational work of another year, there was reason for singing of the doxology. Despite the business depression, it has been a good year. Hard times came and hit the constituency of the Baptist denomination as hard as it seemed they could be hit, but Secretary of Missions Maddy says that over $900,000 has been contributed for missions this year. This is short of the amount wanted but it is good.

But it is not alone in missionary and educational activity that the Baptists of North Carolina have brought things to pass. Thomasville orphanage the institution which is a marvel in its successful service in behalf of the fatherless, stands a living monument to the consecration of North Carolina Baptists. The main institution is at Thomasville and the branch is located at Kinston. Last year Thomasville orphanage cared for over 500 children. "Cared for" includes fed, clothed, educated them. Everyone knows the story of the increased cost of living and yet because of the marvelous management the cost of caring for these children is only slightly over $16 the month for each child. Nearly $150,000 was contributed to Thomasville orphanage this year by North Carolina Baptists and it is safe to say that genuine cheerfulness attended every gift.

The fathers in 1830 had a vision of an evangelized state and an evangelized world. Since the organization of the Baptist state convention in 1830, its aim has been to develop the vision of the fathers into a reality. Each year has been marked with progress and now North Carolina Baptists are reaching into the uttermost parts of the state, carrying light and life and beyond the confines of the state, sending the gospel to the world. Thirty-six North Carolinians are in mission fields of the foreign mission board. They are the messengers of the Old North State.

SEEK SUPPORT IN STATE FOR TARIFF

Southern Tariff Congress Makes Quiet Campaign in North Carolina

(News and Observer)
Washington, Nov. 16.—There is evidence in letters reaching Washington that the Southern Tariff Congress and the Southern Tariff Association are still at their old tricks and are still conducting in North Carolina an insidious propaganda in favor of a Republican protective tariff; in some instances this campaign going to the extent of seeking an embargo so that big interests may have the best of pickings.

As in other instances and following its usual practices the Southern Tariff Association continues to attempt to disguise its Republican protection appeals by putting on the cloak of a purpose to serve industries of the South. The complete failure of the so-called emergency tariff bill to help the Southern industries, that in place of aiding the farmers it has hurt them in the decreased prices of agricultural products, has demonstrated most clearly the futility of protective duties to aid industries of the South.

Jolt For Propaganda

In this matter of attempting to foist legislation upon the country that will not aid Southern industries the program of the Southern Tariff Congress is rudely jolted by a North Carolina manufacturer, as shown in some recent correspondence. This interesting correspondence consists of a letter from James N. Williamson, Jr., of Burlington, who signs himself as "Chairman Manufacturers' Division, Southern Tariff Association," written to the Farmville Oil and Fertilizer Co., Farmville, and the reply of that company through its manager, J. I. Morgan. It is evident from Mr. Morgan's letter that he is a man of sound sense, having a National viewpoint and that he is a true Democrat. It is evident from his reply to Mr. Williamson that he realizes that America cannot always sell to other nations unless in return it is willing to buy their products. But the letters speak for themselves:

Williamson Writing Letters

First is the letter of Mr. Williamson dated November 5, addressed to the Farmville Oil and Fertilizer Company and reading:

"Gentlemen:—We want you to join with the North Carolina manufacturers whose names are shown on the enclosed resolution in endorsing a temporary embargo on dyes. Whether in your business you are a producer or consumer of dyes does not matter, for we are concerned only in the public policy involved in this issue of the dye embargo present. It is a citizen's problem and should be considered from the standpoint of an industrial policy of government and as a war measure. "As an industrial measure: We believe a temporary embargo a sound policy of government to be exercised only when necessary to develop or preserve a basic American industry and further believe that an emergency now exists justifying a temporary embargo on dyes in the permanent tariff bill."

"As a war measure: We all know that the chemical industry must furnish our most destructive weapons in future warfare and self-preservation compels us to develop this industry in the United States. The dye industry furnishes a self-sustaining base for these powerful and indispensable weapons of chemical warfare and opens up a most productive field for the development of a gigantic industry and for the advancement of science. "Many countries, including England, France, Italy and Japan, have dye embargoes and whatever reasons or conditions may cause these countries to resort to an embargo apply with equal force to the United States. "We want to present this resolution to the Senate finance committee as a complete and convincing expression of the manufacturers of the South on the public policy involved in the dye embargo.

"If you will be good enough to favor us with your co-operation, kindly sign the enclosed postal card and very greatly oblige."

Morgan Comes Back Strong

Straight-from-the-shoulder reply of Mr. Morgan, dated November 10, is as follows:

"We have yours of the fifth, requesting our support in obtaining a temporary embargo in importation of dyes. We agree with you that this should be a citizen's problem, from our standpoint and we will try to look at it in this way.

"Our country a year ago was suffering from business depression. Our best business men analyzed the situation and told us that we were suffering from a declining foreign trade. We were told that the cause of the declining foreign trade was lack of foreign credits which was caused by the United States exporting much more than we imported.

"With this situation in mind, our position could be explained in a few words. How can we expect to sell our cotton and tobacco to the Europeans unless we buy their dyes and potash? If we embargo their chief products why shouldn't they embargo our exportable surplus? We believe that we should encourage international trade wherever we can serve humanity. We enjoy shipping our tobacco to the Chinaman, and we enjoy the tea which the Chinaman ships to us, and we see no good reason why we should not enjoy this privilege throughout the world.

"On the eve of the opening of the disarmament conference we are not strong in championing the cause of developing an industry whose chief aim is its strength as a weapon of warfare?"

G. O. P. MAKES FALSE CLAIMS

Good Roads Bill Is Democratic Thunder Appropriated By The Administration.

(By H. E. C. Bryant in Charlotte Ob.)
Washington, Nov. 17.—The republican party is still conducting a campaign of misrepresentations. It is claiming everything in sight. Every time a bill is passed a great boost is sent out for the administration.

When the good roads bill was signed by the President this week the organ of the white house regime said:

"Drive for jobs wins;" "administration making good its effort for relief of idle;" "roads bill action big help;" "President signs measure providing work for thousands;" "redeems pledge made in campaign days."

As a matter of fact the road bill was rammed down the throat of the republican Congress. The chairman of the house committee on roads was opposed to it, and in many ways hindered its consideration. The sum provided fell far short of what the estimates called for. In passing the measure the republicans were reluctantly and sorrowfully carrying out the democratic policy for roads. The money allowed is not what is needed. The house asked for 100,000,000 to carry out the understanding reached in previous Congresses.

People with good memories will recall the history of federal aid to public roads. Senator Simmons was among the first to advocate it, and a small, insignificant amendment to a postoffice appropriation bill was the beginning of the present elaborate scheme. The records are plain on that point. Every road commissioner in the United States knows that he and all others interested had several scares lest this Congress should stop short of its duty and fail to provide the necessary money for carrying out the program agreed to by democrats and republicans under the Wilson administration.

Administration Was Trusty.

Had the republican leaders acted promptly upon the suggestion of democratic members of the house roads committee the idle would have been given work months ago. The Harding administration was tardy in this matter.

THE PRICE OF WHEAT

Philadelphia Record
It is an interesting coincidence that on the same day that wheat sold at one dollar a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade, for the first time in nearly five years, a committee of the United States Senate, reported favorably a joint resolution extending until February 1, 1922, the Fordney Emergency Tariff, which was passed ostensibly to keep up prices for the western farmer. Thus we see how beautiful Republican theory and economic practice go hand in hand. How the farmer, who probably gets only 50 to 60 cents for his wheat, must long for the war days when the government gave him a minimum guarantee of over $2!

3,000,000 AUTOS NEEDED

Startling figures are brought to light in a bulletin issued by John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland Company, to the Willys-Overland organization. The figures indicate that almost 3,000,000 cars should be replaced under normal conditions next year. Prior to last year the number of automobiles that passed out of existence amounted to approximately the number that were built during the fifth year preceding. "Up to January 1, 1921, 11,839,483 motor vehicles had been built in the United States since 1899. Of this number 613,695 had been exported. Registrations during 1920 amounted to 9,211,295. This leaves 2,014,483 cars worn out or discarded.

Little tots will get out in the drafts

But the Perfection will provide instant heat—economically

And the Perfection is unusually economical now for Aladdin Security Oil costs only about half of its former price.

Over a million families are economizing on coal by heating their homes selectively. They keep the whole house warm with the regular coal heater and use a Perfection, "the portable radiator," to make drafty halls, bay windows and living rooms comfortable and safe.

The Perfection supplies heat instantly, just where you want it, when you need it. No fuel waste, easy to carry about. It is ornamental and durable. It burns for 10 hours on a single gallon of kerosene. Then, too, the Perfection has a score of practical uses in every rainy day, such as drying clothes on its rods, heating small amounts of water, warming baby's milk.

Hardware, housefurnishing and department stores sell the Perfection. Let your dealer explain its sturdy construction and smokeless adjustment.
