

Lexington and Padkin Flag.

VOL. 2.

LEXINGTON, NORTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1856.

NO. 14.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY
BY
JAMES A. LONG,
EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

$2.00 PER ANNUM IN ADVANCE.
FROM THE RALEIGH STANDARD.
NORTH CAROLINA STATE FAIR.

Chief Marshal.

GEN. J. H. LITTLEJOHN, of Franklin.

Assistants.

COL. G. W. WATSON, of Johnston,
DR. S. A. WILLIAMS, of Granville,
H. A. DOWD, of Wake.

The annual Fair of the North Carolina State Agricultural Society commenced at the grounds near this City, on Tuesday last; and will close to-day, Friday.

The weather since Monday has been unpropitious; but notwithstanding this, the attendance has been large, and the exhibition of articles of all kinds better than on any former occasion.

We give below, as far and as fully as it could be obtained, a list of the various articles on exhibition in Floral Hall, in Planter's Hall, in Mechanic's Hall, and on the grounds. No doubt many articles, as well as stock, deserving of particular notice have been overlooked; but this—though this press has had three Reporters on the grounds—could not be avoided. It is impossible, amid the press of the crowd and the excitement of the occasion, to do equal and exact justice to all. And so we trust no one will conclude that their articles have been slighted, or intentionally overlooked.—The premium list will, after all, show who is entitled to praise for superior enterprise, industry, patience and skill.

FLORAL HALL.

Jeans, cassimeres, flannels, &c., from Young and Greer, Charlotte—excellent articles.

Cotton cloth, yarns and ropes, from J. Newlin & Sons, Alamance.

A good assortment of jeans, blankets, fustian, &c., by Mrs. Barnes, Granville.

A large assortment of fruits—apples, pears, quinces, and dried fruits of all kinds, by Messrs Westbrock & Mendenhall, of Guilford. Mr Westbrock informed us that he had on exhibition seventy varieties of apples. He exhibited a collection of Northern apples, obtained recently by himself in person from the American Pomological Fair, at Rochester, New York, side by side with his own North Carolina apples; and every one could see, at a glance, the superiority of the North Carolina apple.

A large assortment of apples, by Messrs J & O Lindlay, of Guilford and Chatham. The Messrs. Lindlay exhibited only apples, and of these about ninety varieties. The elder Lindlay, has been engaged in the cultivation of fruits about thirty years, and his labors have been crowned with gratifying success.

These fruits, by the firms above named, are certainly the finest and the best ever exhibited here.

A box of rare minerals, by Dr C L Hunter of Lincoln.

A collection of botanical specimens by Mr R H Drysdale, of Warsaw High School, Duplin; also, by Mr Drysdale, valuable specimens of soils and manure.

Specimens of printing by Mr W D Cooke and Messrs Holden & Wilson. Also, by Mr Cooke, a proof-sheet of his new map of the State.

Specimens of the color-type likenesses by Mr O P Copeland, Raleigh. Also, specimens of likeness in amprotype, by Messrs Havens & Mallon, are elegantly done, and reflect credit on the taste and skill of the artist.

One large case of fine goods for ladies, by Messrs W H & R S Tucker, Raleigh.

Some very fine domestic carpeting, by Mrs F B Fields, of Warren. We learn that it obtained, as it no doubt deserved the first premium.

Very handsome silk bedquilts, by Miss Sophia C Hunter, of Gates—Miss Lucy B Myers, of Washington—Mrs G W Mordecai, of Raleigh—and Miss Susan L Johnson, of Lincoln.

A case of boots and shoes, by Mr H A Depkin, Raleigh; also, a case of boots, shoes, &c., by Mr Henry Porter, Raleigh.

A case of fine silver ware and jewelry, and a beautiful gun in case, complete, by Mr C H Thompson, Raleigh.

A case of perfumery, Messrs Williams & Haywood, Raleigh.

Some handsome paintings and needlework, exhibited by Rev W H Christian, Principal of Raleigh Methodist Female Seminary. One of these paintings—Grecian, in leather frame—by E A Lacey, appeared to be superior.

A remarkably fine crayon drawing, and some superior paintings, in oil, by Miss R M Dewey, Raleigh.

Five paintings, by Mrs R M Saunders, Raleigh, all evincing fine imagination and cultivated taste; one of them, representing a wife finding her husband dead on the field of battle, very well conceived, and executed in a superior manner.

Two very handsome reception chairs, by Miss Kerr, of Yanceyville; also, two patchwork chairs, very fine, by Mrs J F Taylor, Raleigh.

A large case of rich and elegant articles, by Mr H D Turner, Raleigh—such as silver and glass ware, papier mache work, &c.

One fine mahogany rocking chair, by Mr Henry J Brown, Raleigh.

A large collection of rare shrubbery and flowers, by Mrs Ruffin Tucker, Raleigh. Also, by Mrs Tucker, some fine knit curtains. Also, filberts and pomgranates.

A large and rich collection of currant, raspberry, and rose vines, together with preserves and other condiments, by Mrs James Ayers, Petersburg. We tender this lady our thanks for the spirit which brought her here from so considerable a distance, with so many goods for exhibition at our Fair. One had but to look and taste to be convinced of her information and skill in this department.

Catawba wine, by Mr D M Lewis, Franklin.—Very good, for we tried it. Mr Lewis has been very successful in manufacturing this wine. Also, Longworth's Champagne—a superior article.

Some apple brandy, forty-seven years old, by Mr John Teesdale, of Nash.—That brandy, fellow-citizens, was good. Of course it took a premium.

There was a large contribution of needlework of all kinds, and of quilts, counterpanes, and the like, which it is out of our power to notice more particularly. A lady friend, who has observed the contributions to Floral Hall at former Fairs, gave it as her opinion that the articles on exhibition there on this occasion were much better in every respect than any heretofore exhibited.

MECHANICS' HALL.

Fine single buggies exhibited by Benj Perkinson, D F Leak, John Myatt and James Bashford. He observed one other buggy, but could find no label on it.

A fine two-horse barouché exhibited by A M Gorman.

An ironing table, made and invented by Madison, a slave of Mr Rand, exhibited by Hon S H Rogers. It consists of table and chest, and is quite a useful piece of furniture.

Hon S H Rogers also exhibited an office desk and a safe, both the work of Madison, and very handsome. Also a rocking chair and candle stand.

J M Towles exhibited a box of garden tools, a new patent churn, and various agricultural implements.

A very handsome dressing bureau, by Thomas Carter. Also a fine cabinet.

New patent invalid chair, invented and exhibited by J T Alston, a free man of color.

Superb rifles and pistols exhibited by A C Ledbetter of Guilford.

Semicircular brick made and exhibited by C W Palmer of Raleigh.

Hames, buckles, stirrups, and pattern for horse collars, by W W Guess of Orange.

Axels, by Dickson and Lynch of Orange.

Shoes and leather, by J Ramsour of Lincoln.

D. W. C. Johnson, of Randolph, exhibited a model of an improved water wheel, which seems to possess material Knuckle washing machine, by A.

Dickson. We have tried this machine, and we are pleased with it.

Smut machine, by Webb and Dickson. Mill peck, by E Lester, of Kinston.

One barrel, by R. L. Patterson. Very fine work.

Sheep yokes, an ingenious contrivance, invented by C W Hoyle, a mute, of Gaston county.

PLANTER'S HALL.

N. Price, of Wake, exhibited specimens of meal, wheat, flour, seed cotton, &c.

Sylvester Smith, of Raleigh, specimens of meal, peas, corn, honey, spring and winter oats, &c.

E. Hall, of Wake, specimens of wheat, meal, peas, corn, &c.

S H Dunn, of Wake, specimens of wheat, peas, ears of corn, ground peas, oats, dried peaches, &c.

Self improved oats, by T M Lloyd, of Orange.

Wheat and flour, by Leroy Springs, of Charlotte.

White rice beans, white wheat and corn, by Jno. Hutchins, of Raleigh.

Mush peas, by Mr J Nixon.

Various kinds of field peas, by Henry Mordecai.

Peas navy beans, and blue stem wheat, by J Mordecai.

Seed cotton, white and yellow corn, by J S Hoskins, of Chowan.

Japan peas, by W H Jones, by Mrs. Lucy Savage, and by W R Clarke.

Bags of wheat and flour, by R L Patterson.

Two boxes segars, by Dr W Joyner, of Pitt.

Turnips, some very fine, by Mrs J J L McCullers, G Banks, W R Poole, A Dickson and Mrs G T Cooke.

Fine potatoes, by J G Dickson, and J Mordecai.

A monster yam, by J R Ward, of Orange.

Mammoth beet, by Dr D A Montgomery, of Alamance.

Fine cabbage heads, by Mrs. Roulhac, W W Whitaker, and Mrs G T Cooke.

Large pumpkins, by Mrs E Hall.

Large beets, by Joseph Small, of Pittsboro.

One ham, by Mrs Ruffin Tucker.

Lot of hams, N Price, J M Barnes and R Johnson.

Citrons and Tomatoes, by Mrs Devereux.

Egg plants, by T S Hoskins.

Specimens of every nice bread, by Mrs W B Williams and Mrs E Hall.

Box of honey in the comb, by Mrs Patridge.

Water acorns, by Maj T J Moss, of Northampton This is a very rare and very curious growth.

A cabbage growing in a box, by W W Whitaker We were unable to make out the name, but it was raffled all over.

Machinery, &c. on the Ground.

Two two horse wagons, one by W J M Thomas the other by J Jones, both of Rockingham.

One single and one double horse plow, by J F Cuthrill, of Davie.

R Sinclair, jr of Baltimore, and E Whitman & Co of the same city, exhibited a large assortment of agricultural implements such as plows, harrows, wheat threshers, fan mills, grain cradles, straw cutters, ox yokes, reaping machines, corn shellers, meat cutters, &c., &c.

Iron harrows and plows, by Dickson Lynch, of Orange.

Yamon's patent straw cutter, by H Weatherston, of Wake.

Wheat thresher and straw cutters, by John Stafford & Co., of Chatham.

Improved wheat fan, by J Montgomery & Brother, of Baltimore.

Horse power saw mill, by Tappy & Lumsden, of Petersburg, Va.

Wheat thresher, by J W Davis & Brother, of Petersburg.

Dumping cart, by H Horton, of Wake.

Harrows, by D C Richardson, of Warren.

Harrows, tobacco cultivators, wheat fans, plows, ox yokes, brier cutters, corn shellers, straw cutters, grain cradles, &c., a large collection, by Borum & McLean, of Norfolk, Va.

Two fan mills, by C Burnett, of Henderson.

Plows, by W B Williams, of Warren.

Harrows and plows, by Wainright, Vanhook and Co, of Granville.

HORSES, ETC.

The exhibition of live stock exceeded by far that of any previous Fair. We give below a list made up to Wednesday morning. Many additions were subsequently made, which we failed to collect. In giving this list we have thought it better to refrain from attempting a notice of the qualities of the stock. That is a matter for the judges; and indeed it would be difficult for us to distinguish between such an immense collection of excellencies. We give the contents of some 220 stalls:

Bay Stallion, 'Roanoke,' 2 years, Bay Filly, by Orange boy, 2 years, Bay Filly, by 'Orange boy,' 2 years, Brood Mare, 'Priam,' 14 years, P C Cameron, Orange.

Trotting horse, 'John Hancock,' 8 years, John Neal, Beaufort.

Pair black match harness horses, 3 years, J C Branson, Randolph.

Claybank Filly, 2 years, J J Lee, Wake.

Gelding, 6 years, Holt and Randalman, Alamance.

Black Hawk Filly 'Fany Felton,' 3 years, (matches) Black Hawk Stallion, Saratoga, 4 years, Sorrel Trotting Mare, Ivyloo, Dr. Moore, Halifax.

Chestnut Sorrel Trotter, 'Charles,' 9 years, W H Holleman, Wake.

Gray horse, 7 years and Bay mare, 8 years matches, J H Neal Beaufort.

Dark bay Stallion, J D W Young, Franklinton.

Trotting Mare, J H Wheeler.

Brood Mare, 8 years, Bay Stallion Colt, 18 months, H Mordecai, Wake.

Brown Stallion, 'G W Johnson,' 4 years, Abram Scot, Wake.

Bay Stallion, 'Prince William,' 2 years, J L Prather, Greensboro.

Stallion, 'Sir Alfred,' 7 years, J D Hayes, Wake.

Stallion, 'Morgan Aunter,' 7 years, J Nichols, Washington.

Bay Stallion, 'Secession,' 5 years, Josiah Turner Hillsborough.

Bay Stallion, 'Zinc,' 7 years, Bay Stallion, 'Negro,' 10 years, Bay Stallion, 'Fogy,' 3 years, Sol O' Brian, Person.

Stallion, 'Carolina Black Hawk,' 5 years, Dr W Strudwick, Orange.

Bay Mare, 'Nelly,' 5 years, Sorrel mare, 'Jenny Lind,' 9 years, W S Strudwick, Orange.

Bay horse, 'Aleck,' 4 years, J T Turner, Orange.

Bay horse 'Monsieur,' 4 years, bay brood mare, 'Nelly,' 4 years, bay sorrel horse, 'Charlie,' 4 years S O' Brian, Person.

Gelding trotter, 'John,' 8 years, J B Ray, Person.

Chestnut Sorrel, 2 years, E Donnel, Guilford.

Black mare, and colt, 'Anna Chase,' 4 years, Josiah Turner, Orange.

Claybank mare and colt, 'Anna Chase,' 4 years, Josiah Turner, Orange.

Claybank mare and colt, 5 years, Jno O'Rourke, Wake.

Mare and colt, S W Williams, Wake.

Sorrel mare and colt, 10 years, A Granville.

Chestnut sorrel stallion, (thorough bred), 'Canton 20 years, W G Caruthers, Orange.

Bay stallion 'Telegraph,' 2 years, T M Lloyd, Orange.

Sorrel stallion 'Henry,' 5 years, J H Faucett, Alamance.

Bay saddle horse, 7 years, Jno Wimbish, Granville.

Iron gray gelding 'More,' 6 years, Dr Mc Nannen, Orange.

Iron gray stallion 'Bucephalus,' 3 years, Dr Mc Nannen, Orange.

Sorrel stallion, 'Jerry, the Orange Traveller,' 2 years, D W Cheek, Orange.

Gelding 'Toby,' 2 years, V Castelberry, Wake.

Saddle mare, 7 years, Nat Jones, Wake.

Pair Iron gray horses, matches, 4 and 6 years, E D Mc Nair, Orange.

Clay bank Stallion.

White stallion 'Felix,' 8 years; Jacob Brantley, Nash.

Bay mare 'Fashion,' by Eclipse, 2 years, A J Lloyd, Granville.

Bay harness horse 'Peacock,' 8 years, Dr G. W. Blackwell, Granville.

TO BE CONTINUED.

A correspondent wants to know if a joke is good for anything after it has been cracked.

FROM THE SALISBURY WATCHMAN. Tom Clingman's Dis-Union Manifesto.

We extract from the Charlotte Whig, the following notice of Tom Clingman's late disunion letter. We are glad to find that there is a gentleman in Charlotte, (so often represented as being a disunion Town,)—who has the courage to throw out this hint of defiance. Read it:

T. L. CLINGMAN.

MR. EDITOR: I see in the Western Democrat that T. L. Clingman is to address the people of Mecklenburg, on the 13th of November, if Fremont is elected, on the subject of Disunion. His letter is a long one, giving a full outline of his plan of operations. Among other ideas thrown out, he suggests that there may be traitors (as he calls them) at the South—meaning those who do not agree with him, that the mere election of Fremont, without any attempt at actual aggression upon our rights, would be a sufficient excuse for raising the standard of rebellion: these men, he says, could be easily disposed of by "our committees of vigilance," until the work is done. Then, he argues that those who have been standing up to the Constitution among us, (meaning himself and others,) would alone be entitled to the possession of the new government, and would of course soon put their enemies out of the way!

Now, sir, this letter is addressed "W. F. Phifer, R. P. Warring, D. Parks and others," and seems to have been published at their request. I very respectfully ask these gentlemen to inform the public if they approve and endorse the sentiments of this letter, which they have had published: and further, by what authority they presumed to invite an open and avowed Disunionist to address the people at large, and of all parties on that momentous question. If they were acting on their own individual responsibility, let them avow it,—if for and in behalf of the Democracy of Mecklenburg, let them so declare it; and the people can then judge whether or not that party is for disunion or not.

And I hope, Mr. Editor, you will publish the letter of Mr. Clingman, so that all may read for themselves.

MADISON.

Now, let the Charlotte Committee show their hands. If they are for disunion let them say so. If they are willing to carry out Clingman's plan of treason, let them form their Committee of Vigilance and attempt the "speedy attention" against the loyal citizens of Mecklenburgh and the country, which that political renegade and traitor proposes. There is not the slightest danger that such a Committee will be able to establish a tribunal here, nor maintain one in any other portion of the State. The people of North Carolina are not to be reckoned as disunionists because a majority of them are Democrats. The leaders of that party are able to lead, and have led them, into many an error; but they cannot lead them to make war against the legally constituted authority of the country—against their own, brothers—to deluge the land with fraternal blood.

Tom Clingman is a pink of a fellow to take the lead in a matter like this: We are told that he does not own the hair of a negro in the world. And yet he presumes to set himself up as the leading champion of Southern interests. Is there any body in this region ass enough to accept and to follow him!

We doubt not the people will consider this matter. The proposition has been made that in the event of Fremont's election, the South shall dissolve the Union.—The legislatures of the Southern States shall meet and effect the work. The people, the source of all power, are not to be consulted on this grave question; and if any of them object to the proceeding, they are to be speedily attended to by a Vigilance Committee, in other words, they are to be hung. That's the policy, according to Clingman's suggestions, as intercepted here. A more accursed scheme was never conceived. Nothing could more surely break the bands that unite the South, or more successfully establish the honors of civil strife amongst ourselves. Tell us—is this democratic arrogance, or is it only Clingman's madness?

The Murder Case.

Suspicion having fallen upon a young man, in the western part of this county, by the name of J. R. S. Chipman, he was arrested for the murder of Miss Pinnix, and lodged in our jail. On Thursday of last week, he was brought before his Honor, Judge Person, upon habeas corpus, and after an investigation of the case, he was re-committed to await his trial for the alleged offence.—Greensboro Patriot.

We never knew a great character until something congenial to it has grown up within ourselves.—Channing.

More of the Addington Affair.

Mr. W. H. Addington, who was recently assaulted by his brother, R. D. Addington, in Norfolk, has published a card in the Norfolk Herald, explanatory of the correspondence which we copied in yesterday's Whig. He says: "The deep mortification which I felt at his conduct which had rendered him in my estimation a disgraced and degraded man, and made him a by-word and reproach, was greatly aggravated by the circumstance of his return to Norfolk with all this disgrace upon him, which must reflect upon me, my sister and relatives, and to whom his presence must ever be a source of humiliation. I was therefore induced to make the effort to get him out of our city, and wrote him the letter urging him to depart by to-morrow, under the penalty of tar and feathers. 'To-morrow' came and he went not; neither was the threat carried out—showing conclusively that my letter was intended only to frighten him away (which fact I stated to my friends after I had sent him the letter) and without the least thought that he would ever show it or publish it. But after keeping it in his pocket six weeks, then it is that he comes up behind me and with slung shot knocks me down 8 or 10 times with intent to kill, and each time trying to kick me into the dock for the purpose of drowning me while I was in a state of insensibility from the blows he had inflicted upon my head.

Again—did I feel at liberty to publish a letter from R. D. Addington's wife giving me a true history of her married life—yet scarcely of one year's standing—and which details in sixteen pages the outrageous treatment of an innocent and unoffending female the recital of which would curdle the blood of any man who deserves the name—the community would consider my bearing towards him in a very different light, than when judging of it merely from the letters which have been published. Delicacy forbids me to do this; and I would rather suffer the reproach attached to my letter, than relieve myself by such a course.

I regret the necessity which constrains me to refer to this unfortunate affair, but my friends, (who alone are familiar with the circumstances) have advised me to insert this notice as an act of simple justice to myself.—Richmond Whig.

Arrest of a Finished Villain.

A SECOND MONROE EDWARDS.

It will be recollected that about a year ago a man named George Gomer was arrested in this city on the charge of having sold to the house of Brown, Brothers & Co., and McKim & Co., forged bills of exchange on England for considerable amounts, and after having been kept in jail for some time, was discharged on bail of a nominal amount. It appears that prior to his arrest he had also written to Messrs. William Howell & Son a forged letter of introduction, purporting to be from a house of good standing at St. Bartholomew, with two bills of exchange, which he requested should be sold and the proceeds placed to his credit. The letter stated that a firm named Mr. Beaumier had deposited $7,000 in that house in coin, which was to be shipped by the first vessel. A subsequent letter stated that a vessel had been procured, which would proceed to St. Bartholomew for the specie, and thence to Porto Rico, where he would take in a cargo of sugar and coffee for a port in the U States. About two weeks after that time Messrs. A. & Son received a letter signed M. Beaumier, at Norfolk, stating that he was sick, but as soon as he recovered he would come on to Baltimore and see them.

A few days more elapsed and a letter was received from the same party from New York, requesting that the money for the bills of exchange should be sent on to him as he had an opportunity to send some things to the West Indies, by which he should make a handsome profit. The money was immediately sent to a banking firm in New York but was never called for, and in a short time the bills were returned protested. He also sold bills of exchange in Charleston for $11,000 for which he received cotton, which was shipped to New York and there sold at the order of George Gomer, the name he then assumed. His next transaction was at Wilmington, N. C., where he purchased one thousand barrels of spirits of turpentine to be sent to Bordeaux, but the trick failed because the forged bill of exchange he presented could not be negotiated in that city. Though he had been subsequently arrested in this city, he again returned here in June last and presented a forged letter of introduction, to one of our principal shipping houses purporting to be from Messrs. Indoes & Co., of St. Thomas. He was preceded by a letter purporting to come from that house which bore its private marks, and was a ship letter endorsing his credit and character, but