NEW DEVICE CAN RECORD 3,000 DEGREES OF HEAT

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, April, 17.—An instrument capable of measuring extreme temperatures without coming in direct contact with the source of heat is now being used in a number of industrial plants to determine the amount of heat in the kilns or furnaces where raw materials are being burned or melted, according to officials of the Structural Materials Research Laboratory of the St. Louis Institute here.

The instrument is known as a radiator pyrometer, and consists of a small telescope containing a piece of colored glass and two small wires attached to an indicator box. Standing back some distance from the kiln or furnace, the operator sights the little telescope at the spot where the glow is hottest. The glass focuses the heat on the wires which expands and register the degree of temperature on a dial on the indicator box. In portland cement plants where a temperature from 2,500 to 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit is needed in the kilns to burn the raw materials to a clinker, the common mercury thermometers are useless, because mercury reaches its boiling point at 675 degrees. By using the pyrometer a direct check is kept on the kiln temperatures although some operators have an almost uncanny sense of determining this by sight.

At one of the cement mills recently the pyrometer telescope was in the indicator box immediately turned on the sun. The little needle sprang over the maximum figure, bouncing against sides of the box in its effort to register the heat on the sun's surface, 93,000,000 miles away.

AMERICAN DRY LAWS SATIRIZED IN ENGLAND

(By Associated Press)
London, April 17.—In a contribution to the DAILY MAIL the novelist Max Pemberton is greatly sarcastic over Lady Astors forthcoming Temperance Bill which changes the age from 16 to 18 at which young men may be served in public houses. He recalls the court scene in Pickwick vs Bardell and says Lady Astor is to imitate the amiable law-Commons with a piling infant of 17 years 11 months whose immortal soul is in peril for the sake of grass of Bass' beer.

He declares the measure is merely the first word in the campaign for prohibition imported from New York and that there is no valid reason why a boy of 17 years of age should not have a glass of beer if his parents consent; they are the best judges in the matter.

And not only may he not drink ale himself, continues Pemberton, but he is forbidden to fetch his father's supper beer. And all beneath a Statue of Liberty to be carted stone by stone from New York Harbor and rebuilt within sight of the Cenotaph.

We do not want this United States measure or any other kind which emanates from same source. America herself is heartily sick of those fanatics and long ago wished that she had had nothing to do with them. Why then plant them upon friendly shores?
