BUG POWER

(By Wickes Wamboit)
The rolled up force of an oft-repeated act, no matter how tiny and insignificant, is stupendous. Great things can be accomplished by the smallest sort of organism if it stays on the job. The tiny coral insect can build a structure that will defy the mighty force of the ocean. These little creatures, scarcely noticeable to the naked eye, each adding its tiny effort to that of its fellows, rear great and impregnable reefs which are the backbones of islands, penin-sulas and possibly continents. The state of Florida virtually rests on the back of a coral bug.

There is a case on record where a swarm of mosquitoes stopped a train. It was on an up-grade thru a swamp and the collected on the rails in such quantities that the huge driving wheels slipped and spun impotently.

The sand-fly is a minute thing, a little bigger than the point of a pin, but he has a bite like a horse. A cattle man told me he saw a swarm of these kill a great bull. They simply overwhelmed him.

There is a tiny beetle in California which, by keeping everlastingly at it, bores holes through sheathing metal that gets in its way.

In some countries ants carry away bit by bit, the beams and underpinnings of houses.

It is a great object lesson these little creatures give us. We do not credit them with any intelligence.
We say that whatever impels them is entirely instinct; and certainly their individual strength as compared to that of a man is absolutely negligible. They have no brain and they have no muscle and yet they show us what staying on the job without letting up will accomplish.

The bee does what to the uninitiated would appear an impossible thing.
He collects vast stores of a delightful sweet by picking out almost invisible particles from flowers. He is referred to as "the busy bee." He probably received this cognomen because he makes a good deal of fuss about his work and the impression has gone out that he works about all the time that he can see. Consequently as an example he has not been very popular.

It has been proven by observation, however, that the bee accomplishes his task without killing himself working. He actually puts in eight hours a day and the rest of the time he crawls around the hive, flirts with the queen bee, stings people, and de-ports himself in such ways as may afford him relaxation.

Studying the lives of great men is inspirational. But we do not need to study the lives of men for inspiration; we can get this from studying the lives of bugs.

When Gray Meets Gray

"Hello there!"
"How do you like your Gray Car?"
"I'm sold on it 100 per cent.
I didn't think there was any light car which I would be so proud to drive."
"I like mine, too, the spring action is unusually easy and the bodies are particularly comfortable, aren't they?"
"Yes, and the cost of operating them is so much less than these other cars, that they'll all buy Grays when they find out about it, I guess."

When Gray meets Gray on the road that's the kind of talk you'll hear. It takes satisfaction in all details of a car to keep a motor wise public sold. Gray closed cars are selling in ever increasing numbers.
Why not ride in one today and see for yourself?

Health is Wealth Health is one of the greatest things your family can possess.
It brings happiness and success.
But health must be safe-guarded by good wholesome foods that are prepared from the purest ingredients. This is especially true of bakings. If they are not properly raised, we all know that they are not easily digested. Many times when self-rising flour is used in place of good plain flour and dependable baking powder—the results are flat, soggy and heavy foods.
Don't take chances! Use a reliable brand of baking powder and plain flour. Then you will be sure of healthful bakings that are easily digested.
Remember, science has never found anything to take the place of the tried and tested method of using plain flour and good baking powder in preparing bakings.
Millions of housewives now know by actual experience that many preparations that are claimed to take their place are worthless and dangerous to health. There is no comparison.
Calumet, the Economy Baking Powder, is known to be one sure and positive aid to successful bakings that are always pure, sweet and wholesome.
That's the reason its sales are 2 1/2 times as much as any other brand.
