THE RELIGION WE WANT

The prime test of all "osophies," all "ologies" and all "isms" is this: Does their acceptance make the recipient a better man or woman?
Dr. Channing once said: "It does not matter so much what a man believes as how he believes it."

We want a religion not merely for the church and the Sabbath, a religion that you leave at the church door as you pass from its sacred precincts after the Sunday evening service, a religion for the prayer meeting and public profession.

We want a religion for the home; one that keeps the husband from being cross if dinner is late; one that keeps the wife from being cross if the husband is late to dinner; one that converts the honeymoon into the harvest moon, and makes the happy home like the eastern fig tree, bearing at once the beauty of its tender blossoms and the glory of its ripened fruit.

We want a religion not only for the home but for the workshop, the office, the bank; for legislative assemblies, for courts of justice, for marts of trade. We want a religion which liberates mankind from the curse of selfish greed and false economic systems; one that applies the golden rule to the practical affairs of every day life.

Brotherhood has been preached from the pulpit and platform for ages and yet we are no nearer its practical realization today than when it was proclaimed from the hill slopes of Galilee by the gentle Nazarene two thousand years ago.

If you would serve your brother eliminate selfish greed and consecrate all your work to the betterment and upliftment of your fellow man. To serve God consists in serving mankind. That is your offering and your sacrifice to the Infinite and Eternal God.

We want a religion for the entire life; one that will make the sunlight more radiant; one that will glorify the commonplaces of everyday life; one that will smooth the rough places and make daily life brighter, better, more joyous.

Russel H. Conwell said: "Try to bring more of heaven into the world. Don't worry about your admittance into heaven, but put your whole soul into the effort to set up Christ's kingdom here."

Be a good man and you will be a good citizen. Be a good citizen and you are preparing yourself for heaven. You will never be saved by creed or by vicarious rites, but by doing well your simplest duty.

COSTA RICA LEADS WORLD IN TELEPHONE ETIQUETTE
Chicago, Jan. 2.—Costa Rica is setting the telephone etiquette of the world, according to Frank H. Kenney of the International Western Electric Company, just back from a visit of seven months to San Jose. He says the Costa Rican gentlemen or lady never answers the telephone—that duty is left to a servant.

SWEDISH IMPORTS INCREASE
Stockholm, Jan. 4.—Sweden's imports for the first ten months of 1923 exceeded the exports by about $54,000,000, as against an excess of $10,000,000 for the corresponding period of 1922.
