GERMAN COLLEGE STUDENTS DEMAND REDUCED TUITION

(By Associated Press) Berlin, July 9.—The students of state institutions in Prussia have threatened to boycott lectures and classes unless the fees for attending colleges and universities are cut to one-third of the present amounts. The threat was made at a meeting recently of representatives of the student unions of all Prussian higher institutions of learning.

The students representatives declared that the students economically are not in a position to afford the fees fixed by the Prussian ministry of culture and education. They denied that the students have gone on strike but said that the pecuniary distress of the students compels many of them not to pay their fees and to remain away from the lecture.

It is said that a bill will be introduced in the Prussian diet to provide public funds to make up the difference between the fees now asked and those suggested by the students.
