PEACE PROCLAIMED REGULATIONS WILL BY HARDING; WAR'S STRENGTHEN CHILD END LAST SUMMER WELFARE STATUTE

Washington, Nov. 15.—President Harding late yesterday proclaimed the return of peace between the United States and Germany. The proclamation stated that peace in reality had existed since July, this year, when the executive approved the joint peace resolution of Congress. The war with Hungary and Austria, against whom as Austria-Hungary this country went to war, is next expected to be proclaimed to have ended.

The Proclamation. Following is the proclamation in full: "By the President of the United States of America. A proclamation. Whereas, by a joint resolution of Congress, approved March 3, 1921, it was declared that certain acts of Congress, joint resolutions of proclamations should be construed as if the war between the United States of America and the imperial German government had ended, but certain acts of Congress and proclamations issued in pursuance thereof were accepted from operation of the said resolution; "Whereas, by a joint resolution of Congress approved July 2, 1921, the state of war which was declared by joint resolution of Congress approved April 6, 1917, to exist between the United States of America and the imperial German government was declared at an end; "Whereas, a treaty between the United States and Germany was signed at Berlin on August 25, 1921, to restore the friendly relations existing between the two nations prior to the outbreak of war, which treaty is word for word as follows: (Here follows text of treaty.) "And whereas, the said treaty has been duly ratified on both parts, and the ratification of the two countries were exchanged at Berlin on November 11, 1921; "Now, therefore, be it known that I, Warren G. Harding, President of the United States of America, hereby proclaim that the war between the United States and Germany terminated on July 2, 1921, and cause the said treaty to be made public to the end that every article and clause thereof may be observed and fulfilled by the United States and the citizens thereof.

Flower Garden Sort of Farm is Proof of What Can Be Done Here

Can a small farm be made to pay in this region of tobacco and cotton plantations? is a question that Theron Parker, owner of the most unique four-acre estate in the territory, is preparing to answer. Parker has just completed preparations. During 1922 his tiny plantation will bloom like a flower garden, literally like a flower garden, he asserts. His four acres are located near rainger, a few minutes' ride from here. The ground looks as though it had been swept clean with a broom. On the place is the most elaborate dual drainage and irrigation system in Eastern Carolina, considering the size of the farm. There are four bricked-in wells, with a power pump, and pipe lines and well constructed small canals. A part of the time, during dry weather, Parker's crops will need moisture from the wells, he states. There is no animal on the Parker farm other than chickens. He has stocked a henhouse with fowls of three standard breeds. Small workshops and out buildings have been erected. The tiny fields have been worked and reworked and fertilized until the soil is in perfect condition. There will be an amazing variety of crops next year, of vegetables and flowers. Already there are winter-bearing strawberries, feathery ferns, chrysanthemums and other things blooming out-of-doors on the tiny plantation, all appearing to have ignored the several frosts that have come save the chrysanthemums, thousands of enormous yellow flowers growing on plants as tall as a man's head. Over the chrysanthemum "field" a temporary plank shelter has been erected, 3,000 feet of lumber having been used for this. Parker, who at one time was a truck farmer near Omaha and at another pro-

Parents Must Take Greater Interest in Legislation for Youngsters' Benefit. Stricter Rules for Employment Juveniles

By MAX ABERNETHY (Special Capital Correspondent) Raleigh, Nov. 12.—Regulations made by the State Child Welfare Commission which become effective March 1, 1922, will strengthen the child labor law and, it is hoped, lessen juvenile delinquency in North Carolina. A general appeal is being sent out calling attention of parents, public officers, ministers, educators, social workers, and the public generally to the fact "that the Legislature intended this act to be a measure for child welfare" and to solicit "the aid and cooperation of all in securing the beneficent purposes intended. To this end it is necessary to make every possible effort to provide wholesome conditions of environment for children, while not in school or employed. Such environment must depend upon better home influences, more parental thought and care, and more public cooperation in the way of play-grounds and other wholesome recreations."

Three important changes have been made by the welfare commission regarding child labor in this State, all of these going into effect as of March 1, 1922. The first one is that no child, claiming to be 14 or 16 years of age, but whose actual age is doubtful, shall be permitted to work in any occupation listed under section 5 of the child labor law, including laundries, mills, garages, places of amusement, etc., until an age certificate has been issued by the superintendent of public welfare. The design of this section is to insure the proper enforcement of the compulsory school law, to prevent the employment of any person contrary to law, and to free the employer from liability to this act. The other changes are as follows: The superintendent of public welfare shall require a school record of evidence for any child under 16 years of age who makes application to engage in employment in any of the occupations mentioned before issuing either an employment certificate or age certificate, the school record to be prepared by school officials or teacher in accordance with the approved school code for children, and the accredited record system for schools approved by the Department of Education. Physical examination by a health officer or practicing physician shall be required of any child under 16 years of age who makes application for employment, except in cases where the child has received physical examination by a medical officer of the State Bureau of Medical Inspection of Schools. The superintendent of public welfare and other authorized agents of the commission may suspend any certificate for employment when a condition is found that will injure the health or morals of a child pending the action of the commission, or revoke any certificate issued on false evidence.

45,000 MILES IN ONE TELEGRAPH CIRCUIT. To satisfy the demands of fans in every quarter of the United States and Canada who could not be reached quickly enough by the press and who could not crowd in at the newspaper bulletin boards during the world series, the Western Union Company, in addition to providing telegraph circuits for all the press associations and for scores of individual newspapers was obliged to set up a "circuit" containing over 45,000 miles of wire. The company chose its most expert baseball reporter to manipulate the "master key" at the Polo Grounds. This key flashed the signals through a mass of multiple "repeaters" which connected up all the large centers on the North American continent. proprietor of the biggest florist's business in Chicago, has located here for the climate's sake. His unique farm is not a commercial venture, although there are already a thousand dollars' worth of chrysanthemums on the place which he is making no effort to market. It will simply be "home" to this man who took a bit of a wilderness and converted it into a garden of golden chrysanthemums.

URIC ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you—Drink more water. If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. JAD SALTS Fresh Stock at TEMPLE DRUG CO. (The Rexall Store)
