$1.50 A YEAR THE LINCOLN COURIER ONE DOLLAR ANDA

HALF:/A

YEAR.

Since we changed the price of the Courier to One Dollar na. there has been but little variance in the Subscription list and we therefore conclude that the people who want a county paper are willing to pay $1.50 for it, at any rate we cannot afford to publish the Courier at $1.00 a year. Henceforth we will hold to our original price $1.50 a year.

The Buried Doll,

Mary and Jennie were having a splendid time. They were cousins, and Jennie was making a visit with her mamma at Mary's home.

On this day they were playing with Mary's doll, which wasn't a lovely waxen lady nor even a nice china one, with a trunk full of pret-

I wonder if you could guess what it was, anyway? No, I don't think you could. It was made of a piece of carpet, rolled up and covered with white cloth, for the body, and smaller rolls for the legs and arms.

But it was just as dear to Mary as if it had been one of the beautiful dolls that open and shut their eyes, walk and talk, and look like real live babies. Neither Mary nor Jennie had ever seen such wonders, Brown's Iron Bitters Rebuilds the for this was many years ago, when most children played with homemade rag-balnes

They were playing dolly was sich, and they gave her a great many pills and lanced her arm, as they had seen the doctor do; that is, they picked it just a bitt'e bit with a darning-needle to let some blood out. In those days doctors often did this to make sick folks well. But no blood, nor even sawdust, came from dolly's arm, for you see she wasn't made that way.

dead; and they both; cried into their little pocket-hankerchicfs, but the real tears didn't come.

"Now she ought to be buried,"

"Oh yes," said Mary: "but where shall we bury her?"

"I know the very nicest place, called Jennie, running into the fron: room. Here there was a big fireplace, but the fire had gone out, as it was a warm June day. Right in the ashes Jennie put the doll and covered her all up, and had a little

It was great fun, but they had to leave the doll and go to dinner, and ends of the devided nerve, stitching after that they went out to the barn to play, and had a lovely time in the hay till called to supper.

Then Mary thought of her doll, and rau into the front room to get it. There sat grandpa with a bright fire blazing on the hearth.

Poor Mary poked around among the coals, but she couldn't find any thing of her doll except a little scorched bit of foot.

"Dear me," said Jennie, "we buried that doil for fun, and she,s really and truly burnt to death !" and when Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. they both cried in earnest this time | When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria That was the only doll Mary ever had, though she grew up to be mamma to some little girls who had more doils than they knew what to

They were very clear, brilliant little beauties, and I thought they would be very nice for a scarf pin.

I went in intending to buy one to put in my new spring scarf. I asked the salesman to let me see those little gems from the mines of North Carolina. He placed them on the showscase, and after examining the large piece, commenting on its sparkling brilliancy, (it weighed 8 onnes) I took up one of the little gems set in gold for a scarf pin, and inquired the price. "Two hundred and twenty five dollars," said he.

"What !" said I in surprise. "More ostly than diamonds."

Splicing a Nerve.

Dr. D. Hayes Agnew, assisted by several other eminent Philadel . phia physicians, perto med the remarkable surgical operation in that ity Saturday of tran-planting a nerve from a living dog to the right arm of Mrs. J. H. Weber. Mrs. Weber lost the use of that member in 1889 by the removal of a tumor, ia which it was found necessary to Then they played the doll was cut out about three inches of the muscalospiral nerve. Dr. Agnew cut into the patients arm a wound four inches long, and to the depth of the nerve, the dissection being made with the utmost care. After some difficulty the two ends of the divided nerve were found, in a healthy condition, but about three inches apart. At this time Mr. Martin, within one minute, exposed and removed three inches of the sciatic nerve from the dog's hip. in forceps, he handed it to Dr. Ars mound over her, while Mary looked new and Dr. White. They placed it in a sheath of decalcified chicken bone, and put both between the them there securely. Several months may elapse before the nerve has time to recover itself, and at least as long a period will be needed before the muscles, in disuse for over two years, will regain their normal condition. The dog was etherized and killed immediately after the operation, before he had recovered consciousness .- Baltimore
