Correspondence of the Courter

Democratic entires asm cannot be washed out, snowed out, blowed out or froze out. The north wind blew, the snow fell and there were icicles hanging from trees, horses, and the whiskers of men, but these little an novances did not count when it came to inaugurating a democratic President. Mr. Cleveland proved his indifference to them by declining to deliver his inaugural address in the Senate chamber, justead of from the open-air platform on the east front of the capitol, before which, standing in the snow storm, were about 10 000 people. He thought, and correctly, too, that if the people were good enough democrats to brave the storm to see him-few of them could get near enough to hear him-deliver his inaugural address and lake the oath of office, he was good enough democrat to take off his hat, storm or no storm, and do it, and he did. There isn't money enough in existence to buy from the President the worn Bible upon which he took the oath of office in 1885, and upon which Chief Justice Fuller administered to him the same oath Saturs day. It is more valuable than gold or precious stones; it was his mother's, and Mr. Cleveland has never forgotten the commandment, "Houor thy father and mother" etc.

Not since the second inauguration of Grant has there been such a disagreeable manguration day, but the only noticeable effect the weather had was to keep a lew men whose health was not robust out of the parade, which was over three hours long as it was, to disfigure and disarrange the house decorations and to postpone the fireworks. Everything else went off according to programme, just as would have been done had the day been as clear and baimy as that on which Mr. Cleves land was first inaugurated. On the reviewing stand with the President and the vice President were a large number of prominent ladies and gentlemen, among them Mrs. Cleveand and Mrs. Stevenson.

It is difficult to say which of the democratic governors in the procession received the grandest ovations along the line of march, but Peck, of Wisconsin, Flower, of New York, and Russell, of Massachutown of Lincolnton, shall forfeit | setts, have good reason to put the and pay $25 for each and every day down among the proudest of their lives.

President Cleveland's inaugural address was a model of its kind. A plain, honest, straightforward statement of his intention to carry out to its fullest extent the platform noon which he was nominated and elected, and particularly noticeable was the complete ignoring of the Hawaiian annexation scheme. It is evident, and particularly gratifying to democrats, that Mr. Cleveland intends to investigate that subject more thoroughly than Mr. Harrison did before committing himself, and as he put himself, in his addresssquarely on record as apposed to subsidies and bounties of all kinds, it is certain that if Hawaii gets annexed its sugar planters will get no bounty on their sugar.

Thd Vice-President, in his address, upon assuming the chair of the Senators at the opening of its extra session, made an excellent impression upon the Senators as well as upon the public. His popplanity with the rank and file of the Democratic party is unbound and what is more to the point it is all reserved. He is made of the right sort of stuff. A newspaaper man was telling him that he supposed the dignity of his new office would prevent a resumption of the free and and easy methods in vogue in his office, when he was first assistant Post Master General, and the "boys" were always welcome. Mr. Stevenson laughed and said: "My new office will make no difference. You boys will be just as welcome as in the old days. There will be no sentry standing in front of the vice-President's room. You will not be forced to dive into your pockets and fish out a card to be transmitted to me on a salver. The door All orders addressed to will stand wide open. There are sofas inside for you to occupy. You will walk right in, and if I am not there you will send for me. Where ever I am the newspaper man is welcome. I am the vicesPresident of the people, and the people are entitled to know what I am doing. There will be no red tape about the Hob Peak's Letter, "Bob Peck not loval to Democracy!" Whoever heard of such a thing ? Bob commenced the battle for Democracy in 1852 Frank 1872, I did not attend the election as I had no cand date to vote for The candidates were Grant and Greely. I could vote for neither, and staid at my place of business. I thought it was dog eat dog, and they might ear on. Now if this is disloyal to Democracy I fess up. Through the dark ages of reconstruction I tought Radicalism in its worst form "Red Stings" and helped to bring North Carolina out of the clutch its of such a motley crew and again place her on the true basis of Democracy which was made complete in 1876. The immortal Z. B. Vance was elected Governor of North Carolina and the late Saml, J. Titden was elected President of the United States but to make a place for the late Rutherford B. Haves he was counted out, and Hayes counted in to the disgrace of America. Wee be to the party that disgraced the fair name America forever. I have always opposed any and evcry thing that was not Democratic. and if I remain honest to myself my wife and children, home and comtry I can never do any thing else. No never. Never, I rejoice in the fact that Grover Cleveland is today President of these United States and also Ex-officio Governor of the District of Columbia Captain General, and commander in cheif of the United States Atmy and Navy The responsibilities are great, but the man is physically and intellect. ually adequate. It is a power to 1893. know your commander is an able and experienced one. Let me say once for all time that no Republic can stand very long the jars and earthquake with which it must contend unless it is based upon the time and never failing principles of Democracy which means a Governcent of the people, for the people, and by the people, and this means that the people are the Government I am sorry to see so much criticisas among Democrats in there bright days of Democracy. I know of some things that I cannot fully approve, neither do I approve of telling tales out of school. Wishing the State, nation, and editor! much success, peace, happiness and prosperity.
