This being the season of the year when "that tired feeling" comes on before the sermon is half done, the meeting at the Presbyterian church last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, was reasonably attended. The services were not tedious, the ser-

When homes are bereaved and lives are shadowed,

"How does the heart rejoice to hear Its friends devontly say, In Zion let us al! appear, And keep the Sabbath Day."

And so it was when this memoria service was announced, it brought to the church, at an early hour, a arge circle of kindred and friends, into whose ears the word of God came with comfort and hope: "And I heard a voice from Heaven saving. write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord, from henceforth.' "Let not your heart be troubled. 'There shall be night no more; and they need no light of lamp, neither light of the sun; for the Lord God shall give them light?"

And very tenderly was sung the beautiful hymn (Tapparis).

There is an bour of peaceful rest, To mourning wanderers given ; There is a joy for souls distrest,

A baim for every wounded breast, 'Tis found above- in Heaven.'

His howlings remind us very much of the capers cut by an old dog owned by our father when we were quite a small boy. Every bright moonlit night he would go out in the field and sit and bark at the moon and set up a terrible howl because the moon would not condecend to take notice of his dogship. And if you would listen you could hear others in the neighborhood howl at insympathetic like. We never were able to see that the moon was the least effected and never lost in wonder why they were so foolish as to wear themselves out barking at an object so far above, But suppose they in their humble way of thinking, thought that they were confering a blessing on their race by trying to score the Yours truly.
