many of them obtain more cash than their entire lives are worth If railroad authorities, through carelessness, cause a wreck and lives are lost or injured, then they ought to pay a reasonable amount to the injured and ought not to be compelled to go to law and spend thousands of dollars in order to detend their rights. When they go to law if nine cases ont of ten they are the logers. There seems to be a prejudice in the minds of most peorple against railroads and we are unable to see why it is so. When the North Carolina Central Jailroad was built, there lived an old man and his wife in Roman county who were bitterly opposed to the road crossing their land.
