Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osmond,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various gaudy nostrums which are destroying their lives, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other harmful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Chamberlain,
Concord, N.H.

Castoria.

"Castoria is never so well adapted to children as I recommend it as an infallible prescription known to me."

Dr. A. A. Bennett, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular medicine, yet we were free to confess that the name of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

We have found the Electro-poise very valuable especially for children. I got one last May, and I am sure it cured three cases of it, and I am sure it cured three more. From my experience with it, and my own, I can say I recommend it.

Another middle of the session of the Legislature, Deek Hestland, the Diogenes, of Goldsboro, said that there had been no such gathering as the Legislature since Herod called his cabinet together to outlaw Moses. He said that, too, before he had learned of the raciality and incompetence of the clerks, and before bill stealing and forging became a common occurrence in the Douglass Legislature. What comparison this philosopher would make in the light of subsequent events, we cannot imagine. Is there any worse comparison to make?—News & Observer.

NEW ENGLAND MEN VISIT THE SOUTH.

It is understood that the party of New England mill men who are now in the South making a business trip. Each member of the party represents large and important cotton spinning interests in the Northeast. They are men who have felt the effect of Southern competition, and they are looking over the ground to learn what it will be necessary for them to do in order to avoid serious loss of business in consequence of competition here in the South.

The direction of thought of such men as these, when they come South, seems to be to build mills here and join the ranks of Southern manufacturers.

The people of the piedmont region have good reason to be satisfied with what they have accomplished in the last fifteen years. The real development of the cotton manufacturing interests of the South has been practically accomplished in that time. It has been done with scant capital, scant facilities to acquire a knowledge of an industry that was already well developed in another section of the country. While the results are flattering to the capabilities of our people, it stands to reason that they must have had the benefit of many advantages.

The trip now being made by the New England party is for the purpose of studying the advantages enjoyed by this section over and above the other for the manufacture of cotton goods.

They bring with them the best of good will. They are mostly members of the Arkwright Club, in Boston, which is made up of the cotton manufacturers of New England. The party is practically a committee from that club. The impressions they form and the conclusions they reach will be made known to the club, and will be disseminated by all its members.

In the early days of the republic the people of the thirteen original States were always good friends. The decline of the institution of slavery in the North and its growth in the South made opposing interests out of which came much bitterness, and the end of the quarrel was the civil war.

In the period that succeeded the war there were naturally prejudices on both sides. But slavery being out of the way the interests of all the States along the Atlantic coast have been growing more and alike, and all sectional feeling is rapidly passing away. If these New England mill men who are now visiting the South should build one or more mills in the South they will naturally grow to see Southern things in a better light than ever before. Business contact cannot but rub away the angles for both Northern and Southern people.

The party consists of the following: Mr. Wm. C. Lovering, president of the Arkwright Club of Boston. This club is made up of the owners and treasurers of the principal mills in New England. Mr. Lovering has interests in various mills of more than 120 thousand spindles and employments than three thousand operatives. He is a careful student of industrial interests. He comes South with a number of manufacturers from New England who have been selected by him and the purpose is to learn what is really going to be the ultimate outcome of the cotton manufacturing interests of this section.

Mr. Thomas Motley is a nephew of the historian. He represents the Cherokee, Saratoga and Victory.

Mr. W. C. Amory is treasurer of the Amory Mills, Manchester, N. H., and is also director of the Amoskeag Mills, the largest cotton mills in the world and other large mills.

Mr. Henry C. Howe is a partner of Lawrence & Co., who handles all the goods of the Pacific Mills Lawrence and other large mills. He is also a practical manufacturer.

Mr. Arthus Amory sells all the goods of the Jackson mills of Nashua, New Hampshire, which mills have just got out of the State and built mills in other States to manufacture their own brands of goods. Mr. Amory is also the agent of the Lancaster Gingham Mills at Clinton Mass., and the Appleton Mills at Lowell.

Mr. Henry B. Cox, Jr., is in the mining business and represents Cox Bros. of Pennsylvania, who mine 5,000 tons a day of Lehigh anthracite coal.

There are two other members of the Arkwright Club engaged to come on this committee who were detained by pressing business at the last moment. These were Mr. T. Jefferson Coolidge, treasurer of the Amoskeag Minister to France during President Harrison's administration and Mr. Howard Stackton, treasurer of the Merrimack Mills, Lowell.

Exclusive of the absent members the party represent the product of more than a million spindles. At twenty dollars per spindle this would represent an invested capital of twenty million dollars.

Mr. R. H. Edmonds, editor of the Baltimore Manufacturers' Record, is also of the party. He was invited, not as a newspaper man, but because of his varied and extensive knowledge of the conditions existing in all parts of the South and because the acquaintance that has resulted in this trip was brought about by him and to this extent he is responsible for bringing this delegation South. It is the most representative party of cotton mill people that has ever been South.

The party started out from Portsmouth as the guests of the Seaboard Air Line in a special train of three private cars, furnished by the courtesy of Mr. E. St. John, vice president.

Mr. D. A. Tomkins, of Charlotte, North Carolina, is the Southern representative in the party and has charge of the trip. He is president of the Atherion Mill at Charlotte and of the Catawba and Chester Mills at Chester, S. C. The trip is the result of an invitation extended by Mr. Tomkins to Mr. Lovering to come South and look into the condition of manufactures by a personal examination of some Southern mills in the piedmont region.

The party will visit the mills in Charlotte, the Henrietta Mills, near Rutherfordton, and mills at Monroe, Chester, S. C., Greenwood, S. C., Columbia, S. C., Raleigh, N. C., Weldon, N. C., also Piedmont, Paconet, Pelzer, Clifton, and perhaps one or two other places.

The party was entertained at Portsmouth by the board of trade, the entertainment consisting of a carriage drive around the city and a launch at the board of trade rooms, all under the direction of Mr. Chas. Reid Nash, president of the board of trade. In Norfolk the party was handsomely taken care of at the Business Men's Club.

The Vanity of Office Holding.

There is nowhere a stronger admonition to young men to bury ambition than is contained in a recent utterance from Hon. Albert G. Brown, of Mississippi who has been Governor, Senator and Representative in Congress, Judge and State legislator. His advice is not prompted by any disappointed of one who has tasted all the sweets of office. He says, writing to a friend:

"True, as you say, I had many offices. Indeed, I may say that I never knew defeat in any of my aspirations. And it is just because I had success which people call wonderful that I feel confident to administer a word of caution to the young men of this generation. My young friend, do not be deceived by the glitter of office. I am now past my three score years and am fast travelling into the ten. I have held almost every office in the gift of the people, and can truly say with the preacher, 'It is all vanity and vexation of spirit.' Looking back over a long, and I hope not unsuccessful life, I can say with a clear conscience, my greatest regret is that I have ever made a political speech or held an office. There is a fascination in office which beguiles man, but be assured, my young friend, it is the fascination of a serpent; or, to change the figure, it is the ignominious which coaxes you to inevitable ruin. I speak of that which I know. If my young friends will be governed by my advice, I have this to say: After all my successes as a public man, now, when my head is blossoming for the grave, I feel that it would have been better for me if I had followed the occupation of my father and been a farmer."—News & Observer.

There was never read the same amount in the newspaper as more than any paper in the South, of Boston, Worcester, Lowell, and other cities, who had been troubled with rheumatism in his back, arms and shoulders, read an item in his paper about how a prominent German physician of Philadelphia had been cured. He procured the same medicine, and to use his own words: "It cured me right up." He also says: "A neighbor and his wife were both sick in bed with rheumatism. They were over to my house and said they were so bad that he had to get the looking. I told him of them and he said he had been cured. I had a bottle for sale by Dr. W. L. Crouse, Druggist."

Another Blunder of the Legislature.

A law was passed by the last Legislature providing for the election of three additional magistrates in each township, their terms to commence on April 1st, 1895. Few, if any, of these magistrates have qualified, and they cannot now do so. The offices created are vacant because of the failure of the persons elected to qualify before the term began.

The power to appoint magistrates, to fill vacancies caused by failure of those elected to qualify, is vested in the Governor by chapter 288, Laws of 1885, and he appoints for the full term of six years.

It is too late now for any clerk to qualify those appointed, and if they attempt to qualify their acts will be illegal.

The failure of the newly elected magistrates to qualify in time adds to the people of the burden of 3,600 unnecessary magistrates, and of about $25,000 for the purchase of books, etc., for the new magistrates which the legislators intended to spend if they had known how.

The people will have to thank the Lord, and not the Legislature, for ridding them of this burden which the Legislature voted upon them.—News & Observer.

Teacher's Tax.

This is one thing the newspapers have failed to mention, the teachers tax. Every teacher now under the new law is required and compelled to pay one dollar before he can stand an examination as teacher. Heretofore they were allowed the privilege of standing an examination every two months without paying one cent unless they wish to be examined on a special date not at the regular time. Thus the teachers are required to pay and take the chances of getting a school. It is conceded that our teachers are paid little enough already without levying a tax upon them. Those who stand the examination in the future pay for it or who is put on teachers goes into the pockets of the county examiner. Under Democratic law he paid no tax unless an extra date was asked for outside of the regular date and this money went into the general school fund. Tax them,

The New Negro Justices.

We have not yet been able to secure for publication a complete list of the negro magistrates appointed in the State.

Not many years ago Mr. A. C. Sharpe, of Iredell county, was a Democratic member of the Legislature. When the magistrates were being elected he rose in his seat and said:

"Mr. Speaker, can I ask a question?"

Permission was granted him, and his question was:

"Mr. Speaker, are there any 'niggers' (as he called them) in this list?"

This same Mr. Sharpe was a Fusion Senator in the last Legislature, and when the time came to vote for magistrates, neither he nor any other Fusion Senator urged and asked, are there any 'niggers' in that list.

If they had asked the question, they would have found that there was nearly one hundred.—News & Observer.

Scrophula

Miss Della Stevens, of Boston, Mass., writes: "I have always suffered from Scrophula, for which I tried various remedies, and many other physicians, but none relieved me. After taking a bottle of Scrophula I am now well. I feel very grateful to you as I feel that I have a life of health and happiness in my power. I will be pleased to recommend it to all who are afflicted with Scrophula."—Cured.

An Object Lesson in Miscegenation.

The Wilson Mirror prints a statement that a white man has been arrested in that county for marrying a negro woman. If it was proper for the Legislature to adjourn in honor of the negro who married a white wife, is it not proper to adjourn in honor of the white man for marrying a negro wife?

The Big Five have not yet asked the Governor to call a special session of the Legislature to relieve the white miscegenationist. There ought to be no discrimination in favor of the dead negro over the live white man.

The white miscegenationist is a tenant on the land of one of the leading Populists in Johnston county, and his land prices no objection to the open practice of miscegenation on his place.—News & Observer.

tax 'em, don't tax 'em" is the spirit of fusion, but to hear one of them talk in the last campaign would make us believe that fusion was a kind of pure delight where the tax payers were free from the Sheriff's immortal reign.—Statesville Mascot.

A Progressive Policy.

The Seaboard Air Line has adopted a very progressive policy in its efforts to develop the territory along its line. One of its latest efforts is to secure full and accurate information on every point which may be valuable to parties desiring to locate at towns or in counties along its route. Vice-President St. John accordingly has prepared a "Plan" which is to be forwarded to each station agent. This blank contains twenty-four questions, which are to be answered by the agent in spaces allotted to each. The questions cover the following points: Population; number of schools and churches; and whether for white or colored people; area of cultivated and uncultivated land; character of soil; different products and kinds of fertilizer used; climate; frequency of rainfall; water supply from local streams; also water-power available; kinds of forest timber; principal occupations of people; different kinds of live stock raised, as well as dairy products and poultry; principal fruits and kinds best adapted to the locality; different kinds of vegetables raised, specifying quantity per acre and varieties most profitable; most important local industries; average sizes of farms; description of coal seams and clay or other valuable deposits; also of factory sites; extent of public improvements; special features of health, such as medicinal springs, etc., and reorganizing and character of improved and unimproved lands for sale with price.

As will be seen, the replies to these questions will furnish a literal encyclopedia of information which will be of the most valuable character in advertising the country traversed by the Seaboard Air Line, while by its preceptors and homeseekers can obtain in a few moments data which might necessitate weeks of travel to gain in any other way.—Manufacturers Record.

A Bad Condition.

We have already called attention to a great calamity threatening the people of the South. There is ground for this fear. In no section of the country is there greater need for Liver Medicines than in the South, and this has encouraged unscrupulous persons to take advantage of people's misery and offer them all sorts of stuff as a cure for liver troubles. Their crime is greater because they must have accomplices to help them in this nefarious work. Their preparations are sold to be druggists at a low price. And the big profit to the druggist is the road by which they reach the public. Druggists of high honor will not be a party to such an outrage. Beware of any dealer who tells you that a Liver Medicine is just the same, or as good as Simmons' Liver Regulator, put up by J. H. Zelin & Co. You know it is the Red Z on the package. These preparations are not the same as good. Stick to the Old Friend. Your health and life should be worth anything to you.
