"Monroe has undergone many changes for the better since I lived here six years ago," said Mr. Walter Wallis at the Gloucester a day or two ago, while here on a business trip. "I am glad to see such improvement," he continued, "and I now believe Monroe is one of the best towns of its size anywhere. It's a good, solid town. Your merchants are a remarkably safe set." And Mr. Wallis is a traveling salesman and knows who's who.

At the invitation of the ladies of the Methodist church of Abbeville, S. C., Mrs. J. W. Yates assisted in an entertainment last week.

In speaking of it the Abbeville Press says: "Last, but not by any means least, were the pretty baby songs so sweetly and cunningly rendered by Miss Carson Yates, the pretty little four-year-old daughter of Mr. John Yates, her mother playing the piano accompaniments for her."

Mr. Sam Rape, who lives near Richardson Creek postoffice, had an encounter with a mad dog yesterday that was very costly for him. A stray dog came to his place, bit his dogs, and then attacked his cow. It caught her by the nose and held on until she threw him over the fence. The dog ran towards Mr. Rape, who, having a hammer in his hand, succeeded in killing it. Mr. Rape killed his own dogs and will likely kill his cow. He had been offered $40 for her.

He is the second oldest member of the bar in point of service, is a careful and good lawyer, and has for a long time enjoyed a good practice. The firm of Adams, Jerome & Armfield will be one of the strongest in the State. Both Messrs. Armfield and Jerome are fine advocates and Mr. Adams' reputation as an office lawyer is not surpassed in this section.

Little Boy Killed by a Car. Thos. Davidson, the nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Davidson of Charlotte was killed by a street car last Friday afternoon. Mrs. Davidson is a native of Monroe. (Miss Maggie Simpson, sister of Esqr. C. N. Simpson) and has many friends here, beside relatives, who deeply feel for her in this sore affliction. The motorman in charge of the car, Mr. J. O. Andrews, was arrested but exonerated from any blame. Of the very sad accident The Observer relates the particulars as follows: Mr. Andrews had charge of a force of five hands and was repairing the trolley along North Tryon street. At the time of the accident they were engaged in mending the trolley at the switch where the line turns from Tryon street, going into Ward 4. The street, child and several other children were playing on the street and had been on the car, but were ordered off by the workmen. At 4 o'clock the construction car, which was attached to a passenger car, was backed down toward the depot so as to let the street cars pass in and out of Ward 4. After the cars had passed going in each direction, the construction car, pushed by the passenger car behind, was started back to repair the trolley. Mr. Andrews was at the motor in the passenger car and the Davidson child swung on to the front of the work car, where he was cut off from the vision of Mr. Andrews. As the car started the little fellow lost his grip and fell, his head striking on the rail. He screamed and several persons who saw the occurrence shouted to the motorman. When Mr. Andrews heard the cries he cut off the current to let the car run back down grade, but it was too late. The wheel had already passed over the head of the child, which was crushed into a pulp.

Majority Platforms. "What is your platform?" asked a Journal reporter of the several gentlemen who have announced themselves as candidates for mayor. The answers were short in all cases. They follow: Mr. Iredell Hilliard—"Strict enforcement of the law, and the application of business principles to the management of the town's affairs." Mr. J. M. Fairley—"I'm in for a clean, conservative administration for the best interests of the town." Mr. R. V. Houston—"I'm for strict duty in enforcing the laws." Mr. A. M. Crowell—"I've been here working for the town for thirty years and, like Lincoln, I am by, of and for the people. If elected I'll do my duty in enforcing the laws."

For Mayor. We suggest the name of N. S. Ogburn as a suitable mayor for the city of Monroe. He is a first class man in every way and would give us a clean, up-to-date business administration. There are a number of good men running, but we believe that Mr. Ogburn would be a more suitable man just at this time and under present circumstances. MARY CITIZENS.

Card of Thanks. We desire to most heartily and sincerely thank our good friends and neighbors for the many kindnesses bestowed upon us during the recent sickness and death of our child. Their kindness will ever be cherished. MR. AND MRS. J. H. PETTEWAY.

A FAMILY OF DRINKERS.

Roe Morton, Being Arrested for Selling Liquor, Swears that He Does His Small Children With It But Never Sells Any.

Roe Morton, a white man living in north Monroe, was the first arrested under the new liquor law, having been taken in custody last Wednesday. On information given by some of the women of the neighborhood, the police obtained a search warrant and went to Morton's home. They found two pint flasks in a flour sack and a quart flask hidden in a bed. All of these were about full, and Morton was consequently arrested and brought before the Mayor.

The interesting feature of the case was the construction put upon the law, and the swearing of the principal witnesses. Mr. E. C. Williams appeared for the defendant and Mr. T. J. Jerome for the prosecution. It was argued by the counsel, and so decided by the court, that under the law the Mayor or a magistrate has power only to bind over to court, and that when a search of a suspected place is made and more than one quart of liquor is found, that evidence is sufficient to convict provided no rebuttal is made. In this case the defendant set up the plea that he was keeping the liquor on hand for his own and his family's use and had never sold any. His wife corroborated this statement and accounted for the liquor being hidden by saying that she was a consumptive and also in a delicate condition and was hiding this liquor for her own use to keep her husband and the children from getting it. Morton and his wife swore that he had brought a gallon jug of whiskey from Stanley county on Saturday night before, and that they and the children had drunk it all except what the officers found and two or three drinks which had been given away. They swore that they gave all their children, even down to a two-year-old, feeble one, which was in court, whiskey every night and morning and at any other time when they wanted it.

The witnesses relied upon by the State all proved unsatisfactory. The very woman who had asked the officers to make the search testified in behalf of the defendant. Mayor Stevens reserved his decision until yesterday, putting the defendant under his own recognition.

On yesterday the police reported that Morton had skipped, and this doubtless is the last of the case.

A Roadside Hold-Up.

Mr. Lonnie Helms, son of Mr. S. A. Helms, who lives four miles above Monroe, was in town yesterday with four hules in his hat, the four having been made by the passing of a pistol ball through the crease in the top, there thus being four thicknesses. Mr. Helms told of a very unusual and highly interesting episode.

While on his way home from Unionville at about half past nine o'clock on Sunday night, he was halted by the roadside by two men who commanded him to throw up his hands. Instead of doing this, Mr. Helms says he drew a pistol which he had and fired upon them. They in turn shot at him twice, and he returned the fire and the men fled. He drove on to the first house and found that one bullet had passed through his hat and one through the bed of the buggy just under the seat. He then hurried home and phoned Superintendent Fletcher to come from the stockade with his dogs, but the latter could not leave owing to the absence of one of the guards. Mr. Helms says he has no idea of the identity of his assailants nor their object.

The public is cordially invited to attend all these services.

E. A. OSBORNE, Minister in Charge.

For Mayor.

I see several announcements for the mayorality in your last issue. The mayor of the city ought not to be a man who is susceptible to appeals to his sympathy; and moreover, he should be a conservative man with no wild views to exploit and no such a man can be found in the person of Hon. E. C. Williams, who has just recently won laurels in the General Assembly and in his service in that body reflected credit upon himself and county. Let us nominate and elect him and his record as mayor will add to the reputation which he has already won as a representative of the people. CITIZENS.
