Thoughts from Sunday's Sermons

(Rev. W. F. Watson.)

I like to see a man proud of his salvation; I have seen only a few such. Oh, when we get up yonder in all the grandeur and glory, we'll all be proud, but so few of us, down here in the dust and toil, are.

(Rev. M. A. Smith.)

Dare to dream of greatness. God will lead you to the fulfillment of your dreams.

(Rev. Geo. H. Atkinson.)

The distressing sound of the fire whistle was heard twice last Friday. The first alarm was wrung in at 12 o'clock from Mr. C. T. Cadieu's residence, the second about four in the afternoon from Mr. Vann Sikes' home. Both fires originated from the cook stove and but slight damage was done. The fire company responded promptly to the calls, as they always do.

RAIDING THE BLIND TIGERS.

Officers are Active—N. C. Price, Oscar Simpson and Others Arrested—Beer in a Barn, and Whiskey in a Store.

"Blind tigers are like grass, said Constable Bivens; "you kill one crop and and another comes. The way to do is to keep killing 'em."

The officers have been active for several days against illicit whiskey sellers, not so much for present offences but for past ones. The Simpson places and the Price place north of the court house have been raided, beside a lot of negro places. In some the officers were successful in finding liquor, and in others not.

The most whiskey was obtained when the store room lately occupied by N. C. Price, and now regarded as vacant, was raided on Sunday afternoon. Two pieces of barrels of whiskey and three pieces of barrels of wine were found. These were taken to the Mayor's office and held for evidence at the trial. Constable Bivens went up to Mr. Price's home in Goose Creek yesterday morning and arrested him. He gave bond for appearance, till this morning when the cases were called before 'Squire Flow. After the hearing the defendant was bound over to court in two cases, the bond being $100 in each.

The Simpson place, run as an ice house under the name of S. C. Walsh, was raided Friday, but nothing found. On Saturday, the other Simpson places were searched. One barrel of bottled beer was found in one of the little store rooms, and one barrel was found in the barn of the family residence. This had been shipped from Charlotte in a car of ice, and had been placed in the barn in broad open day. Oscar Simpson was arrested and put up a $100 cash bond for his appearance for trial tomorrow. In one of these stores eight barrels of empty beer bottles were found. W. S. Nelson was also arrested and placed under bond for appearance tomorrow.

Enoch Hart's place, Milton Dargin's, John Davis', and Francis Perry's, all negroes, were searched but no liquor found.

Nelse Buchanan's place, near the coal shute, a house of bad name, was searched and liquor found. There are several cases against these parties, and in some they have already been bound over to court.

'Squire M. L. Flow and 'Squire N. S. Ogburn have issued the warrants for the arrests, and more are to follow. Policemen Howie, Laney and Williams and Constable Bivens have served them.

A Sad Death.

Death is always sad, but inexpressibly so when it claims one far away from home and loved ones. Universal sorrow is felt over the death of Mr. L. L. Cracker who passed away at 5:10 yesterday morning at the Commercial Hotel. Mr. Cracker came to Monroe several months ago from Mannington, W. Va., to take charge of the boring of the new artesian well. Four weeks ago he was stricken with fever, but his symptoms did not become alarming until Friday. Tenderly was he nursed by his devoted friend and co-worker, Mr. Thos. J. Green, assisted by kind new-made friends, but skill and care could not overcome the disease. He was in the prime of manhood, being 43 years of age. "There never breathed a more generous spirit than that of L. L. Cracker," said Mr. Green. "He always spoke calmly of death and often said he was not afraid to die." Mr. Cracker leaves a wife and two small children and to them the hearts of our people go out in deepest sympathy. The remains were carried to Mannington last night.

Dr. Welsh's Eleven-Room House for Sale.

This is desirable property, as it is near the center of the town and very convenient to business men. It would also suit those wishing to take tourists who come to be benefited by the artesian water. The house is in good condition, having been remodeled and painted recently. Also, a nice garden and outhouses add to the value and desirability of the property.

TALKING WITH THE PEOPLE.

Rev. J. W. Little is wont to say that he has seen two big things in his time, namely, the Atlantic Ocean and the Southern Baptist Convention. These express his idea of bigness, and while he may use forcible language in describing other objects or occasions, none is used that might give the hearer an idea that either of these was approximated. Take, for example, the late temperance convention at Raleigh, which Mr. Little attended after having spent three weeks in getting to it. It did not appeal to him as a great occasion so much as a fervent one.

"It showed," said Mr. Little, "that this temperance business has broke out on people like the measels."

* * *

"These boys are going into the matter of breaking up blind tiger dens with great and commendable energy," said a citizen yesterday, referring to Policemen Laney and Williams and Constable Bivens. "To say that the law against whis key selling can't be enforced is all a humbug, and is usually employed as an argument by those who are in sympathy with the business. These men have shown that, although all the blind tiger men who are caught can't be convicted, the arrests will break up the business. There is one man in town who has never before admitted that he couldn't buy whiskey, but he has come to that admission now."

* * *

"I can't do much on big peaches," said Mr. R. F. Krimminger of Lanes Creek this morning, "but I have a pullet that has laid seventy-five eggs this season, is still laying and has never wanted to set."

The following will be August 8th: Unionville—Rev. M. A. Smith, O. C. Curlee; Union school house—Col. Hotchkiss, J. T. Huggins, Rev. J. A. Bivens; Gilboa—Rev. A. W. White, J. E. Dowd, Dr. H. D. POPE DIED YESTERDAY.

Last Moments Were Ones of Great Pain Followed by Coma—Remarkable Vitality of an Extremely Old Man.

Rome, July 20.—Pope Leo XIII is dead. The last flicker of life expired at four minutes past 4 o'clock this afternoon and the Pontiff now lies at rest. The period of over two weeks that Pope Leo passed in the shadow of death was no less wonderful than his life. His splendid battle against disease was watched the world over with sympathetic admiration and ended only after a series of tremendous efforts to conquer the weakness of his aged frame by the marvelous will power of his mind. The pleuro-pneumonia which His Holiness has been suffering was scarcely as responsible for his death as that inevitable decay of tissue which ensues upon 93 years of life. The tested steel which has bent so often before human ills was bound to break at last. To night the emaciated and lifeless frame which held so brave a spirit lies on the bed in the Vatican beside which all the world has prayed. The red damask coverlet rests lightly over the body, the cardinal's scarlet cape is about the shoulders, while on his head has been placed the papal hood of velvet, bordered with ermine. A white silk handkerchief is bound about his chin and in his hands, which have blessed so many thousands, has been placed a crucifix. So Pope Leo will remain until to-morrow, watched by uniformed officers of the Nobbie Guard, and roughclad Franciscan potentiaries, who will keep a ceaseless vigil until the burial occurs. To-morrow the sacred college of cardinals well assemble for the impressive ceremony of officially pronouncing Pope Leo dead. After this function has been performed the body will be taken to the small throne room adjoining the death chamber, where it will be embalmed. The funeral ceremonies will extend over nine days, the remains being removed to the Cathedral of St. Peter's, where they will lie in state. The ultimate resting place of the dead Pontiff will be in the magnificent basilica of St. John the Lateran.

Pope Leo's final moments were marked by that same devotion, and when he was concious that calm intelligence which is associated with his 25 year's pontificate. His was no easy death. An hour before he died, turning to Dr. Lapponi and his devoted valet, Pio Centra, he murmured: "The pain I suffer is most terrible." Yet his parting words were not of the physical anguish that he suffered, but were whispered benedictions upon the cardinals and his nephews, who knelt at the bedside, and the last look of his almost sightless eyes was towards the great ivory crucifix hanging in the death chamber. Practically all the cardinals in Rome, kneeling at the bedside, watched the passage of his soul. Earlier in the day Cardinal Serafer-Vannutelli had impressively pronounced the absolution in articulo mortis. The condition of His Holiness varied from agony to coma. Wishing to relieve, Dr. Mazzoni suggested that morphine should be administered, but Dr. Lapponi did not agree fearing that the end might be quickened.

A Good Word for the Newspapers.

(Correspondence of The Journal.)

Rushing, July 15.—Your correspondent has been sick of fever for the last few weeks, but is able to write again now.

We are expecting Dr. Perkins to locate in this community soon.

We have had a great deal of rain this summer and crops are very poor.

We say hurrah for The Journal, also for the other county papers, for they have taken a firm stand against the saloon and the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquors, and their influence will certainly be felt in Union county. Sometimes people get mad with the editor and "cuss" him, but still his influence lives. Let us stand by the newspapers of the county, for they certainly deserve our support and encouragement. H.
